Kleindienst Is Out As Attorney General

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Richard G. Kliendienst and three trusted White House aides —H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and John W. Dean III—were swept out of office today by the Watergate bugging scandal.

A statement by Nixon, released by White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, said all four submitted their resignations, which were accepted by the President. Nixon immediately named Defense Secretary Elliot L. Richardson to succeed Kleindienst, and the President arranged to make a nationwide broadcast tonight at 9 p.m. EDT. (Another story, page 5.)

The resignations of Kleindienst, Ehrlichman and Haldeman were submitted voluntarily. Nixon requested Dean's resignation.

The White House announcement said Richardson, who took over as head of the Pentagon only in January, would take full command of the Justice Department's investigation of the break-in and bugging of Democratic headquarters at the Watergate June 17.

Ziegler read the announcement from Nixon that the President had accepted the resignations of his two "closest friends and trusted assistants," Haldeman and Ehrlichman, and wished to emphasize that "neither should be seen as evidence of wrongdoing."

"Any such assumption would be unfair and unfounded," the Nixon statement said.

The President was absent from Washington at his Camp David, Md., mountaintop retreat —where for the past four days he has deliberated his Watergate options. He left it to Ziegler to announce the resignations.

Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Dean have been members of the Nixon staff since he came to the White House. Kleindienst also is a long-time Nixon supporter who last year succeeded John N. Mitchell as attorney general. Mitchell's name has been linked recently with Watergate disclosures in the newspapers.

The President conferred at Camp David with Haldeman and Ehrlichman at their request, Ziegler said. He also met with Kleindienst, Richardson and Leonard Garment, a special White House consultant that Nixon designated to succeed Dean as acting legal counsel.

The resignations came amid growing pressures from within the Republican party for a house-cleaning and full disclosure of the facts of administration involvement in the Watergate bugging.

ELLIOTT RICHARDSON
New attorney general

Among the latest urging these steps was Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who served as attorney general in the Eisenhower administration and is an intimate of Nixon.

The President's statement said Kleindienst asked to be relieved as attorney general "because he felt that he could not appropriately continue as head of the Justice Department now that it appears its investigation of the Watergate and related cases may implicate individuals with whom he has had a close personal and professional association."

Speaking of Haldeman and Ehrlichman, Nixon said: "Throughout our association, each of these men has demonstrated a spirit of selflessness and dedication that I have seldom seen equaled. Their contributions to the work of this administration have been enormous. I greatly regret their departure."

Of Kleindienst, Nixon said: "In making this decision, Mr. Kleindienst has acted in accordance with the highest standards of public service and legal ethics. I am accepting his resignation with regret and with deep appreciation for his dedicated service to this administration."

But the reference to acceptance of the resignation of Dean was dismissed with one sentence in the statement, and there was no mention that Dean's resignation should not be considered evidence of wrongdoing.

Dean issued a statement about 10 days ago —not cleared with the White House —saying he did not intend to "become a scapegoat in the Watergate case." This followed published reports that investigators had been told that Dean was a key figure in the Watergate plot.

Ziegler said that Nixon would submit for confirmation immediately the appointment of Richardson to be attorney general. No mention was made of a new defense secretary.

Ziegler said Nixon had directed Richardson "to asumme full responsibility and authority for coordinating all federal agencies in uncovering the whole truth about this matter and recommending appropriate changes in the law to prevent future campaign abuses of the

Tax Boost For Rich Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration today proposed an $800 million increase in the tax liability of the very rich, designed to prevent millionaires from escaping taxation.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz advanced the White House's tax reform proposal in a long-awaited appearance before the House Ways and Means Committee.

His plan fell far short of proposals advanced by liberals. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, for example, seeks to raise the taxes paid by business and the wealthy by $18 billion, and the AFL-CIO has offered a $29 billion tax reform plan.

But Shultz, briefing newsmen, said such plans destroy the incentive to invest and could act as a brake on economic growth.

Shultz' plan would also:

—Create a new tax incentive to spur domestic oil exploration. Taxpayers searching for domestic oil or gas wells could subtract up to 12 per cent of their costs from federal taxes. The Treasury would lose an estimated $50 million. Liberals were likely to attack this idea as creating a new loophole.

—Permit parents earning under $18,000 to get a refund or subtract from the taxes they owe, up to $200 a year, for each child attending a private or parochial grade or high school. This tax credit would lose $450

Clean-Up Begins In Area Of Blast

ROSEVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies and National Guardsmen searched today for unexploded bombs and lethal explosives in neighborhoods near the site of weekend blasts aboard an ammunition train that shook a 100-mile area.

Almost miraculously, no one was killed by the force of the explosions and flying pieces of shrapnel that devastated the Southern Pacific railroad yard and nearby subdivisions. Less than 50 persons were injured, only a few seriously.

Everything within a quarter-mile of the blast site was levelled. The few buildings in the tiny community of Antelope next to the yard were flattened. Elsewhere another 10 homes were destroyed, and hundreds more homes suffered damage.

Authorities issued warnings to residents returning to their homes to beware of bits of explosives —which look like sandy gray rocks —scattered over a wide area by the force of the six-hour series of window-shattering blasts.

Two of the more than 7,000 bombs aboard the train were knocked through the air and landed in a residential street a mile from the scene. They were carefully removed by demolition experts.

Authorities said the small pieces of explosives, from the bombs themselves, could go off if stepped on or run over by a car.

Evacuated residents continued to return to their shrapnel-riddled homes today.

R.D. Spence, vice president for operations for SP, said regular train service had been restored via a bypass track. Spence estimated damage to SP alone at "somewhere between $5 and $6 million."

Persons returning to their shattered homes less than a mile from the yard were warned there was no gas or electricity and were told, "Do not light any fire or drink any water."

A series of explosions that started at 8:03 a.m. Saturday morning rocked the Roseville area and blew out windows, buckled walls and toppled fences. There were less than 50 persons injured, only a few seriously, and 20,000 persons evacuated their homes.

Investigators said they do not know the cause of the fire that started in one of 21 boxcars carrying 7,056 Navy Mark 81 "general purpose" bombs destined for Cambodia.

At least 700 homes were damaged in the resulting series of blasts and Sacramento County Sheriff Duane Lowe said the total disaster figure would exceed $2.25 million.

Owners of homes in Grand Oaks subdivision returned to find caved in ceilings, warped walls and shattered dishes.

"I thought somebody had driven their car through my living room," Jay Smith, a fork lift operator, recalled. "Then when I got my head together I thought it must be an airplane crash."

Brandt Resting Before Coming Nixon Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt is relaxing in preparation for his talks with President Nixon which begin Tuesday, a spokesman for the Chancellor said today.

Brandt flew into Washington Sunday afternoon two days ahead of his schedule of official appointments, apparently with the idea of resting up before meeting with the President.

He said on arrival that he believed his talks with Nixon were taking place at a time of important developments in international affairs. The talks are expected to center on the new "Atlantic Charter" policy outlined by Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger a week ago.

Rogers Has High Hopes For Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers expressed optimism today that the cease-fire in Vietnam would hold and serve as the basis for peace in Indochina.

Rogers told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, however, that "in Southeast Asia developments have been disappointing in the last few weeks."

"We are greatly concerned over the repeated and serious violations of the Vietnam peace agreement by the communist side, and we have communicated these concerns very clearly to the authorities in Hanoi," Rogers said.

But he stressed there also was a positive side to the situation. "The fighting in South Vietnam has diminished to about its lowest point," he reported. "The two sides are discussing the political future of the area.

"Exchanges of civilian prisoners between the two sides are being carried out.

"Generally, I would say there is still a good possibility that the ceasefire will become effective in Vietnam and provide a

Kissinger Plans To Talk With Russian Leaders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Presidential Adviser Henry A. Kissinger will confer in Moscow beginning Friday with Soviet officials, including Soviet leader Leonid J. Brezhnev, in "matters of mutual interest" including Brezhnev's coming visit to Washington, the White House announced today.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Kissinger would leave Thursday night and will be in Moscow four or five days.

Kissinger, President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser, is expected to lay the groundwork for Brezhnev's trip to Washington, expected to take place in late June.

Child Support Change Suggested

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Grand Jury has recommended collection of child support payments and related activities be consolidated in the district attorney's office for better overall coordination.

Four county agencies — welfare, district attorney, probation and county clerk — currently are involved in the child support process to varying degrees.

Under the grand jury recommendation, to be considered tomorrow by county supervisors, the Department of Public Social Services (welfare) would shift its three-member child support staff to the district attorney's office.

The district attorney already has six positions allocated for collecting payments in his "family support division," which also investigates welfare fraud cases.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales has requested an additional three positions, if the recommendation is followed, enlarging his family support staff to 12 — one attorney, five investigators, four interviewer-clerks, one bookkeeper and one legal secretary.

As it is currently run, collection of child support falls mainly on the welfare department and the district attorney's office.

The welfare department's staff assigned to child support matters attempts to locate absent parents whose children are under "aid to families with dependent children."

This staff attempts to obtain a voluntary agreement from the "absent parent" saying he will pay the amount designated by the courts, or a portion of it.

If no such agreement is made, the matter is referred to the district attorney's office for investigation and possible prosecution.

(Families not on welfare file their complaints directly with the district attorney. Many, however, have complained the district attorney has refused to act on them once filed.)

Both Bales and welfare director Betty L. Presley — whose departments would be most affected — have given conditional support to the grand jury's consolidation recommendation. Both say more staff is needed, however.

Some in the welfare department maintain not as many families would be on welfare (aid to families with dependant children) if the county vigorously pursued child support from fathers.

Additionally, they say, county costs of collecting such payments would be offset through a state program which rewards counties — cashwise — for making such collections for AFDC families.

Social workers also claim that if the district attorney would collect for families not yet on welfare it would help keep them off.

The district attorney, meanwhile, has a backlog of child support investigations totaling about 3,400 cases.

Bales maintains it is because of a lack of staff but others, including members of the county's family and children's services advisory committee, argue it's because Bales has concentrated what staff he has on welfare fraud cases.

They urge, like Miss Presley, that if the consolidation takes place, Bales not be allowed to use child support investigators for welfare fraud investigations.

Weekend Mail Sorting Hailed As Improvement

Sorting Marin weekend mail in San Rafael this month — for the first time since September — has produced "near 100 per cent first day delivery" for in-county mail, San Rafael Postmaster Hugh Cassidy said today.

"We're not having any trouble with weekend mail within Marin at all," Cassidy said. "No problem at all." Complaints about late deliveries for mail sent within the county have dropped significantly, he said.

Cassidy said sample tests of overnight deliveries for letters mailed within the county have shown that the San Rafael Postal Sectional Center has a near perfect record. Lagging deliveries are still plaguing some out-of-county mail sent to and from Marin, he said, but efficiency tests of such mailings are still pending in San Francisco.

The new mail system allows about four truckloads of mail previously sent to San Francisco for sorting on weekends to remain in San Rafael for distribution. The program of sorting Marin mail in San Rafael seven days a week was renewed last April 17 after having been discontinued in September.

CLOSE CALL — U.S. Deputy Marshal Ken Harris checks out a bullet hole in his bunker after several rounds of fire were exchanged between government forces and Indians occupying Wounded Knee, S.D., Saturday. (UPI Telephoto)

Wounded Knee Blaze Burns Trading Post

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Fire Sunday destroyed the Wounded Knee Trading Post and several smaller buildings in the historic hamlet held since Feb. 27 by militant members of the American Indian Movement and their supporters.

Stanley Lyman, superintendent of the Bureau of Indian Affairs at the Pine Ridge Reservation, said the half-block long trading post building burned out of control until it finally burned itself out.

Lyman said several smaller buildings also burned, but the Wounded Knee Museum which adjoined the trading post and served as headquarters for the AIM forces did not burn. AIM radio equipment and weapons stockpile were stored in the museum.

Firemen from Pine Ridge, who normally fight Wounded Knee fires, did not go near the hamlet.

"Are you kidding?" Lyman asked when questioned about sending firemen into the settelement.

Lyman said when the militants first stormed the Wounded Knee Trading Post and Museum on Feb. 27, taking arms and ammunition and 11 hostages, firemen were called in an attempt to put out several fires. They were fired upon, Lyman said.

Officials of the FBI command post here said they did not know what caused the fire, which broke out about 8 p.m. MDT.

Early today there had been nc radio contact with the forces inside Wounded Knee.

The fire came on the eve of expected resumption of negotiations between chief federal negotiator Kent Frizzell and AIM leaders Dennis Banks and Leonard Crow Dog.

A meeting had been scheduled for today on a hilltop near Wounded Knee in an apparent last-ditch effort to avoid armed conflict between the AIM forces and federal officers surrounding the village.

Also scheduled today was a move by AIM leaders to bring the body of a slain militant onto the reservation for a burial at Wounded Knee. The anti-AIM Oglala Sioux tribal government warned the militants that they would enforce a tribal court order forbidding the burial on the reservation.

Tribal officers said the slain man, Frank Clearwater, 47, of Cherokee, N.C., could not be buried on the reservation because he was not an enrolled member of the tribe. Clearwater was fatally wounded April 17 during a fire fight at Wounded Knee.

AIM spokesman John Thomas said at Rapid City, S.D., Sunday that the funeral cortege would start from Rapid City toward the reservation some 60 miles away at 9 a.m. MDT.

There was apprehension that tribal forces would confront the burial party at the reservation border and that violence could flare between AIM members and tribal members who violently oppose AIM tactics.

Frizzell in a meeting Sunday with older chiefs of the tribe attempted to work out a compromise which would permit a wake on the reservation but provide that burial be on the neighboring Rosebud Reservation. He expressed optimism that the copromise would be accepted.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Pickets Withdraw

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Pickets have withdrawn from all but one entrance to the spaceport but the space agency says a strike by tracking station workers remains a threat to the planned launching of the Skylab orbiting laboratory two weeks from today.

The strike by members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers against the Bendix Field Engineering Corp. went into its fifth day today with no settlement in sight.

The 120 striking electrical workers normally man a twin antenna tracking station here that is required to support the launch of the Skylab May 14 and its first three astronauts the next day.

Envoys Meet

PARIS (UPI) — Envoys from Washington and Hanoi met behind closed doors for a comprehensive review of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement yesterday.

Deputy Assistant of State William L. Sullivan met with Nguyen Co Thach, the North Vietnamese vice minister for foreign affairs.

The Vieg Cong announced that South Vietnamese and Vieg Cong negotiators will resume their talks Thursday to try to agree on conditions for self-determination elections.

Six Die At Race

ZACATECAS, Mexico (UPI) — A racing ar traveling at 90 miles an hour smashed into a group of 2,000 spectators yesterday during a Mexican road race. At least six of the spectators died and another 15 were injured, five of them critically.

Gov. Pedro Ruiz Gonzales stopped the race and said it would never again take place. The event was described as one of the few authentic road races left in the world.

Daniel Quesada lost control of his car on a curve and smashed into the crowd, his car flipping over as it went.

Warren Praises Harry Truman

INDEPENDENCE, M. O. (UPI) — Retired Chief Justice Earl Warren, who was an opponent of Harry S. Truman in the 1948 presidential race, says he and the late president found that "political affiliation need not affect friendship."

"If not for (Truman's) indomitable courage when his party deserted him, I would have been vice president in another administration," Warren said. The retired jurist and former California governor was Thomas Dewey's GOP running mate in that election.

Warren made the remarks in a weekend address to the 16th annual board meeting of the Truman Library Institute.

Truman "gave 'em hell," Warren said, "but always on issues and not on personalities. I often wonder if that wholesome approach to politics is gone forever."

Jews Honor Dead

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

On streetcorners and at formal ceremonies, Israelis paused yesterday to honor the six million Jews who died in Nazi concentration camps.

Prime Minister Golda Meir, in a memorial address, said that those who did not act to save the Jews should not condemn Israel for its acts.

"The extent of moralizing that you preach to us should be exactly equal to the measure of help you held out to Jews during the holocaust," she said. "If you rescued no one then, don't preach."

Dozens of memorial services were held during the day and hundreds of persons paused when air raid sirens sounded for one-minute in memory of the Jews who died during World War II.

Stockton Riot

STOCKTON (UPI) — Police firing teargas and plastic riot bullets battled thousands of youths who fought back with rocks, bottles and bricks yesterday during a rock music concert at a baseball field.

Police Capt. Lester Novaresi said 27 policemen were injured.

One officer suffered a broken fist, another a possible concussion and another a broken leg, he said.

Officers arrested more than 80 persons on charges ranging from disturbing the peace and carrying a concealed weapon to drug violations. There were 56 adults arrested and 35 juveniles.

Officers said the crowd outside started throwing wine bottles at police toward the end of the concert.

Spokesmen at three local hospitals said 34 cases of drugs overdose were being treated.

Truce Ends

BELFAST (UPI) — A weeklong truce in Londonderry, proclaimed by the extremist Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army, ended at midnight, marred by bloodshed that left two British soldiers dead.

Another weekend shooting killed a third British soldier in Belfast.

Shriver Visits George Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — R. Sargent Shriver, 1972 Democratic vice presidential nominee, and Gov. George Wallace met for an hour and 45 minutes Sunday at the executive mansion here.

Shriver said that he was respecting the governor's wishes and keeping the conversation "off the record."

"Let's just say we talked about everything," he said when asked whether the discussion had included the Watergate bugging case.

Shriver was in town for a breakfast with state Democratic leaders after speaking to the mostly black Alabama Democratic Conference Saturday night.

Doctors Hopeful For Ailing Quint

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The smallest of the quintuplets born to a mother who took fertility pills was reported in critical condition Sunday but doctors expressed optimism the infant would survive.

Dr. Fred Colwell, one of three pediatricians attending the babies, said Diane Katherine Anderson, the last of the five children born, was having respiratory problems but that her condition was stable and thus encouraging.

Drug Agents Terrorize Two Couples

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — Herbert Giglotto and his wife bolted the door of their townhouse apartment and went to bed early last Monday night.

Across town Mr. and Mrs. Donald Askew relaxed in their home and prepared for a late dinner.

But for the Giglottos and the Askews, what had started as quiet evenings at home have turned into nightmares and court suits against the government.

At about 9:30 p.m., about 15 armed men in hippie garb broke into the Giglotto apartment and pulled the startled couple from their bed.

The raiders, Giglotto said, handcuffed him and one of them pointed a cocked gun at his head, threatening to kill him unless he told the raiders where the drugs were.

"I thought I was dead. The slightest movement and that gun could have gone off," Giglotto said.

At first, Giglotto said, he thought the men were "hippies" he had evicted recently.

"I thought those hippies came back to kill me," he said.

When he realized the men were federal narcotics agents, Giglotto was shocked.

"I couldn't believe it," he said.

He told the men he knew nothing about drugs and never had and pleaded "For God's sake look at my ID before you kill me."

The Askews had just started their late dinner when he noticed armed men in the back yard of his home. He said his son had been in a fight and thought the men, dressed as hippies, had come to kill him.

He braced the front door of his home, but while he did, a man with a sawed-off shotgun kicked in the back door and several men rushed inside.

One man, Askew said, displayed a badge which said "special agent" and the men ransacked the home searching for a man called "John Coleman." The raiders there, too, were federal narcotics men.

Both couples said the agents apologized when they realized the raids had been a mistake and that the agents had offered to pay for damages incurred during the search.

The Askews already have filed a $100,000 damage suit in federal court and were to meet with the state's attorney today to decide whether the case should be brought before a grand jury indictments.

American Bombers Drive Communists From River

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian Communist troops disappeared today from the east bank of the Mekong river opposite Phnom Penh after what field reports described as "deadly accurate" American bombing raids.

In Honolulu, the U.S. Pacific Command did not mention the suspension, but said in a Sunday report that B52s and other warplanes entered the fourth month of their raids. As usual, it gave no details.

In Phnom Penh, military spokesmen and sources said heavy fighting persisted in several parts of Cambodia, the only country in Indochina with no formal truce agreement.

The field reports said there was no resistance today as a 1,500-man Cambodian task force cleared a three-mile stretch of the riverbank. Cambodian military authorities said the area was "liberated" and Communist forces driven away.

Military sources said the Communist retreat followed pinpoint bombing raids by U.S. Air Force F4 Phantoms dropping napalm cannisters as well as cluster and 500-pound bombs.

The sources said the raids were so accurate that for the present, Cambodian air force single-engine T28 bombers were all that were needed to protect the region.

No U.S. air strikes were flown across the Mekong today, in contrast with the heavy raids Sunday that attracted thousands of onlookers to the banks of the river on the Phnom Penh waterfront. The sleek jets dived out of fluffy clouds directed by an OV10 "Bronco" armed reconnaissance plane, their bombs and napalm touching off billowing greyish-black clouds.

Despite the disappearance of Communist troops, American officials expressed fears that they might still launch a terrorist campaign in Phnom Penh for its psychological effect on the refugee-swollen population of nearly two million.

Diplomatic sources said a quiet, step-by-step evacuation of all dependents of U.S. embassy personnel is nearly complete. The sources said the embassy also is considering advising other American citizens to move their wives and children out of the country.

In other ground action, the Cambodian command reported that government troops at Takeo, a provincial capital 55 miles south of Phnom Penh on Highway 2, had launched an operation "to widen their defense perimeter." Spokesmen reported new attacks today by Communists south of the city, which was encircled more than a month ago.

Prisoner Release Measures Bog Down

SAIGON (UPI) — Measures to release Vietnamese civilian prisoners broke down again today because of a disagreement over safety measures for truce-team helicopters, the Saigon command said.

It was the second time the release timetable had been delayed by disputes over helicopter arrangements.

The Saigon command also reported that Communists committed 72 violations of the Jan. 28 cease-fire in the 24 hours ending at noon today, for a total of 12,477. The Communists claim Saigon has committed more than 80,000 violations.

The spokesman said 23,483 Vietnamese on both sides have been killed, including 18,348 Communists, 4,410 Saigon troops and 725 civilians.

In North Vietnam, the Communist Vietnam News Agency said the 1,000-foot Viet Tri railway and highway bridge over the Lo river had been rebuilt. The bridge, on one of two major rail routes between North Vietnam and China, was among "more than 20 bridges destroyed or damaged by U.S. raids," the agency said.

The Hanoi news agency also reported that Viet Cong Foreign Minister Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh met Sunday with North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong and Le Duan, secretary of the Lao Dong (Workers) party. Experts on North Vietnam said this was significant since Le Duan rarely meets with Viet Cong officials.

The experts also pointed out that Mrs. Binh was accompanied by Nguyen Phu Soai, identified as "acting head of the special representation of the Republic of South Vietnam (Viet Cong)..." The experts said this indicated the head of the Viet Cong office in Hanoi, Nguyen Van Tien, is either ill or absent.

Altogether, 1,387 civilian prisoners are scheduled to be released, 750 by Saigon and 637 by the Viet Cong. Saigon released 100 people on Saturday and the Viet Cong released 63. They were only a fraction of the tens of thousands of political prisoners each side claims the other holds.

Prisoner Release Measures Bog Down

SAIGON (UPI) — Measures to release Vietnamese civilian prisoners broke down again today because of a disagreement over safety measures for truce-team helicopters, the Saigon command said.

It was the second time the release timetable had been delayed by disputes over helicopter arrangements.

The Saigon command also reported that Communists committed 72 violations of the Jan. 28 cease-fire in the 24 hours ending at noon today, for a total of 12,477. The Communists claim Saigon has committed more than 80,000 violations.

The spokesman said 23,483 Vietnamese on both sides have been killed, including 18,348 Communists, 4,410 Saigon troops and 725 civilians.

In North Vietnam, the Communist Vietnam News Agency said the 1,000-foot Viet Tri railway and highway bridge over the Lo river had been rebuilt. The bridge, on one of two major rail routes between North Vietnam and China, was among "more than 20 bridges destroyed or damaged by U.S. raids," the agency said.

The Hanoi news agency also reported that Viet Cong Foreign Minister Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh met Sunday with North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong and Le Duan, secretary of the Lao Dong (Workers) party. Experts on North Vietnam said this was significant since Le Duan rarely meets with Viet Cong officials.

The experts also pointed out that Mrs. Binh was accompanied by Nguyen Phu Soai, identified as "acting head of the special representation of the Republic of South Vietnam (Viet Cong)..." The experts said this indicated the head of the Viet Cong office in Hanoi, Nguyen Van Tien, is either ill or absent.

Altogether, 1,387 civilian prisoners are scheduled to be released, 750 by Saigon and 637 by the Viet Cong. Saigon released 100 people on Saturday and the Viet Cong released 63. They were only a fraction of the tens of thousands of political prisoners each side claims the other holds.

HEITZ CELLARS BURGUNDY AS OUR WINE OF THE MONTH

This is the second Heitz Cellars wine we have featured as Wine of the Month and for very good reasons. All Joe Heitz's wines are excellent, and most are outstanding. The Burgundy is an example of a wine excellently made. It reveals the experience and care of one of California's great winemakers. It is predominately a blend of Napa Gamay and Petite Sirah grape varieties and is approximately three and one half years old. It was aged in Redwood and finished in Oak and may be the best wine value around.

500 Take Part In Hike For Help

About 500 persons, largely young people, turned out for yesterday's 20-mile Marin Hike for Help to raise money for the People-to-People Health Foundation's Project HOPE and Marin Charitable Foundation.

According to hike coordinator Eleanor Mosden of Ross, pledges turned in totaled more than $15,000 by today's early count with more due.

Hikers included six youngsters on roller skates, high school boys and girls with knap sacks on their backs, a blond child astride a pony, a middle aged nurse who hiked for more than $8,000 in pledges and a group of San Rafael Rotarians who sang and out-distanced the youngsters around them.

First to arrive back at the college at 10:55 a.m. was Alan Shaver, 15, a San Marin High School student who ran the distance through Ross, around Phoenix Lake to Fairfax, Sleepy Hollow, San Anselmo and back to the gym in two hours and 55 minutes.

Edith N. Bull, a nurse from Palo Alto — whose dream is to sail on the hospital ship HOPE and who hiked 20 miles last year — arrived yesterday with $420 in pledges per mile or $8,400 at the end of 20 miles.

Two San Rafael Rotarians Kelso Norman, 74, and Charles H. Salt, 70, were seen striding past the under-20-year-olds on the trail.

Salt brightened the day by bursting into "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning" while descending the watershed lands above Fairfax.

Another hike veteran, Beajolais, pet dog of Terri Wilks, 14-year old Redwood High School student, hiked for 12 sponsors at 18 cents a mile. His earning plus those of his mistress — who led him on a leash — amounted to $3.88 a mile.

With 75, Lori Mink, 13, from Kent Junior High School, had the most sponsors but her 13-year-old classmate Cynthia Post had the most unique hike card. Her 40 sponsors pledged $1.82 a mile and one, a young man, a kiss.

Mrs. Mosden who coordinated the two Marin Hikes for Help attributed this year's lower turn-out to "too many hikes." About 1,200 persons hiked last year.

During the last 10 years the Marin Charitable Foundation has raised almost $90,000 for Marin and Sonoma youth agencies and had planned to give grants amounting to $7,400 to local agencies following this year's hike.

Citizen's Group Future In Doubt

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency Baord, meeting today at 8 p.m. at Civic Center, will consider the future of its project area committee, a citizens' group formed to help plan redevelopment of Marin City.

Board Chairman George H. Gnoss Jr. said one possibility to be considered tonight is the disbanding of the committee, which at times has become embroiled in local Marin City politics.

The committee was appointed last year to give local residents a voice in the long-stalled redevelopment of their community.

Drug Survey Shows Prices Vary Widely

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti says results of a drug pricing survey conducted in the state capital "dramatically illustrates the need for public information on prescription drug prices."

The survey, conducted by the Assembly Office of Research, showed the price of the drug Dilantin varied from $1.95 to $5.75 while another drug, Polycillin, went from $6.75 to $12.50.

"This survey presents clear evidence of complete chaos in the present nonsystem of pricing practices for prescription drugs," Moretti said Sunday.

"It indicates that there is no means available for the cost-conscious consumer to easily obtain price information on his prescription drug purchase."

In the survey, five individuals each purchased one drug at the same five drug stores.

"Only once did two stores charge the same price for the same drug," Moretti said, "and these were two outlets of the same chain store. In every other purchase at these two stores of the same chain prices varied."

One store calling itself "Cut Rate" and advertising reductions of between 10 and 40 per cent on all drugs consistently charged the second highest prices of the stores surveyed.

"We are told that pharmacists provide a professional service," Moretti said. "The evidence indicates otherwise. There is no reason for the sacrosanct nature of this product."

Stereo Theft

Stereo equipment valued at $250 was taken from a locked car parked in front of his residence at 202 Miranda Drive, Fairfax, over the weekend, William MacLean told police.

Seed Salesman Says You Should Talk To Plants

SOHAM, England (UPI) — Seed salesman Jack Boyce has a word for growers—have a word with the buds and blossoms.

Boyce said in leaflets handed to customers today that talking to plants helps produce bumper yields.

"Chat up your tulips," he said. "Have a gossip with your cabbages and brussel sprouts. And don't forget to say 'good morning' to your potatoes."

Plants respond to love, Boyce said.

"I'm not nutty," he said. "A great deal of scientific work has been done on this in America. Sweet-talking to plants has the same effect as when two teen-age lovers get together and hold hands in the moonlight. It brings them into their full blossom."

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

sort recently uncovered. This indicated that the President, despite urgings from leaders of both parties, would not appoint a special, nonpolitical investigator.

Nixon said Garment would take effective immediately additional duties as counsel to the President. He said Garment would represent the White House "in all matters relating to the Watergate investigation and will report directly to me."

Letters of resignation were made public by the White House from Kleindienst, Haldeman and Ehrlichman —but not from Dean.

Haldeman told Nixon he intended to cooperate "fully with the investigation —and will at my request be meeting this week for that purpose with the U.S. attorneys and with the counsel to the Senate select committee."

Haldeman added: "I have full confidence that when the truth is known the American people will be totally justified in their pride in the office of the President and in the conduct of that office by President Nixon."

Kleindienst told a news conference at the Justice Department that he resigned because "the President should have an attorney general he can consult with at all times," and he said this had become impossible since he withdrew from the Watergate investigation April 15.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said in reaction to the development that the resignations were by no means the end of the Watergate case.

Another Democrat, Speaker Carl Albert, predicted the resignations will produce better cooperation between Congress and the White House in the future.

Ehrlichman told Nixon in his letter that for the past two weeks "it has become increasingly evident that, regardless of the actual facts, I have been a target of public attack."

The Pentagon issued a statement from Richardson saying, "I have accepted the President's nomination to be attorney general because I believe I have an overriding duty to do so."

This will be his third Cabinet post in the Nixon Administration. He served as HEW secretary before taking over for Melvin R. Laird at the Pentagon.

Restaurant Robbers Get $1,950

Three armed men wearing ski masks held up five employees of Gatsby's Restaurant in Sausalito today, pistol-whipped one of them and escaped with about $1,950, police reported.

They said the five employees, four men and a woman, were cleaning up about 2:20 a.m. when they heard a knock on the door. One of the men opened a louvered window and was confronted by a man wearing a navy blue ski mask and armed with a .45-caliber pistol, police said.

Climbing in through the window, the man opened the front door and let in two accomplices. The armed man struck doorman Terry K. Petmecky on the head with the pistol, then handcuffed the four male employees to a drain pipe in the women's washroom.

After ripping wire from a speaker and using it to tie up cocktail waitress Karen L. Bennett, the men took between $1,300 and $1,400 in the night's receipts plus Petmecky's wallet containing $550, police said.

Twenty minutes later, Miss Bennett managed to work free and called police. Officers said Petmecky's wound required five stitches to close.

TAXES

—Give $500 million in tax relief to moderate-income people over 65. They would be eligible for a tax credit—a subtraction from taxes owed or a refund—of up to $500 a year for property taxes which amount to more than 5 per cent of their annual income. Tenants would consider 15 per cent of their rent as going for property taxes.

—Offer municipalities and states a federal subsidy equal to 30 per cent of their interest costs if they choose to float bonds paying taxable interest. Such bonds are now all tax exempt and some millionaires escape taxes by deriving all their income from such bonds.

Shultz told reporters his plan would reduce to "close to zero" the number of high-income individuals able to manipulate their income so as to wind up owing the government nothing. They numbered 106 in 1970 and 72 in 1971.

Suspension Of Burning Announced

A one month's suspension of all agricultural and related burning in the Bay Area will begin tomorrow in accordance with Bay Area Air Pollution Control District regulations.

The last day for burning crop wastes from growing fruit or nut trees was today. The next agricultural burning season begins on June 1st, when farmers will be allowed to burn off grain stubble during a three month period for the purpose of double-cropping.

Under the BAAPCD's regulation one, all permissible burning must be done during favorable meteorological conditions on District determined "burn" days. "Burn" days are announced over several radio stations.

Appeal Hearing Before Council

The Novato City Council will hear an appeal of variances granted for two warehouses in the flood plain zone near Nave Gardens at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community House.

Residents of Yukon Way are appealing the variances granted to Ciampi Distributing Co. and Stan's for Sports for warehouses on Ford Way, claiming construction will increase the flood hazard to nearby homes.

basis for peace and security of the area."

In his prepared remarks Rogers said "the North Vietnamese are violating Article 20 of the Vietnam agreement by continuing to station large numbers of troops in Laos and Cambodia and by conducting military operations in these countries — including large scale logistics movements."

"The situation in Laos, nevertheless, has been more encouraging," he added.

"The Cambodian situation has been the most difficult," Rogers told the Senate panel. "Here we had to intensify our air combat support at the request of the Cambodian government, due to heightened military offensives by communist forces."

Rogers said the Cambodian government unilaterally halted offensive operations following the Vietnam ceasefire and the United States halted air operations.

"These activities were resumed only when the communist forces launched a countrywide offensive and repeated their 'total victory' no compromise position on negotiations," Rogers said.

Man Given Sentence For Cocaine

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Sausalito man has been sentenced to four months in a Mendocino County conservation camp after pleading guilty in U.S. District Court to possession of cocaine.

Marco F. Madio, 23, was sentenced Friday by visiting Judge Charles Wyzanski of Boston, Mass., to spend four months at the Parlin Fork conservation camp, according to deputy court clerk Hight Deloach. He will be allowed to leave the camp for one week following each month of the four-month sentence, Deloach said.

Madio, along with Brian Neal Smith, 27, of Sausalito, and George E. Miller, 31, an attorney and lobbyist, was arrested Sept. 15 when a dozen federal, state and local narcotics agents raided his home and seized an ounce of cocaine.

The North Marin County Water District board tomorrow will consider declaring a water shortage because of the problem of delivering water during peak use periods.

Directors voted 3-2 last month against declaring a shortage after protests by developers and the threat of an $8 million suit by developers of the Pacheco Ranch.

The board, meeting at 8 p.m. at the district office in Novato, also will consider raising connection fees and water rates.

Accident Victim Off Critical List

Restaurant Robbers Get $1,950

Three armed men wearing ski masks held up five employees of Gatsby's Restaurant in Sausalito today, pistol-whipped one of them and escaped with about $1,950, police reported.

They said the five employees, four men and a woman, were cleaning up about 2:20 a.m. when they heard a knock on the door. One of the men opened a louvered window and was confronted by a man wearing a navy blue ski mask and armed with a .45-caliber pistol, police said.

Climbing in through the window, the man opened the front door and let in two accomplices. The armed man struck doorman Terry K. Petmecky on the head with the pistol, then handcuffed the four male employees to a drain pipe in the women's washroom.

After ripping wire from a speaker and using it to tie up cocktail waitress Karen L. Bennett, the men took between $1,300 and $1,400 in the night's receipts plus Petmecky's wallet containing $550, police said.

Twenty minutes later, Miss Bennett managed to work free and called police. Officers said Petmecky's wound required five stitches to close.

TAXES

—Give $500 million in tax relief to moderate-income people over 65. They would be eligible for a tax credit—a subtraction from taxes owed or a refund—of up to $500 a year for property taxes which amount to more than 5 per cent of their annual income. Tenants would consider 15 per cent of their rent as going for property taxes.

—Offer municipalities and states a federal subsidy equal to 30 per cent of their interest costs if they choose to float bonds paying taxable interest. Such bonds are now all tax exempt and some millionaires escape taxes by deriving all their income from such bonds.

Shultz told reporters his plan would reduce to "close to zero" the number of high-income individuals able to manipulate their income so as to wind up owing the government nothing. They numbered 106 in 1970 and 72 in 1971.

Suspension Of Burning Announced

The last day for burning crop wastes from growing fruit or nut trees was today. The next agricultural burning season begins on June 1st, when farmers will be allowed to burn off grain stubble during a three month period for the purpose of double-cropping.

Under the BAAPCD's regulation one, all permissible burning must be done during favorable meteorological conditions on District determined "burn" days. "Burn" days are announced over several radio stations.

basis for peace and security of the area."

In his prepared remarks Rogers said "the North Vietnamese are violating Article 20 of the Vietnam agreement by continuing to station large numbers of troops in Laos and Cambodia and by conducting military operations in these countries — including large scale logistics movements."

"The situation in Laos, nevertheless, has been more encouraging," he added.

"The Cambodian situation has been the most difficult," Rogers told the Senate panel. "Here we had to intensify our air combat support at the request of the Cambodian government, due to heightened military offensives by communist forces."

Rogers said the Cambodian government unilaterally halted offensive operations following the Vietnam ceasefire and the United States halted air operations.

"These activities were resumed only when the communist forces launched a countrywide offensive and repeated their 'total victory' no compromise position on negotiations," Rogers said.

Man Given Sentence For Cocaine

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Sausalito man has been sentenced to four months in a Mendocino County conservation camp after pleading guilty in U.S. District Court to possession of cocaine.

Marco F. Madio, 23, was sentenced Friday by visiting Judge Charles Wyzanski of Boston, Mass., to spend four months at the Parlin Fork conservation camp, according to deputy court clerk Hight Deloach. He will be allowed to leave the camp for one week following each month of the four-month sentence, Deloach said.

Madio, along with Brian Neal Smith, 27, of Sausalito, and George E. Miller, 31, an attorney and lobbyist, was arrested Sept. 15 when a dozen federal, state and local narcotics agents raided his home and seized an ounce of cocaine.

Miller, who has also pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine, and Smith, who has admitted using a telephone to arrange a cocaine sale, were to be sentenced today, according to Deloach.

THE GAZER'S GUIDE

Saturn Visible Near Moon

By DR. THOMAS D. NICHOLSON
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

May 1: Mercury is in conjunction with the moon, but both are too close to the sun to be seen.

May 4: The moon is nearest to earth, at the point in its orbit called perigee.

May 4-5: You ought to be able to see the new crescent moon on these evenings, if skies are clear. It will be over in the west just after sundown, higher and a larger crescent on the evening of the 5th. As the sky grows darker, look for Saturn near the moon, to the left and above it on the 4th; to the right, lower, and more distant from the moon during twilight of the 5th. You will not be able to see Saturn in an evening sky much longer this spring.

May 5: The Eta Aquarid shower of meteors radiates from a region of the constellation Aquarius that rises above the eastern horizon shortly after midnight. This shower is not very productive, averaging about 20 meteors per hour for the patient observer. But its meteors are swift and often bright; it reaches maximum early on the 5th; and there will be no moonlight to interfere with observations in the early morning hours. Meteors of the shower should also be visible on the mornings of the 4th and 6th.

May 19: The moon has moved around its orbit to the point called apogee, where it is farthest from earth in its orbit.

May 20: Mercury is passing the sun today, beyond it in space as sun from earth. The event is called superior conjunction (the conjunction is "inferior" when Mercury passes between sun and earth), and it takes the planet from right to left with respect to the sun, leaving it to the left (east of the sun), where it becomes an evening star.

May 20: Venus is in Taurus, and today is in conjunction with Aldebaran, its brightest star. Both are in the evening sky, but they set during twilight.

May 23-46: Let the moon introduce you to Jupiter and Mars any clear morning during this period. May 23: The moon is in the southeast before dawn; Jupiter is very bright, below and a little left of the moon; Mars is well to the left and lower than Jupiter. May 24-25: The moon is between Jupiter and Mars, nearer Jupiter on the 24th, nearer Mars on the 25th. May 26: Mars is to the right and below the moon; Jupiter is well to the right and higher than both.

May 30: Venus, entering the evening sky, and Saturn, leaving it, are in conjunction, but too low in the evening twilight to be visible.

May 31: It's Mercury's turn to pass Saturn in conjunction, with Venus not far away to the left. But the sun is also quite close, so forget about seeing these planets.

May 31: Jupiter becomes stationary among the stars and begins to move through them in westerly (retrograde) motion.

May 31: The moon is new late tonight; it is at perigee (nearest earth) tomorrow morning. When the two events occur as close as this, it produces exceptionally great tidal ranges, known as perigee spring tides. Flooding is a threat to low-lying coastal areas at times of high tide today and tomorrow.

All month: Another poor month for planets, especially in the evening sky. Venus, Saturn, and Mercury (after the 20th) are all evening stars, but none are high enough after sundown to remain in the sky very long during twilight. You may have a chance of seeing Venus late in the month, very low in the west during midtwilight.

In the morning sky, Jupiter and Mars are in good position, both becoming brighter, rising earlier, and higher at dawn during the month. Jupiter rises about midnight, and it is easily seen high in the southeast at dawn. Mars rises about two hours later, and it is to the left and lower than Jupiter until it disappears in the twilight.

Driver Slides 78 Feet After Cycle Overturns

A San Rafael man, attempting to elude California Highway Patrol officers last night, hit a Highway 101 exit at 75 miles an hour, overturned his motorcycle and slid 78 feet along the pavement.

Jefferey A. Mulanax, of 4 Highland Avenue, was reported in fair condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael with two broken legs and multiple scrapes.

Only the fact that Mulanax, 33, was wearing a helmet and face guard prevented him from being even more seriously injured, the patrol said.

Officers said Mulanax, going about 80 miles per hour, was being chased by a patrol unit at 11:05 p.m. when hs slowed to 75 and entered the southbound highway 101 exit at Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael.

His motorcycle, unable to take the curve, skidded and fell over. Hulanax slid 78 feet before coming to a stop at the edge of the pavement, officers said.

Indecent Exposure Case Is Reported

A 15-year-old San Rafael girl was the victim of indecent exposure Saturday morning as she was walking down Las Pavadas Avenue, San Rafael police reported.

The man was described as Caucasian, in his late 20s or early 30s, of stocky build, kinky hair and off-white pants, according to police.

2 Arrested In Theft At Laundry

A legless Vietnam veteran and another man were arrested yesterday in Petaluma on suspicion of burglary after a police stakeout of a laundry where there have been several recent thefts.

The double amputee, L.V. Lee Snow Jr., 23, of 549 King Road, Petaluma, was arrested in his car outside the laundromat at Hagstrom's shopping center, after he had been joined by another man seen inside the closed business.

Police said they saw the other man, Donald Ray Harvey, 25, of 620 G Street, Petaluma, remove money from coin boxes.

Both men were booked on suspicion of burglary. Snow was released from jail without bail but Harvey was held in Sonoma County Jail. Both men were to appeal in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court today.

Closing Of School On Novato List

The Novato Unified School District board at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Novato High Lecture Hall will consider closing Pacheco School, one of three elementary schools serving Air Force families.

Earlier this year trustees considered closing the schools because of declining enrollment, but after protests from parents decided to postpone action until after the 1973-74 school year.

The closing is again being proposed because of the cutback at Hamilton Air Force Base, which is expected to cause a sharp drop in enrollment.

Pacheco School also will be considered as a site for North Marin High School, a continuation school, and for Indian Valley Colleges classrooms.

Bolinas Fire Budget Adopted

A preliminary budget of $19,920 was adopted Saturday by the Bolinas Fire Protection District board, an increase of $1,390 over this year's $18,530 budget, according to board secretary Sherman R. Smith.

Smith declined to furnish a breakdown of the budget into categories although he said interested persons may inspect the budget at the firehouse, 100 Mesa Road, on May 26 between 2 and 4 p.m.

The budget will require a tax rate equal to this year's rate of 33.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, he estimated. SB 90 limits the rate to this year's or last year's level, whichever is higher.

The board will adopt a final budget July 16, he said.

Man Is Injured In Cycle Crash

Medina was southbound on Corte Madera Avenue at 1 p.m. when he overturned on his motorcycle. He skidded across the street into the path of an oncoming truck driven by Anthony Treacy of 121 Convent Court, San Rafael, police reported. Treach swerved into a ditch to avoid hitting Medina, according to police.

Impact Report To Be Reviewed

An environmental impact report on proposed realignment of Lucas Valley Road from Marinwood to Big Rock will be reviewed today at 8 p.m. at the Marinwood Community Center.

Environmental Science Associates of Burlingame has considered several alternate routes for the realignment, expected to cost about $1 million.

Tonight's session is sponsored by the Marinwood and Lucas Valley Homeowners Associations.

Kleindienst Says Role Unfulfilled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard G. Kleindienst said Monday he resigned as Attorney General because he did not feel that he was fulfilling a useful role for President Nixon.

"The President should have an Attorney General he can consult with at all times," Kleindienst told reporters, and said this had become impossible since he withdrew from the Watergate investigation April 15.

While Kleindienst was not directly implicated in the Watergate, he nevertheless was caught in the swirling scandal. He was head of the Justice Department when it conducted what it described as "an exhaustive investigation that led to the conviction of seven men in the conspiracy case, but did not involve any of Nixon's high-level staff.

In a letter of resignation to Nixon, Kleindienst said it was only on April 15 that he was informed, "for the first time, that persons with whom I had had close personal and professional associations could be involved in conduct violative of the laws of the United States." He added, "Fair and impartial enforcement of the law requires that a person who has not had such intimate relationship be the Attorney General of the United States."

Kleindienst told Nixon with reference to the Watergate: "It is not for me to comment now on the tragedy that has occurred. However, I will always be mindful of your charge to me from the very beginning that the entire matter be fully investigated and that the full effect of the law be administered no matter who it might involve or affect.

"You can be proud of the Department of Justice for the manner in which it...has responded to that charge."

Kleindienst said he expected to return to private law practice, probably in Washington.

The 50-year-old native of Winslow, Ariz., has been a controversial administration figure since he was named the 68th attorney general. His confirmation was delayed by the Senate last year because of an investigation of government settlement of an antitrust suit against the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. while Kleindienst was deputy attorney general.

Kleindienst told newsmen: "The President should have an attorney general he can consult with at all times and because I had excused myself, (from the investigation), he couldn't do that. It lessened the effectiveness of the attorney general."

Kleindienst said he had reached the conclusion Sunday morning that he would ask the President to permit him to resign. He said a short time later, he received word that the President wanted to see him at Camp David.

Kleindienst said that when he arrived at the camp by helicopter and met with the President "I think he had arrived at the same conclusion" about the resignation.

New Toothpaste For Astronauts

BOSTON (UPI) — Astronauts on future Skylab missions will bring along toothpaste they can swallow, the space program's dental surgeon said today.

"The toothpaste is ingestible because there is no provision to empty one's mouth in a spacecraft in zero-g (gravity) environment," said Col. William J. Frome of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

In prepared remarks to the Massachusetts Dental Society, Frome also said NASA has developed a special medical-dental kit and training program that will allow astronauts to treat themselves if a sudden toothache should develop during the 56-day Skylab missions.

High School Hit By Burglars Over Weekend

Burglars broke into Tamalpais High School and Mill Valley's recreation center over the weekend, Mill Valley police said today, but it was unknown what, if anything, was taken.

Officers said one or more burglars broke into the high school machine shop through a window between 2 and 8 a.m. Saturday, then kicked in doors leading to the wood shop, television room and an electrical equipment room.

Police said the thieves also entered the school snack bar in the new student center through a skylight. An inventory was to be taken today to determine the loss.

In the second incident, the office of Don L. Dimitratos, city parks and recreation director, was broken into and ransacked sometime between 1 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. yesterday, police said.

Officers said entry was gained through a window. The amount of loss was unknown.

Six Inmates Damage Their Cells

Six San Quentin inmates last night damaged or tore from the wall the toilets in their cells, according to Associate Warden James W. Park.

At 5 p.m., the correctional officers heard the noise as the inmates kicked at the toilets in their cells. Four of them succeeded in tearing them off the walls, Park said.

Correctional officers removed the men from their cells and shut off the water. The cells were stripped of everything breakable, he said. The prisoners were given plastic buckets for toilets and fresh water was taken to them every hour, he said.

Prison officials could not give any reason for the vandalism as the prisoners did not make any demand and were cooperative with the officers, Park said.

Replacement toilets will cost $928, he said.

The prisoners are Albert Median, Burl Brown, Hugo A. Pinell, Willie Tate, Fleeta Drumgo and David Johnson. The last four are presently on trial for the murder of three prison guards and two other inmates in the abortive escape attempt at San Quentin Aug. 21, 1971, an attempt in which Soledad Brother George Jackson was killed.

Missing Girl Is Still Sought

San Rafael police continued today to search for a 6-year-old San Rafael girl who vanished Friday on her way to Bahia Vista School.

Tracy Lynn Davenport left the home of her grandmother, Evelyn F. Allen of 737 Francisco Boulevard, at 11 a.m. Friday for kindergarten and hasn't been seen since, according to police.

The child is black, about four feet, six inches tall and wearing short pigtails and a black and blue Hawaiian ankle-length dress, police said.

2 Arrested In Theft At Laundry

A legless Vietnam veteran and another man were arrested yesterday in Petaluma on suspicion of burglary after a police stakeout of a laundry where there have been several recent thefts.

The double amputee, L.V. Lee Snow Jr., 23, of 549 King Road, Petaluma, was arrested in his car outside the laundromat at Hagstrom's shopping center, after he had been joined by another man seen inside the closed business.

Police said they saw the other man, Donald Ray Harvey, 25, of 620 G Street, Petaluma, remove money from coin boxes.

Both men were booked on suspicion of burglary. Snow was released from jail without bail but Harvey was held in Sonoma County Jail. Both men were to appeal in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court today.

Closing Of School On Novato List

The Novato Unified School District board at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Novato High Lecture Hall will consider closing Pacheco School, one of three elementary schools serving Air Force families.

Earlier this year trustees considered closing the schools because of declining enrollment, but after protests from parents decided to postpone action until after the 1973-74 school year.

The closing is again being proposed because of the cutback at Hamilton Air Force Base, which is expected to cause a sharp drop in enrollment.

Pacheco School also will be considered as a site for North Marin High School, a continuation school, and for Indian Valley Colleges classrooms.

Saturn Visible Near Moon

By DR. THOMAS D. NICHOLSON
Director, American Museum of Natural History, New York
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

May 1: Mercury is in conjunction with the moon, but both are too close to the sun to be seen.

May 4: The moon is nearest to earth, at the point in its orbit called perigee.

May 4-5: You ought to be able to see the new crescent moon on these evenings, if skies are clear. It will be over in the west just after sundown, higher and a larger crescent on the evening of the 5th. As the sky grows darker, look for Saturn near the moon, to the left and above it on the 4th; to the right, lower, and more distant from the moon during twilight of the 5th. You will not be able to see Saturn in an evening sky much longer this spring.

May 5: The Eta Aquarid shower of meteors radiates from a region of the constellation Aquarius that rises above the eastern horizon shortly after midnight. This shower is not very productive, averaging about 20 meteors per hour for the patient observer. But its meteors are swift and often bright; it reaches maximum early on the 5th; and there will be no moonlight to interfere with observations in the early morning hours. Meteors of the shower should also be visible on the mornings of the 4th and 6th.

May 19: The moon has moved around its orbit to the point called apogee, where it is farthest from earth in its orbit.

May 20: Mercury is passing the sun today, beyond it in space as sun from earth. The event is called superior conjunction (the conjunction is "inferior" when Mercury passes between sun and earth), and it takes the planet from right to left with respect to the sun, leaving it to the left (east of the sun), where it becomes an evening star.

May 20: Venus is in Taurus, and today is in conjunction with Aldebaran, its brightest star. Both are in the evening sky, but they set during twilight.

May 23-46: Let the moon introduce you to Jupiter and Mars any clear morning during this period. May 23: The moon is in the southeast before dawn; Jupiter is very bright, below and a little left of the moon; Mars is well to the left and lower than Jupiter. May 24-25: The moon is between Jupiter and Mars, nearer Jupiter on the 24th, nearer Mars on the 25th. May 26: Mars is to the right and below the moon; Jupiter is well to the right and higher than both.

May 30: Venus, entering the evening sky, and Saturn, leaving it, are in conjunction, but too low in the evening twilight to be visible.

May 31: It's Mercury's turn to pass Saturn in conjunction, with Venus not far away to the left. But the sun is also quite close, so forget about seeing these planets.

May 31: Jupiter becomes stationary among the stars and begins to move through them in westerly (retrograde) motion.

May 31: The moon is new late tonight; it is at perigee (nearest earth) tomorrow morning. When the two events occur as close as this, it produces exceptionally great tidal ranges, known as perigee spring tides. Flooding is a threat to low-lying coastal areas at times of high tide today and tomorrow.

All month: Another poor month for planets, especially in the evening sky. Venus, Saturn, and Mercury (after the 20th) are all evening stars, but none are high enough after sundown to remain in the sky very long during twilight. You may have a chance of seeing Venus late in the month, very low in the west during midtwilight.

In the morning sky, Jupiter and Mars are in good position, both becoming brighter, rising earlier, and higher at dawn during the month. Jupiter rises about midnight, and it is easily seen high in the southeast at dawn. Mars rises about two hours later, and it is to the left and lower than Jupiter until it disappears in the twilight.

Man Is Injured In Cycle Crash

Medina was southbound on Corte Madera Avenue at 1 p.m. when he overturned on his motorcycle. He skidded across the street into the path of an oncoming truck driven by Anthony Treacy of 121 Convent Court, San Rafael, police reported. Treach swerved into a ditch to avoid hitting Medina, according to police.

Driver Slides 78 Feet After Cycle Overturns

A San Rafael man, attempting to elude California Highway Patrol officers last night, hit a Highway 101 exit at 75 miles an hour, overturned his motorcycle and slid 78 feet along the pavement.

Jefferey A. Mulanax, of 4 Highland Avenue, was reported in fair condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael with two broken legs and multiple scrapes.

Only the fact that Mulanax, 33, was wearing a helmet and face guard prevented him from being even more seriously injured, the patrol said.

Officers said Mulanax, going about 80 miles per hour, was being chased by a patrol unit at 11:05 p.m. when hs slowed to 75 and entered the southbound highway 101 exit at Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael.

His motorcycle, unable to take the curve, skidded and fell over. Hulanax slid 78 feet before coming to a stop at the edge of the pavement, officers said.

Indecent Exposure Case Is Reported

A 15-year-old San Rafael girl was the victim of indecent exposure Saturday morning as she was walking down Las Pavadas Avenue, San Rafael police reported.

The man was described as Caucasian, in his late 20s or early 30s, of stocky build, kinky hair and off-white pants, according to police.

Farm Worker Pawn In Power Struggle

It is not an unfamiliar position for him. Agriculture in California did not develop on the family farm-homestead pattern that characterized it in most states. It was complicated at the beginning by huge Mexican land grants, later by gifts of land to Southern Pacific, and by various other things. The result was a pattern of huge holdings worked by hired labor, often in absentee ownership. The California farm worker has had few rights.

He is getting none now. In the power struggle between the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers and the independent Teamsters Union, nobody bothers to ask the farm worker which union he wants, or whether he wants either. The fight is for exclusive contracts with the growers — the exploiters, according to union propaganda. The weapons are the picket line, the boycott, the threat of crops rotting in the field.

The workers may be exploited by the growers. Certainly they and their plight are exploited by the rival unions. They are the pawns.

Now State Sen. Fred W. Marler Jr., R-Redding, has introduced a bill, with Governor Reagan's backing, to bring some order out of the chaos in the fields.

Marler's bill (SB 1094) follows closely the lines of last year's Proposition 22. That was defeated at the polls by a strange combination of Big Labor, wide-eyed idealists, and open-shop advocates.

The AFL-CIO fought Proposition 22 because it called for elections by the workers themselves on union representation, and for restrictions on harvest-time strikes. The AFL-CIO was backing Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers because it is an AFL-CIO affiliate. And the UFW had never won an election among the workers.

The wide-eyed liberals opposed the proposition because it was "anti-Chavez," and in their view Chavez is a kind of Mexican Moses leading his workers to the promised land.

Californians For Right To Work opposed it because it called for exclusive representation by the union winning a majority in an election — the union shop.

We supported Proposition 22 because it would give the farm workers some voice in their own destiny. They have none at all now.

We have some second thoughts, however. We think Californians For Right To Work had a cogent objection. If, for instance, 51 per cent of the employees of a farm vote to be represented by the Teamsters, is it fair to require the other 49 per cent to pay dues to that union in order to keep their jobs? Is not this itself a form of discrimination? Is it not, when you caome right down to it, an "indenture"?

We don't believe the Legislature should enact something the voters have rejected. But if one of the principal objections is eliminated, the Legislature no longer need refrain from acting.

And And the farm worker is entitled to be something better than a pawn.

Butterfly Symbolism

Besides being symbolic of the philanderer that flits from flower to flower, the butterfly has a much deeper significance to many of the world's religions. For example, in Christian theology, man must pass through two stages before he achieves perfection. These are life, symbolized by the caterpillar, and death, symbolized by the chrysalis. The emergent butterfly represents resurrection — the perfection of the soul. Consider this when next you see a butterfly in a Marin garden or park.

DON'T COUNT ON SAVINGS

Energy Needs Menace Environmental Campaign

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The growing energy crunch already is being manipulated to undermine our modest progress in cleaning up the environment.

Even President Nixon called this month for relaxing air pollution controls to restrain rising fuel costs.

With that sort of leadership, it was no susprise to find the Army Corps of Engineers joining the parade. At issue is a corps study on the need for new deepwater port facilities to handle supercarriers bringing in crude oil.

According to the corps' outline of its pending study, "a cost reduction of approximately 50 per cent is possible by quadrupling the size of the ship. These savings would be expected to benefit not only the ocean transport and petroleum industries, but would be passed on to the consumers of petroleum products."

YOU READ IT yourself. The corps clearly suggests some generous saving would be passed on to the public — if it can be convinced to swallow the environmental hazards of huge new tanker facilities.

What the corps failed to mention was that ocean shipping costs account for only a tiny bit of the price the consumer pays per gallon of gasoline. A spokesman for an oil refinery told us the cost comes to three cents a gallon for crude oil imported from the Mid-East in a 50,000-ton tanker.

A supertanker thus theoretically would cut the consumer's cost per gallon by about 1.5 cents.

The refinery spokesman, however, cautioned that most of this so-called "saving" probably would be used up by industry in building costly new terminals to handle the supertankers.

Sites under study for the terminals include San Francisco Bay and the ocean coastline off San Mateo and Santa Cruz counties. They may be needed on some grounds, but cannot be justified on the basis of savings to the consumer.

The Marin coast, incidentally, was excluded from the study because of sea life, bottom conditions and current patterns. The Golden Gate National Recreation Area and Point Reyes National Seashore apparently had nothing to do with elimination of the Marin coast from the study.

SEN. PETER H. BEHR, R-San Rafael, has some of the best environmental credentials you can find. But the same gent pointed last week to the hill within San Quentin Prison and said "a bulldozer could knock it down in an afternoon."

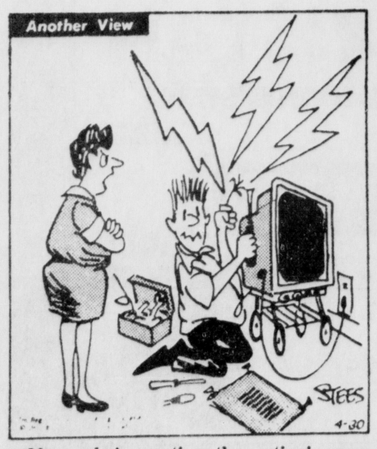
ONE OF THE FEW prominent Republicans who stands to come out ahead because of the Watergate scandals is the President's longtime aide, Robert Finch. As one of the very few top aides untouched by the scandals, Finch may regain his influence with Nixon. This could not hurt him in next year's California race for governor.

The scandals, however, may dim the hopes of Assemblyman William T Bagley, R-San Rafael, for a Washington job Some of his best contacts within the administration apparently will be indict ed



"Now who's wasting the nation's energy?"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Arabs' Role Likened To That Of Indians

In response to R. W. Shand's letter of April 23, concerning the Israeli terrorist raids, I suggest that Mr. Shand study the origins of this conflict. To make such statements as "the Arabs started the terrorism" and "the Arabs have harbored and encouraged the Palestinian guerrillas to commit mayhem against persons for years" shows his ignorance of the situation.

No one needs to be encouraged to fight against those who have driven him from his homeland and to accuse the Arabs of starting the trouble is like accusing the Indians of starting the wars against the white man in this country.

Differs With Reviewer On Ozawa's Choice

I would like to protest that portion of Vera Olmsted's review dealing with Tchaikowsky's Fourth Symphony, which was recently performed by Ozawa and the San Francisco Symphony at the Marin Veterans Auditorium. Critic Olmsted states: "Marin County music goers can't help but wonder why Ozawa felt it necessary to program such a well-known and often performed work like this for the Marin series'". . .

It is perfectly clear to this music goer why Ozawa chose to honor us with a performance of the Tchaikowsky Fourth, rather than with Stravinsky's "Firebird." Ozawa was giving us a sample of what European audiences would be hearing during his upcoming concert tour. And what a sample it was! This was no ordinary performance; it was a revelation of the highest order, an unforgettable tour de force! Never have I heard the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, or any other orchestra for that matter, play with such clarity and precision, with such dynamic finesse and expressiveness. I marveled at my good fortune to be able to hear such a performance, and wished it could have continued forever. . .I doubt that there was one person in the auditorium —outside of the critic, of course — who mourned the unplayed "Firebird." We were too breathless and awestruck over the glorious performance we had just enjoyed, thanks to Ozawa's genius and the mastery of his orchestra.

Don't We Care What Happens To Children?

The low, low turnout of voters for the recent important school elections and water district election is just incredible to me. What the schools are has so very much to do with what individual kids are, what American youth is, what communities are, and what our country is. Even if people are not concerned about all of this, they are concerned about their taxes. Do they know that 59.4 per cent of our county taxes this year went to the schools; 29½ per cent of the total state revenue went to schools; and 7.1 per cent of the total federal revenue went to the schools? I wonder if the public really feels all of this money of theirs is being spent in the best possible way and that there is no considerable waste?

For the Tamalpais High School District board (a poorly working board as any interested person or anyone who reads the papers would know) only 31.39 per cent of the registered voters voted; only 35.96 per cent voted in Mill Valley which is a community very much divided as to what it wants in the way of education; 32.47 per cent of the voters voted for the Marin Community College Board. Our community college is so much a part of the life of every citizen in Marin County (or could easily be if they wanted it to be); San Rafael's vote was 40.99 per cent. The highest vote cast in Marin County was in Lagunitas with 49.35 per cent. Overall, only 32½ per cent of all Marin County registered voters voted.

Is it that we Americans just don't care anymore what happens to ourselves, our children, our communities, and our country?

I personally want to thank you for the whole section of the Independent-Journal that you devoted to the school contests and the water district in an unbiased way just before the election. It was a help and very interesting too.

Where Were Voters? Don't People Care?

Election results bring many surprises, but the biggest surprise this last election was the small percentage of voters who were interested enough to make their desires known at the polls.

When the large number of candidates for relatively few seats on school boards began reporting their views, I thought: "Great! This is a healthy sign that so many people are interested enough in our schools to run for office. This time voters really have a wide choice and good chance to make their wishes known regarding candidates for elementary, secondary and junior college school boards. They will surely vote in order to take part in having those candidates that they feel are best qualified decide the trend of our students' education and also the spending of 65 to 75 per cent of our property tax dollars. Whether or not thse voters have children being educated in these schools, they are directly affected by the decisions of these school boards both economically by taxes and socially by the results of that education."

Surprise! Only 32.47 per cent cared to make these decisions.

So many fine candidates offered themselves and their time and energies for the benefit of their communities. The Independent-Journal did a fine job in presenting these candidates' views.

Where were the voters? Do only 32.47 per cent care about the education of our future voters and the spending of hundreds of thousands of dollars for that education?

THE NEEDLE

A psychiatrist in Los Angeles has invented an antismoking machine which strikes back by blowing a cloud of stale cigarette smoke into the subject's race every time he lights up.

Without accusing Doc of being a secret smoker, we wonder how he accumulates all that stale smoke with which he stokes his rude machine.

Americans Only Gradually Realize Meaning Of Watergate

NAG'S HEAD, N.C. — No doubt it is the same this week in the highest Cascades and the deepest Everglades. A lot of places in our country are farther from Washington than the outer banks of North Carolina, but it is unlikely that the remotest of them can isolate an American from the depressing knowledge of what has been going on there.

Easter and the days immediately after were sunny here, and the first exploratory waves of mainlanders came out to check the temperature of the surf, test the aggressiveness of this year's bluefish and flounder, and inspect the damage left by the storm-driven tides of early March.

They found the resident cottage-owners and landlords already busy with repairs, renovation and in hopeless cases, demolition. They discovered that the old Arlington Hotel, one of the classic frame antiques with long veranda overlooking the dunes to the ocean, is now a few piles of splintered lumber in the sand. Stretched on the beach absorbing the first burning rays of spring, they heard hammers set a rhythm for the sleepy counterplay of surf and gulls.

BUT EVEN AS THEY lay drowsing, the word "Watergate" kept recurring like the tides. I would suspect, writing this, that I was speaking only for myself, a momentary escapee from Washington — except that the word at least is on most everybody's mind. "Ain't it a mess?" asked the woman at the cash register at the grocery this morning. It was a rhetorical question.

Still, even as knowledge of the Watergate mess has extended in breadth, I have a feeling that with most Americans, including those in Washington, the scale of this thing has not yet sunk in. Not scale as measured by numbers of officials involved, hundreds of thousands of dollars spent, or by gross tonnage of lies told, all of which may set records; rather, scale in the sense of what it means in our history.

Now is beyond the time when any single catchword can be used fairly to stand for the entire — what? "Caper," "affair," "bugging," "coverup," "mess," "intrigue," "plot," "conspiracy" — they all fit, but no one of them, not all of them together, suffices.

To say "Watergate" conjures up all of it, but specifically applies only to the cheap bugging attempts that led to continuing disclosure of the rest. "It" was more than a bugging, more than planting of spies in the opposition headquarters, more than playing an illegal shell game with thousands and likely millions of campaign dollars collected within and without the law, more even than making the big and little lie an accepted part of daily routine at the White House.

THE MOST APPALLING chapters were written after the initial discoveries became public, when a less arrogant group of men might have experienced belated decency and shut up shop. But no, these were so secure in their own isolation and elevated status that they undertook to suborn the judicial process to protect themselves.

And even that, which still may not be the culmination of it, is not the worst of it. The only way to place all this prematurely in history is to stand as far back as possible, and see it as a whole. If that perspective cannot be achieved in time, it may be in space, and thus perhaps it is useful after all to consider it from these outer banks above Hatteras.

From here, it is clear that the heart of the Nixon administration has engaged in intentional subversion of our political system. It is a subversion that makes the alleged subversives whom Mr. Nixon used as rungs on his career ladder, even the guilty ones, seem pathetic nobodies by comparison.

Now we have cynical men already in power, not vain dreamers about it, conspiring and acting to make our democratic process meaningless. Preaching to us about law and order, they have consciously broken the laws and betrayed the Constitution on which our order is based. Bad enough, if it involved greed for money alone, capable of some perspective if it were a single act to save a single close election. But this happened before, during and after the election, and probably still goes on this morning.

From our here you can see it, and to describe it sounds like a quote from Mr. Nixon's past: Criminal subversion, on a scale unprecedented in our history.

Jackson Amendment Succeeds Without Congressional Action

Triple play on Soviet emigration of Jews: It was Jackson to Nixon to Brezhnev.

Passage of Sen. Henry Jackson's amendment to try to penalize Moscow for its high exit fees for Russian Jews would have been useless and hurtful. Its existence as a threat proved useful and productive.

Nixon took it from there, made a strong case in a personal letter to Brezhnev, and the Russians have suspended the exit tax indefinitely.

Jewish emigration from Russia has been mounting. It was 1,000 in 1969; 13,000 in 1971, and 30,000 last year.

CHOU EN-LAI sends tip to U.S. congress — on how to economize. The Chinese premier likes to point out that his government does not give elaborate fringe benefits — like around-the-clock limousines and drivers — even to its highest officials. Chou is allowed to use a chauffeur-driven car only when on strictly defined official business. For all other transportation needs he rides his bicycle!

Apparently China is eager to improve its relations with nearly every country in the world except Russia. When Premier Alexei Kosygin was in Stockholm recently, he let it out that he considered four years of negotiations with Peking to have been absolutely fruitless.

He brands the charges by Chinese leaders that there is a threat of aggression by the Soviet Union "a lie from beginning to end."

MAO TSE-TUNG has a different version. He has a new slogan and it is aimed to generate the deepest concern among the 700 million Chinese over what the Soviet Union may do.

Its foremost theme is: "Dig tunnels deep." He wants the nation's teeming population to be ready to protect itself against Russian nuclear attack.

The words of the Chinese chairman are being widely promulgated and repeatedly quoted.

WHO WANTS to save money on defense? Nearly everyone says he wants to economize. The politicians proclaim it over and over. Those who say it loudest and longest are the liberal Democrats in Congress.

But when Sec. of Defense Elliot Richardson proposes to close down or cut back 274 Army bases and Navy yards across the country, the civilian politicians begin to scream. They are not pleased with the judgment of the military that these facilities are outdated and not needed. Those who scream the loudest are congressmen and senators from Massachusetts, the only state which voted for Senator McGovern.

The military strongly advocates these economies because they would cut expenses where they would weaken the armed services the least, if at all.

The entire Massachusetts congressional delegation, led by Sen. Edward Kennedy, marshaled itself en masse —but to no avail.

CRIME BEGINNING not to pay? That's one conclusion which emerges from the latest statistics.

It is the pattern of crime which is most striking. Serious crime designed to get money is declining for the first time in many years. Other violent crime is increasing.

Auto thefts went down 7 per cent last year from the year before; robbery down 4 per cent; larceny, $50 or more, down 3 per cent; burglary down 2 per cent.

But forcible rape is up 11 per cent, murder up 4 per cent.

IS NIXON political poison? John Connally is said to be delaying his switch to the Republican Party because of Watergate. Vice President Agnew's aides are urging him to separate himself from the President's handling of Watergate. Rockefeller might walk right between Connally and Agnew and take it all in '76.

Farm Worker Pawn In Power Struggle

It is not an unfamiliar position for him. Agriculture in California did not develop on the family farm-homestead pattern that characterized it in most states. It was complicated at the beginning by huge Mexican land grants, later by gifts of land to Southern Pacific, and by various other things. The result was a pattern of huge holdings worked by hired labor, often in absentee ownership. The California farm worker has had few rights.

He is getting none now. In the power struggle between the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers and the independent Teamsters Union, nobody bothers to ask the farm worker which union he wants, or whether he wants either. The fight is for exclusive contracts with the growers — the exploiters, according to union propaganda. The weapons are the picket line, the boycott, the threat of crops rotting in the field.

The workers may be exploited by the growers. Certainly they and their plight are exploited by the rival unions. They are the pawns.

Now State Sen. Fred W. Marler Jr., R-Redding, has introduced a bill, with Governor Reagan's backing, to bring some order out of the chaos in the fields.

Marler's bill (SB 1094) follows closely the lines of last year's Proposition 22. That was defeated at the polls by a strange combination of Big Labor, wide-eyed idealists, and open-shop advocates.

The AFL-CIO fought Proposition 22 because it called for elections by the workers themselves on union representation, and for restrictions on harvest-time strikes. The AFL-CIO was backing Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers because it is an AFL-CIO affiliate. And the UFW had never won an election among the workers.

The wide-eyed liberals opposed the proposition because it was "anti-Chavez," and in their view Chavez is a kind of Mexican Moses leading his workers to the promised land.

Californians For Right To Work opposed it because it called for exclusive representation by the union winning a majority in an election — the union shop.

We supported Proposition 22 because it would give the farm workers some voice in their own destiny. They have none at all now.

We have some second thoughts, however. We think Californians For Right To Work had a cogent objection. If, for instance, 51 per cent of the employees of a farm vote to be represented by the Teamsters, is it fair to require the other 49 per cent to pay dues to that union in order to keep their jobs? Is not this itself a form of discrimination? Is it not, when you caome right down to it, an "indenture"?

We don't believe the Legislature should enact something the voters have rejected. But if one of the principal objections is eliminated, the Legislature no longer need refrain from acting.

And And the farm worker is entitled to be something better than a pawn.

Butterfly Symbolism

Besides being symbolic of the philanderer that flits from flower to flower, the butterfly has a much deeper significance to many of the world's religions. For example, in Christian theology, man must pass through two stages before he achieves perfection. These are life, symbolized by the caterpillar, and death, symbolized by the chrysalis. The emergent butterfly represents resurrection — the perfection of the soul. Consider this when next you see a butterfly in a Marin garden or park.

DON'T COUNT ON SAVINGS

Energy Needs Menace Environmental Campaign

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The growing energy crunch already is being manipulated to undermine our modest progress in cleaning up the environment.

Even President Nixon called this month for relaxing air pollution controls to restrain rising fuel costs.

With that sort of leadership, it was no susprise to find the Army Corps of Engineers joining the parade. At issue is a corps study on the need for new deepwater port facilities to handle supercarriers bringing in crude oil.

According to the corps' outline of its pending study, "a cost reduction of approximately 50 per cent is possible by quadrupling the size of the ship. These savings would be expected to benefit not only the ocean transport and petroleum industries, but would be passed on to the consumers of petroleum products."

YOU READ IT yourself. The corps clearly suggests some generous saving would be passed on to the public — if it can be convinced to swallow the environmental hazards of huge new tanker facilities.

What the corps failed to mention was that ocean shipping costs account for only a tiny bit of the price the consumer pays per gallon of gasoline. A spokesman for an oil refinery told us the cost comes to three cents a gallon for crude oil imported from the Mid-East in a 50,000-ton tanker.

A supertanker thus theoretically would cut the consumer's cost per gallon by about 1.5 cents.

The refinery spokesman, however, cautioned that most of this so-called "saving" probably would be used up by industry in building costly new terminals to handle the supertankers.

Sites under study for the terminals include San Francisco Bay and the ocean coastline off San Mateo and Santa Cruz counties. They may be needed on some grounds, but cannot be justified on the basis of savings to the consumer.

The Marin coast, incidentally, was excluded from the study because of sea life, bottom conditions and current patterns. The Golden Gate National Recreation Area and Point Reyes National Seashore apparently had nothing to do with elimination of the Marin coast from the study.

SEN. PETER H. BEHR, R-San Rafael, has some of the best environmental credentials you can find. But the same gent pointed last week to the hill within San Quentin Prison and said "a bulldozer could knock it down in an afternoon."

ONE OF THE FEW prominent Republicans who stands to come out ahead because of the Watergate scandals is the President's longtime aide, Robert Finch. As one of the very few top aides untouched by the scandals, Finch may regain his influence with Nixon. This could not hurt him in next year's California race for governor.

The scandals, however, may dim the hopes of Assemblyman William T Bagley, R-San Rafael, for a Washington job Some of his best contacts within the administration apparently will be indicted

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Arabs' Role Likened To That Of Indians

In response to R. W. Shand's letter of April 23, concerning the Israeli terrorist raids, I suggest that Mr. Shand study the origins of this conflict. To make such statements as "the Arabs started the terrorism" and "the Arabs have harbored and encouraged the Palestinian guerrillas to commit mayhem against persons for years" shows his ignorance of the situation.

No one needs to be encouraged to fight against those who have driven him from his homeland and to accuse the Arabs of starting the trouble is like accusing the Indians of starting the wars against the white man in this country.

Differs With Reviewer On Ozawa's Choice

I would like to protest that portion of Vera Olmsted's review dealing with Tchaikowsky's Fourth Symphony, which was recently performed by Ozawa and the San Francisco Symphony at the Marin Veterans Auditorium. Critic Olmsted states: "Marin County music goers can't help but wonder why Ozawa felt it necessary to program such a well-known and often performed work like this for the Marin series'". . .

It is perfectly clear to this music goer why Ozawa chose to honor us with a performance of the Tchaikowsky Fourth, rather than with Stravinsky's "Firebird." Ozawa was giving us a sample of what European audiences would be hearing during his upcoming concert tour. And what a sample it was! This was no ordinary performance; it was a revelation of the highest order, an unforgettable tour de force! Never have I heard the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, or any other orchestra for that matter, play with such clarity and precision, with such dynamic finesse and expressiveness. I marveled at my good fortune to be able to hear such a performance, and wished it could have continued forever. . .I doubt that there was one person in the auditorium —outside of the critic, of course — who mourned the unplayed "Firebird." We were too breathless and awestruck over the glorious performance we had just enjoyed, thanks to Ozawa's genius and the mastery of his orchestra.

Don't We Care What Happens To Children?

The low, low turnout of voters for the recent important school elections and water district election is just incredible to me. What the schools are has so very much to do with what individual kids are, what American youth is, what communities are, and what our country is. Even if people are not concerned about all of this, they are concerned about their taxes. Do they know that 59.4 per cent of our county taxes this year went to the schools; 29½ per cent of the total state revenue went to schools; and 7.1 per cent of the total federal revenue went to the schools? I wonder if the public really feels all of this money of theirs is being spent in the best possible way and that there is no considerable waste?

For the Tamalpais High School District board (a poorly working board as any interested person or anyone who reads the papers would know) only 31.39 per cent of the registered voters voted; only 35.96 per cent voted in Mill Valley which is a community very much divided as to what it wants in the way of education; 32.47 per cent of the voters voted for the Marin Community College Board. Our community college is so much a part of the life of every citizen in Marin County (or could easily be if they wanted it to be); San Rafael's vote was 40.99 per cent. The highest vote cast in Marin County was in Lagunitas with 49.35 per cent. Overall, only 32½ per cent of all Marin County registered voters voted.

Is it that we Americans just don't care anymore what happens to ourselves, our children, our communities, and our country?

I personally want to thank you for the whole section of the Independent-Journal that you devoted to the school contests and the water district in an unbiased way just before the election. It was a help and very interesting too.

Where Were Voters? Don't People Care?

Election results bring many surprises, but the biggest surprise this last election was the small percentage of voters who were interested enough to make their desires known at the polls.

When the large number of candidates for relatively few seats on school boards began reporting their views, I thought: "Great! This is a healthy sign that so many people are interested enough in our schools to run for office. This time voters really have a wide choice and good chance to make their wishes known regarding candidates for elementary, secondary and junior college school boards. They will surely vote in order to take part in having those candidates that they feel are best qualified decide the trend of our students' education and also the spending of 65 to 75 per cent of our property tax dollars. Whether or not thse voters have children being educated in these schools, they are directly affected by the decisions of these school boards both economically by taxes and socially by the results of that education."

Surprise! Only 32.47 per cent cared to make these decisions.

So many fine candidates offered themselves and their time and energies for the benefit of their communities. The Independent-Journal did a fine job in presenting these candidates' views.

Where were the voters? Do only 32.47 per cent care about the education of our future voters and the spending of hundreds of thousands of dollars for that education?

Americans Only Gradually Realize Meaning Of Watergate

NAG'S HEAD, N.C. — No doubt it is the same this week in the highest Cascades and the deepest Everglades. A lot of places in our country are farther from Washington than the outer banks of North Carolina, but it is unlikely that the remotest of them can isolate an American from the depressing knowledge of what has been going on there.

Easter and the days immediately after were sunny here, and the first exploratory waves of mainlanders came out to check the temperature of the surf, test the aggressiveness of this year's bluefish and flounder, and inspect the damage left by the storm-driven tides of early March.

They found the resident cottage-owners and landlords already busy with repairs, renovation and in hopeless cases, demolition. They discovered that the old Arlington Hotel, one of the classic frame antiques with long veranda overlooking the dunes to the ocean, is now a few piles of splintered lumber in the sand. Stretched on the beach absorbing the first burning rays of spring, they heard hammers set a rhythm for the sleepy counterplay of surf and gulls.

BUT EVEN AS THEY lay drowsing, the word "Watergate" kept recurring like the tides. I would suspect, writing this, that I was speaking only for myself, a momentary escapee from Washington — except that the word at least is on most everybody's mind. "Ain't it a mess?" asked the woman at the cash register at the grocery this morning. It was a rhetorical question.

Still, even as knowledge of the Watergate mess has extended in breadth, I have a feeling that with most Americans, including those in Washington, the scale of this thing has not yet sunk in. Not scale as measured by numbers of officials involved, hundreds of thousands of dollars spent, or by gross tonnage of lies told, all of which may set records; rather, scale in the sense of what it means in our history.

Now is beyond the time when any single catchword can be used fairly to stand for the entire — what? "Caper," "affair," "bugging," "coverup," "mess," "intrigue," "plot," "conspiracy" — they all fit, but no one of them, not all of them together, suffices.

To say "Watergate" conjures up all of it, but specifically applies only to the cheap bugging attempts that led to continuing disclosure of the rest. "It" was more than a bugging, more than planting of spies in the opposition headquarters, more than playing an illegal shell game with thousands and likely millions of campaign dollars collected within and without the law, more even than making the big and little lie an accepted part of daily routine at the White House.

THE MOST APPALLING chapters were written after the initial discoveries became public, when a less arrogant group of men might have experienced belated decency and shut up shop. But no, these were so secure in their own isolation and elevated status that they undertook to suborn the judicial process to protect themselves.

And even that, which still may not be the culmination of it, is not the worst of it. The only way to place all this prematurely in history is to stand as far back as possible, and see it as a whole. If that perspective cannot be achieved in time, it may be in space, and thus perhaps it is useful after all to consider it from these outer banks above Hatteras.

From here, it is clear that the heart of the Nixon administration has engaged in intentional subversion of our political system. It is a subversion that makes the alleged subversives whom Mr. Nixon used as rungs on his career ladder, even the guilty ones, seem pathetic nobodies by comparison.

Now we have cynical men already in power, not vain dreamers about it, conspiring and acting to make our democratic process meaningless. Preaching to us about law and order, they have consciously broken the laws and betrayed the Constitution on which our order is based. Bad enough, if it involved greed for money alone, capable of some perspective if it were a single act to save a single close election. But this happened before, during and after the election, and probably still goes on this morning.

From our here you can see it, and to describe it sounds like a quote from Mr. Nixon's past: Criminal subversion, on a scale unprecedented in our history.

Jackson Amendment Succeeds Without Congressional Action

Triple play on Soviet emigration of Jews: It was Jackson to Nixon to Brezhnev.

Passage of Sen. Henry Jackson's amendment to try to penalize Moscow for its high exit fees for Russian Jews would have been useless and hurtful. Its existence as a threat proved useful and productive.

Nixon took it from there, made a strong case in a personal letter to Brezhnev, and the Russians have suspended the exit tax indefinitely.

Jewish emigration from Russia has been mounting. It was 1,000 in 1969; 13,000 in 1971, and 30,000 last year.

CHOU EN-LAI sends tip to U.S. congress — on how to economize. The Chinese premier likes to point out that his government does not give elaborate fringe benefits — like around-the-clock limousines and drivers — even to its highest officials. Chou is allowed to use a chauffeur-driven car only when on strictly defined official business. For all other transportation needs he rides his bicycle!

Apparently China is eager to improve its relations with nearly every country in the world except Russia. When Premier Alexei Kosygin was in Stockholm recently, he let it out that he considered four years of negotiations with Peking to have been absolutely fruitless.

He brands the charges by Chinese leaders that there is a threat of aggression by the Soviet Union "a lie from beginning to end."

MAO TSE-TUNG has a different version. He has a new slogan and it is aimed to generate the deepest concern among the 700 million Chinese over what the Soviet Union may do.

Its foremost theme is: "Dig tunnels deep." He wants the nation's teeming population to be ready to protect itself against Russian nuclear attack.

The words of the Chinese chairman are being widely promulgated and repeatedly quoted.

WHO WANTS to save money on defense? Nearly everyone says he wants to economize. The politicians proclaim it over and over. Those who say it loudest and longest are the liberal Democrats in Congress.

But when Sec. of Defense Elliot Richardson proposes to close down or cut back 274 Army bases and Navy yards across the country, the civilian politicians begin to scream. They are not pleased with the judgment of the military that these facilities are outdated and not needed. Those who scream the loudest are congressmen and senators from Massachusetts, the only state which voted for Senator McGovern.

The military strongly advocates these economies because they would cut expenses where they would weaken the armed services the least, if at all.

The entire Massachusetts congressional delegation, led by Sen. Edward Kennedy, marshaled itself en masse —but to no avail.

CRIME BEGINNING not to pay? That's one conclusion which emerges from the latest statistics.

It is the pattern of crime which is most striking. Serious crime designed to get money is declining for the first time in many years. Other violent crime is increasing.

Auto thefts went down 7 per cent last year from the year before; robbery down 4 per cent; larceny, $50 or more, down 3 per cent; burglary down 2 per cent.

But forcible rape is up 11 per cent, murder up 4 per cent.

Recapturing Our Yesterdays — Or Pieces Of 'Em, Anyhow

There are people who call back the past the way they call back their childhood. They invoke it, so to speak, with history's equivalent of bronzed baby shoes, old snapshot albums, and musty trunks in the attic.

A regular industry has been set up to keep these Proustian memory-prompters supplied with their madeleine cakes and tea. Each year dozens of photography books are produced with titles like "A Pictorial History of World War II," "Movie Stars of Hollywood Past," or "Favorite Automobiles of the Twenties." Endlessly long-playing records are edited from the voices of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill. W.C. Fields, the Singing Lady, and the Lone Ranger get gathered together in improbable packages described as the Golden Age of Radio.

Fine for the audiovisual time traveler. But what does a print man do when he wants to get into the flow — when he longs to put together a pressed flower and an old dance card and free-associate toward the past?

"WHO SAID WHAT in 1971" may be the working prototype for an answer. Two toilers in the archives of the New York Times, Linda Amster and Barbara Bennett, have organized life into 460 topics (from Abortion to Zoning) and assembled 267 pages of direct quotation (from Abrams, Gen. Creighton W...to Ziegler, Ronald L.).

With all anthologies it is, of course, obligatory to quarrel over selection. "Why are there 78 quotes on 'Life Style' and only 14 on 'Literature'?" the nit-picker cried. Well, at least the splendid remark by the septuagenarian Jorge Luis Borges is included: "At my age, what can I do but plagiarize what I've already said?"

Less defensible perhaps is the ratio of comments on "Welfare" to comments on love: 39 to 0. A serious quote freak might wonder why on earth the editors needed to reserve a pigeonhole for "Liechtenstein." Great suffering Student Princes! But he should grow more forgiving when he reads the single entry, a plaintive quote from an official of that ministate: "We are too small to be a melting pot."

CERTAIN NOMINATIONS may be in order in this world of time-capsule sayings:

Bon mot of the year: "A woman has the age she deserves" (Coco Chanel).

Saddest quote of the year (from an anonymous broker gauging the bear market): "I guess the time it really hit home to me was when the guy at the next desk came in one morning with his lunch wrapped up in a brown paper bag."

Nostalgia quote of the year (classified under "Human Nature"): "We are chemically engineered to live in folk societies . . . and there aren't any folk societies for us any more." Says who? Says Kurt Vonnegut Jr.

The one-man jury locked — it can happen — on the scariest quote of the year. First winner, listed under "Privacy": "We now live in an age of the total documentary portrait. Every individual has a lifelong record somewhere, and we are being judged on those records more than on a face-to-face basis."

Second winner, listed under "Television": "A moderate watcher of children's television programs receives over 5,000 messages per year, primarily advising him to eat snacks, sweets, and soda pop."

SPEAKING OF EATING, a man could go on all day, popping these little hors d' oeuvres of history into his mouth. But it is time to close with the inspirational quote of the year from the president of Mobil Oil, filed under "Success and Achievement": "When I first took a job with the company my only goal was to earn $6,000 a year . . . It may sound corny but Mom and Dad have always told me, 'Do your job, keep on doing it, and don't worry about the other fellow.' That's just what I did."

And if that won't get the troops at the pumps scrubbing your windshield, what will?

Reading a book like this is a bit like relating the country from a plane permanently stacked up over Omaha. You have the perspective all right, but you're not quite sure on what. Do all these remote pieces and parcels, doubly distanced by time and space, add up to a whole more than their parts? If you add just one more bit or look long enough at the bits you already have, will U.S.A. 1971 suddenly solve itself like a jigsaw puzzle? For jigsaw people in a jigsaw world the dream is always there.

Plea Made For Larger Bus Fleet

A staff plea for 30 more buses and selection of consultants to do an environmental impact study of the proposed Sausalito ferry terminal will be considered next week by Golden Gate Bridge District committees.

The plea for more buses will be considered again by the transportation committee at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday in toll plaza offices. The committee earlier this month shelved the purchase for six months pending completion of a study of raising tolls and fares to offset rising transit deficits.

Some members of the committee reportedly want to reconsider the six-month delay. Because of complicated federal requirements, the delay could mean no federal grants for the buses until a year from July.

Selection of the environmental consultants for the Sausalito terminal will be considered by the building and operating committee at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday. It also will consider setting priorities for capital expenditures.

The insurance committee will meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Prisoners Of War Changed Less Than Those They Left

What would it be like to lose five, six or even more years of your life?

As stories of returning prisoners of war continue to make headlines — especially if they are running into trouble, like unfaithful wives or drunk driving — one can't help wondering how it would be to leave the world for such a period and then rejoin it.

In the case of the Americans held prisoners in North Vietnam, the isolation was much greater than than, say, of a man who spends a similar period in San Quentin.

I've talked to former Death Row inmates who carried on sprightly well-informed conversations about events of the day and trends of the time. After all, such prisoners have plenty of time for reading and television to keep themselves up to date.

The POW's, who continued to live but in a strange isolated way, were another matter. Like some sort of animals in a wierd psychological experiment, they learned to survive. They used their minds to invent distractions and they used, in many cases, their military training to organize their own confined worlds.

FIVE YEARS AGO, the drug revolution had many of us scared spitless, Women's Lib was scarcely a household word, and long hair on boys said something about their outlook on life.

To those of us who remained in the world, changes in viewpoints came gradually. Many of us who once believed the Vietnamese war was necessary came to have different views.

We also learned that the kid who smoked an occasional joint probably was not headed for a drug-debased life and that long hair was an unreliable way to judge a person's politics.

Women's Lib, although decried by many men and women alike for some of its more bizarre trappings, has pervaded our thinking more than we realize.

The "my husband runs the family" type of outlook is unheard of for today's young women and many who are not so young.

Yet, while the rest of us, to one extent or another, have bent with changing winds, the men who were POW's for so long simply didn't experience the same climate.

CAUGHT UP in their own struggle for survival, most coped apparently in marvelous fashion, and, undoubtedly, dreams of families at homes helped give them hope.

Unfortunately for everyone, the loved ones seldom stayed the same as they were remembered; they changed and times changed.

It's going to be a tough task for both the POW's and their families to reconcile lives which for so long have gone in different directions. From the news stories already coming out, it's apparent some are not making it — heartbreaking tragedies for men who suffered so much already.

Department Consolidation Plan Places Barrows On Firing Line

Marin County Administrator John F. Barrows, who once characterized his administration as "low profile," will go on the firing line tomorrow amid strong criticism of his proposed consolidation of the departments of planning, public works and parks and recreation.

Barrows, who will outline his plan to Marin supervisors at 9:45 a.m. maintains the reorganization will save money and provide better service to the public.

He is expected to be challenged, however, by two of the three department heads involved who have questioned whether savings can be achieved and if better coordination will occur.

The third department head, Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr., supports the plan. He is recommended to head the new department of planning and public facilities.

Both Planning Director Werner Von Gundell and Parks Director Pierre W. Joske, who would be reduced to third level supervisory jobs under the reorganization, are backed up in their opposition by members of the parks and recreation and planning commissions.

The Marin Conservation League and the Marin Council for Civic Affairs also are opposed.

The proposed consolidation was suggested in January by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who said he viewed many of the functions of the departments as overlapping.

He has since picked up at least tentative support from supervisors Robert A. Roumiguiere and Arnold M. Baptiste, who originaly called for a shakeup of county government by cutting 50 or 60 employees and reducing the size of the budget.

Recapturing Our Yesterdays — Or Pieces Of 'Em, Anyhow

There are people who call back the past the way they call back their childhood. They invoke it, so to speak, with history's equivalent of bronzed baby shoes, old snapshot albums, and musty trunks in the attic.

A regular industry has been set up to keep these Proustian memory-prompters supplied with their madeleine cakes and tea. Each year dozens of photography books are produced with titles like "A Pictorial History of World War II," "Movie Stars of Hollywood Past," or "Favorite Automobiles of the Twenties." Endlessly long-playing records are edited from the voices of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill. W.C. Fields, the Singing Lady, and the Lone Ranger get gathered together in improbable packages described as the Golden Age of Radio.

Fine for the audiovisual time traveler. But what does a print man do when he wants to get into the flow — when he longs to put together a pressed flower and an old dance card and free-associate toward the past?

"WHO SAID WHAT in 1971" may be the working prototype for an answer. Two toilers in the archives of the New York Times, Linda Amster and Barbara Bennett, have organized life into 460 topics (from Abortion to Zoning) and assembled 267 pages of direct quotation (from Abrams, Gen. Creighton W...to Ziegler, Ronald L.).

With all anthologies it is, of course, obligatory to quarrel over selection. "Why are there 78 quotes on 'Life Style' and only 14 on 'Literature'?" the nit-picker cried. Well, at least the splendid remark by the septuagenarian Jorge Luis Borges is included: "At my age, what can I do but plagiarize what I've already said?"

Less defensible perhaps is the ratio of comments on "Welfare" to comments on love: 39 to 0. A serious quote freak might wonder why on earth the editors needed to reserve a pigeonhole for "Liechtenstein." Great suffering Student Princes! But he should grow more forgiving when he reads the single entry, a plaintive quote from an official of that ministate: "We are too small to be a melting pot."

CERTAIN NOMINATIONS may be in order in this world of time-capsule sayings:

Bon mot of the year: "A woman has the age she deserves" (Coco Chanel).

Saddest quote of the year (from an anonymous broker gauging the bear market): "I guess the time it really hit home to me was when the guy at the next desk came in one morning with his lunch wrapped up in a brown paper bag."

Nostalgia quote of the year (classified under "Human Nature"): "We are chemically engineered to live in folk societies . . . and there aren't any folk societies for us any more." Says who? Says Kurt Vonnegut Jr.

The one-man jury locked — it can happen — on the scariest quote of the year. First winner, listed under "Privacy": "We now live in an age of the total documentary portrait. Every individual has a lifelong record somewhere, and we are being judged on those records more than on a face-to-face basis."

Second winner, listed under "Television": "A moderate watcher of children's television programs receives over 5,000 messages per year, primarily advising him to eat snacks, sweets, and soda pop."

SPEAKING OF EATING, a man could go on all day, popping these little hors d' oeuvres of history into his mouth. But it is time to close with the inspirational quote of the year from the president of Mobil Oil, filed under "Success and Achievement": "When I first took a job with the company my only goal was to earn $6,000 a year . . . It may sound corny but Mom and Dad have always told me, 'Do your job, keep on doing it, and don't worry about the other fellow.' That's just what I did."

And if that won't get the troops at the pumps scrubbing your windshield, what will?

Reading a book like this is a bit like relating the country from a plane permanently stacked up over Omaha. You have the perspective all right, but you're not quite sure on what. Do all these remote pieces and parcels, doubly distanced by time and space, add up to a whole more than their parts? If you add just one more bit or look long enough at the bits you already have, will U.S.A. 1971 suddenly solve itself like a jigsaw puzzle? For jigsaw people in a jigsaw world the dream is always there.

Plea Made For Larger Bus Fleet

A staff plea for 30 more buses and selection of consultants to do an environmental impact study of the proposed Sausalito ferry terminal will be considered next week by Golden Gate Bridge District committees.

The plea for more buses will be considered again by the transportation committee at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday in toll plaza offices. The committee earlier this month shelved the purchase for six months pending completion of a study of raising tolls and fares to offset rising transit deficits.

Some members of the committee reportedly want to reconsider the six-month delay. Because of complicated federal requirements, the delay could mean no federal grants for the buses until a year from July.

Selection of the environmental consultants for the Sausalito terminal will be considered by the building and operating committee at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday. It also will consider setting priorities for capital expenditures.

The insurance committee will meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Art Fair Set

Paradise Shopping Center in Corte Madera will hold an art fair next Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. There will be exhibits of paintings and crafts, demonstrations of art techniques and food stands.

"Mr. Ambassador"

At the age of 75, David K. E. Bruce is beginning yet another assignment in a long and distinguished career that has earned him the unofficial title, "Mr. Ambassador." Doing service under five presidents, he is the only American to have been ambassador to France, Germany, and Great Britain. In 1970, Mr. Bruce was called out of retirement to serve as the chief U.S. negotiator in the Paris peace talks on Viet Nam. Now he is heading the first official U.S. mission in mainland China since 1949, as chief of a "liaison" office that falls just short of being an embassy.

DO YOU KNOW — What is the capital city of Communist China?

Prisoners Of War Changed Less Than Those They Left

What would it be like to lose five, six or even more years of your life?

As stories of returning prisoners of war continue to make headlines — especially if they are running into trouble, like unfaithful wives or drunk driving — one can't help wondering how it would be to leave the world for such a period and then rejoin it.

In the case of the Americans held prisoners in North Vietnam, the isolation was much greater than than, say, of a man who spends a similar period in San Quentin.

I've talked to former Death Row inmates who carried on sprightly well-informed conversations about events of the day and trends of the time. After all, such prisoners have plenty of time for reading and television to keep themselves up to date.

The POW's, who continued to live but in a strange isolated way, were another matter. Like some sort of animals in a wierd psychological experiment, they learned to survive. They used their minds to invent distractions and they used, in many cases, their military training to organize their own confined worlds.

FIVE YEARS AGO, the drug revolution had many of us scared spitless, Women's Lib was scarcely a household word, and long hair on boys said something about their outlook on life.

To those of us who remained in the world, changes in viewpoints came gradually. Many of us who once believed the Vietnamese war was necessary came to have different views.

We also learned that the kid who smoked an occasional joint probably was not headed for a drug-debased life and that long hair was an unreliable way to judge a person's politics.

Women's Lib, although decried by many men and women alike for some of its more bizarre trappings, has pervaded our thinking more than we realize.

The "my husband runs the family" type of outlook is unheard of for today's young women and many who are not so young.

Yet, while the rest of us, to one extent or another, have bent with changing winds, the men who were POW's for so long simply didn't experience the same climate.

CAUGHT UP in their own struggle for survival, most coped apparently in marvelous fashion, and, undoubtedly, dreams of families at homes helped give them hope.

Unfortunately for everyone, the loved ones seldom stayed the same as they were remembered; they changed and times changed.

It's going to be a tough task for both the POW's and their families to reconcile lives which for so long have gone in different directions. From the news stories already coming out, it's apparent some are not making it — heartbreaking tragedies for men who suffered so much already.

Department Consolidation Plan Places Barrows On Firing Line

Marin County Administrator John F. Barrows, who once characterized his administration as "low profile," will go on the firing line tomorrow amid strong criticism of his proposed consolidation of the departments of planning, public works and parks and recreation.

Barrows, who will outline his plan to Marin supervisors at 9:45 a.m. maintains the reorganization will save money and provide better service to the public.

He is expected to be challenged, however, by two of the three department heads involved who have questioned whether savings can be achieved and if better coordination will occur.

The third department head, Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr., supports the plan. He is recommended to head the new department of planning and public facilities.

Both Planning Director Werner Von Gundell and Parks Director Pierre W. Joske, who would be reduced to third level supervisory jobs under the reorganization, are backed up in their opposition by members of the parks and recreation and planning commissions.

The Marin Conservation League and the Marin Council for Civic Affairs also are opposed.

The proposed consolidation was suggested in January by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who said he viewed many of the functions of the departments as overlapping.

He has since picked up at least tentative support from supervisors Robert A. Roumiguiere and Arnold M. Baptiste, who originaly called for a shakeup of county government by cutting 50 or 60 employees and reducing the size of the budget.

Violin-Piano Recital Set

Two Dominican College faculty members will present a violin-piano recital at 7:30 p.m. next Sunday in Angelico Hall at the school's San Rafael campus.

Violinist Willard Tressel and pianist Ted Blair will perform Beethoven's "Sonata in A Major, Opus 47," and Saint-Saens' "Sonata in D Minor, Opus 75."

Blair is chairman of the school's music department and directs the Dominican Opera Workshop. Tressel, who teaches violin, recently returned from a concert tour in Central America.

Three Hurt In Accident On Saturday

One person was hospitalized and two others injured in a one-car accident at 4:25 p.m. Saturday on Paradise Drive.

Roger Dean Ralsten, 16, of 93 Granada Drive, Corte Madera, was reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital with possible head injury and multiple cuts.

Russel Ralsten, 13, brother of the hospitalized youth, and a passenger, William Michael Christ, 12, of 61 Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon, were treated for multiple cuts and bruises at the same hospital.

According to California Highway Patrolmen, Ralsten was driving east on Paradise Drive when his car went out of control on a curve. It hit a rock embankment; overturned, landing on its wheels and stopped against the house of Albert DiGrazia at 4850 Paradise Drive.

Javits Believes Nixon Not Party To Watergate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said Sunday President Nixon was "not a party to the Watergate scandal but has the fundamental responsibility for anything that happened in his office."

But, Javits added, "I will say he presided over an executive office in which it happened. He needs to separate this great scandal from the process of government."

Javits, interviewed on a local television program (WCBS "Newsmakers"), said he did not want to charge the President with immorality but "I charge him with responsibility. He is the man responsible."

Wallace Daughter Plans To Marry

Peggy said Kennedy gave her the ring on Easter Sunday and they planned to marry in December.

Javits Believes Nixon Not Party To Watergate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said Sunday President Nixon was "not a party to the Watergate scandal but has the fundamental responsibility for anything that happened in his office."

But, Javits added, "I will say he presided over an executive office in which it happened. He needs to separate this great scandal from the process of government."

Javits, interviewed on a local television program (WCBS "Newsmakers"), said he did not want to charge the President with immorality but "I charge him with responsibility. He is the man responsible."

Ex-Bangkok Aide Hits U.S. Role

BANGKOK (UPI) — Former Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman said today that Thailand was originally "not so willing" to have U.S. troops on its soil and urged their withdawal now to avoid becoming "an obvious target of the Communists who... will be completely free to attack us."

Thanat, who served as foreign minister for 12 years and was regarded as one of the architects of the policy which established an American military presence in Thailand, made the statement in a magazine article due to be published Tuesday.

Writing in the journal Social Science Review, Thanat said that formulation of the Nixon doctrine meant that the United States no longer was committed to protect Thailand from Communist attack.

"To agree to let that country operate a war from our territory while we are not going to have any assistance and protection from the United States as in the past, it is even more risky and there is no protection for us," Thanat said.

"When the United States failed in Vietam and had to find its way out through diplomatic and political negotiations, the transfer of strategic eqipment and weapons into Thailand will not be of benefit to the Thai people but will turn Thailand into an obvious target of the Communists, who are now free of fighting in the Vietnam War and will be completely free to attack us," he wrote.

Since the American withdrawal from Vietnam the U.S. military headquarters for Southeast Asia has been moved from Saigon to Thailand and U.S. air activity over Indochina continues to be mounted from seven air bases here. There are about 45,000 American servicemen in Thailand.

Thanat, who was dropped from the government after a 1971 coup in which the country's military leaders dissolved Parliament, has been increasingly critical in recent months of the continued the U.S. presence in Thailand.

He took the position in the article that agreements covering the use of air bases here were only to remain in effect until the end of the Vietnam War and that for Americans to remain following signing of a peace agreement was in their interest alone and no one else's.

Strike Hits Big Spanish Auto Plant

MADRID (UPI) — A strike today paralyzed Spain's biggest industrial plant and news reports said new violence flared up on the eve of May Day in the Basque country where a policeman was shot and wounded.

The international Labor Day has traditionally produced tension in Spain where the government controls trade unions and strikes are illegal.

In Barcelona, a strike by the 24,000 auto workers of SEAT (Sociedad Espanola de Automobiles de Turismo) shut down production in Spain's biggest plant. The strike started Saturday as a protest against an increase of social security deductions from the workers' paychecks.

Newsmen on the scene reported police — many of them mounted—ringed the plant and carried out identity checks on persons approaching it. Five workers were fired on the spot Saturday for inciting fellow workers to walk out, Spanish news reports said.

In the Basque town of Baracaldo, police tried to seize two members of ETA, an underground separatist organization, as they were scattering leaflets. Policeman Ludivino Rodriguez, 27, was shot in the chest and a Basque nationalist arrested, the news agency Cifra said.

New Cradle-Grave Health Bill Offered

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Cradle-to-grave health care would be provided for virtually every Californian under an ambitious measure proposed by Sen. George Moscone, a Democratic contender for the 1974 gubernatorial nomination.

"There is no greater social problem than the uneven delivery of health care in this state," Moscone declared Sunday, accusing the current health care providers with "fiddling and foot-dragging."

The San Francisco Democrat's plan would be financed by mandatory payroll deductions and employer contributions. The concept is designed to spread the premium cost and, presumably, lower the price of health care for most Californians.

Under the measure, Californians would be entitled to enroll in state-approved health maintenance organizations for prepaid medical care. Premiums would be based on the ability to pay.

A family earning $12,000 would contribute $190 a year to the health care system.

Californians would shell out $7.5 billion annually for the comprehensive health care, compared with an estimated $10 billion now.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, also a Democratic hopeful in the race for governor, has proposed a rival plan that would cost less than $2 billion.

The Reagan administration opposes both the Moscone and the Moretti proposals. Instead, it is proposing its own "catastrophic" health care bill to insure citizens against financial disaster after they use up their regular insurance benefits.

THE JULIUS O. SCHWARTZ CAR OF THE YEAR.

Julius Schwartz (a purely fictitious but nevertheless beautiful person) did not buy a new Vega GT because Motor Trend magazine named it their 1973 "Economy Car of the Year".

He didn't buy it because the readers of Car and Driver magazine recently voted Vega "best economy sedan" for the third year in a row. Or because Vega was named the easiest to service of all subcompacts in a 1972 survey conducted by Motor Service and Service Station Management magazines.

No sir.

Julius O. Schwartz is his own man. He was looking for an economy car, one that looked good standing still and felt good on the road and, well, that just naturally led him to the Vega GT.

So you can imagine how he felt when he started hearing on the radio about all those Vega honors.

He felt proud. Proud of his car, proud of himself, proud of those magazine people for knowing a good car when they see one.

College For Everyone? Not Necessary, Job Expert Says

Study Of Market Useful, Especially The Future

By PAT BALMES

Confronted with a job market overcrowded with college graduates, Gloria Liebrenz, like other college job placement directors across the United States, wonders why everybody is in college.

Miss Liebrenz, who was interviewed at her Strawberry apartment, has been director of University of San Francisco career planning and placement center for five years.

"If yours is a middle class family, you have been told since you were born that you should go to college; it's the ticket to a well-paying job. You were not asked if college was your choice or goal," she said.

It is fallacious to think that a college education alone will bring your child the well-paying job he says he wants, she said.

"Nationally we are 532,655 jobs short. That is the difference between the 1,265,705 June 1973 degree recipients, according to the U.S. Office of Education, and the 733,050 openings for college trained workers projected by the U.S. Department of Labor," she explained.

IN SAN Francisco the situation is worse because everybody likes to live here, remarked Miss Liebrenz.

She quoted a College Placement Council survey of March 1973 indicating that the number of job offers to bachelor degree holders is up 46 per cent over March 1972, but is still 46 per cent below March 1970.

Humanities and social science graduates job offers are 23 per cent down over last year, she said.

The number of jobs offered to master's degree holders is eight per cent above March, 1972, and 21 per cent higher than March, 1970, she continued.

Activity at the doctoral level is 23 per cent greater this year than last, but 62 per cent under 1970, Miss Liebrenz read from the survey.

"We are going to have to stop looking down on certain types of work," she said referring to the CBS-TV program "Higher Education — Who Needs It?"

The alternative is to accept "tracking" children into technical schools who test in the lower IQs, but that perpetuates a caste system, Miss Liebrenz believes.

The placement director is enthusiastic about the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's new pilot program of providing career information in primary grades on 15 occupational clusters. A cluster on construction might explain a variety of jobs from bricklayer to civil engineer, she said.

RIGHT NOW it is the upward-bound underprivileged students in high school who have the best information on trades from their own environment, she said.

Students in college who want to land well-paying jobs should plan their curriculums based on their own well-defined interest, taking into consideration future job market needs, the placement director said.

English, an understanding of history, the humanitarian viewpoint, sociology, psychology and government are courses the undergraduate will need, she advised.

"It's terrific if you can pick up a language and, since you live in California, make it Spanish. But don't major in it," she said.

Lay on top of that an employment skill will be in future demand.

Industries offering services will grow faster than industries offering products, she predicted.

CAREERS IN movement of people and goods are promising, she said, citing Bay Area Rapid Transit, "not the train itself, but the services BART provides."

"There is a lot of anti-business feeling on campus, but there are all kinds of $900-a-month jobs for our bacehlors of science majoring in accounting," she said.

Accounting is a difficult curriculum with a heavy work load, but it is the basis for other jobs, such as financial adviser, she said.

Lawyers are in oversupply in the Bay Area, but an LLD with tax background is needed, she said.

A non-business student who takes some business courses indicates to a prospective employer a genuine interest in business and those courses open additional job opportunities, Miss Liebrenz said.

"Computer programmer and systems analyst fields look awfully good, but don't be a computer operator," she said.

Allied-medical professional fields will mushroom with new jobs that we do not even know the names of yet, she predicted.

"I cannot honestly conceive of any field that will not be open to women, given time, education and training on the job," she said.

It depends upon the way a girl sees herself, what she sees at home, what she thinks she is able to accomplish. She does not have role models in business, science or on college faculties; girls never see these women, Miss Liebrenz said.

WOMEN RE-ENTERING business should go to College of Marin and get additional training so they will enter with some skills, she advised.

"Remember that opportunities for advancement mean you must accept responsibilities that are indicated. You may have to move to Oakland to get a promotion at the bank. You may have to take work home or give up a Saturday. Girls have seen dad do it, but not mother," she said.

Some engineers who lost their jobs in the aeronautics industry when they were unwilling to change their specialty or take a smaller salary.

"Those who held out starved," she said.

Self-help groups were formed to place engineers in the electronics or computer industries.

Now the demand for engineers is on the upswing, she said.

Miss Liebrenz said that over-qualification sharply limits job opportunities. Employers are wary of a highly-specialized person in a job that could be filled by a bachelor's or master's dhgree holder. The Ph.D. holder might quit when a job in his specialty opened up.

In 1960, upon graduation from San Francisco State College, she became an Emporium management trainee and rose to personnel manager of the Hillsdale store.

She came to USF as assistant personnel director in 1965 and was made director of USF's career planning and placement service in 1966.

She is a Western College Placement Association board member and vice presidnet of the Bay Area Personnel Women. Her other enjoyments are skiing, tennis and professional sports.

MISS LIEBRENZ is enthusiastic about a co-op program that might start at USF next fall, which would provide work experience for students with non-vocational majors.

"President Nixon's Co-operative Education Bill is operating now on $1,800,000. He is asking for $11,000,000," she said.

Beginning in the junior year, a co-op student would receive academic credit and salary for work which is directly related to his major or experience in work, such as an accountant working for the Internal Revenue Service, she said.

Alternating semesters of work and school, it would take five to five and a half years to graduate from college. This graduate would then be more valuable to a prospective employer than a regular college graduate, she said.

GLORIA LIEBRENZ of Strawberry, director of University of San Francisco career planning and job placement service, said that it is fallacious to think that a college education will buy your child a well-paying job. Nationally, we are short 532,655 jobs for college trained workers, she said.

WOMAN'S WAY

A Newcomer's Idea Is Nearing Reality

By BARBARA HOSMER

A newcomer from Washington, D.C., Emily Bell came to Marin six months ago and immediately began to lay the ground work for the program and center she calls Woman's Way.

"I've had the idea for about a year and a half," she said over lunch recently at a San Rafael eatery. But, she added, she would have hatched Woman's Way no matter where she was living.

Mrs. Bell, who lives in Inverness, has had an office in the Essex Building, 412 Redhill Avenue, San Anselmo, since December, and now her idea is beginning to become a reality.

Herself a wife and the mother of a 3 year old, Mrs. Bell believes that middle class women are having self-adjustment problems in relating personally to the issues raised by the Feminist movement the past few years.

HER AIM, through Woman's Way, is to offer services and workshops to create informal discussions in a low-keyed way on the issues women now face personally.

"We're involved in a revolution against the prejudices that are thousands of years old. It's the deepest prejudice of mankind," she said of sexism and women's second class status.

"We want to focus on how you personally (as a woman) handle media input and how you relate to it," she said of women's equality and liberation issues.

Her "we" includes staffers Melinda Wahl and Linda Norlin who, for college credit, are assisting with the ground work and setting up of the classes and group discussions. One group is already in progress and others will begin this month.

A six-week Thursday morning workshop on women's attitudes toward their bodies, based on the book, "Our Bodies, Our Selves," will begin May 10. The book is by the Boston Women's Health Collective. Speakers will be Marin doctors and Barbara George, director of Planned Parenthood of Marin.

Future groups will concern money, art and women and the law, the latter with attorneys Helen Shapiro and Sylvia Shapiro Bingham of San Anselmo leading the programs June 11 and 18.

There will also be women's groups in homes, similar to the women's "rap" or "consciousness raising" discussions originated and conducted by the Feminist movement. Mrs. Bell said that group leaders from Woman's Way will be used to help guide the discussions in an informal way.

The use of group leaders and the charging of fees are basic differences from the women's discussion and consciousness raising offered by Feminist groups in Marin.

EMILY BELL admits to a psychological approach to her concept of Woman's Way because "that is where my own background is." A graduate of Boston University Junior College, Mrs. Bell received a degree from the New School for Social Research in New York and took special studies and training therapy from psychiatrist Clemens Benda in Arlington, Mass. She also took courses the past two years at the Washington School of Psychiatry and was a private therapist in Washington, D.C. She also has a varied business background over a five year period.

"Woman's Way was inspired by the women's movement and is our response to it," Emily Bell explains, and over the past five months she has personally contacted a bevy of Marin agencies and some 300 women.

At this point, Woman's Way is set up as a division of Marin Institute, whose executive director, Dan Meyerson is Mrs. Bell's brother, and has its offices next door. Mrs. Bell is the administrator of Woman's Way

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Those Visits By Mother-In-Law May Mean Husband Is Outsider

DEAR HELEN:

My wife and I have our ups-and-downs and lately things have been mostly down. They aren't helped by my mother-in-law!

She visits every day, right after I get off work, and she always comes up with little gems like, "Your yard looks like it has never been touched!" or "Here, Mary, take these walnuts. You can have your husband crack them since he never does anything else."

Helen, I work a regular 40 hours a week and have a part-time job on Saturdays.

I know my wife will never say anything to her mother and this woman is driving me up the wall. Should I continue to be polite and not to hear her, or blow up and risk making my wife mad just when we're trying to get things back together again — C.C.

DEAR C.:

Things may never be together at your house as long as you and your wife accept her mother's badmouthing.

Let this woman know she's welcome if she leaves her snide criticisms behind — and if you two can't form a united front here, then maybe you are the outsider, even though Mama is the guest. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I read somewhere that if you eat raw garlic you'll never have heart trouble. Any truth to this? — HEALTH ADDICT

DEAR H.A.:

Raw garlic discourages neither heart trouble nor vampires — and it doesn't ward off colds either — except by keeping carriers at their distance. However, if you eat enough of it you may never have that other kind of heart trouble — as in sweetheart. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

A while back you had a letter about a "Peeping Thomasina" — a snoopy woman who got her kicks looking into a bachelor neighbor's window.

If a man can be arrested for this, why can't a woman? Why couldn't this fellow have called the cops? Instead, you suggested (In fun, sir, in fun. — H.) that he sneak up on her in his shorts and ask her in for a drink, she being the maiden lady type.

Had he done so, and a police car had passed by, you know what might have happened? This poor bachelor would have been hauled in for molesting a female, indecent exposure, lewd and lascivious conduct, etc., etc. — NO JUSTICE

DEAR N.J.:

A man in Jackson, Miss. asked this same question recently. Hauled up on a Peeping Tom charge, he contended that the State "punishes males for an activity non-criminal for females." He got nowhere.

The State Supreme Court said, "We are of the opinion the legislature, by 'The Peeping Tom statute' took note of the fundamental difference between men and women and recognized that looking at persons for lewd, licentious and indecent purpose is an activity traditionally ascribed to men rather than women."

"Equal rights" evidently doesn't extend to "equal wrongs" in Mississippi. — H.

'We Care Cookbook' Feeds A Million

By EVELYN RADCLIFFE
The Christian Science Monitor

The tiny, homeless Korean child sat on the ground, hungrily eating a portion of rice. Little did she know that her first meal in days had come through the efforts of Bob and Kathy Reed of Saratoga.

The Reeds have helped to feed some one million such children in the past five months — from sales of their "We Care Cookbook."

With three small children of their own, it troubled the Reeds to hear that more than half the people in the world go to bed hungry. They wanted to do something to alleviate the situation.

"We could have sent a donation and then just forgotten about it," Bob says, "but we couldn't afford to send the amount we wanted to."

Then Bob thought of CARE (Co-operative for American Relief Everywhere), the organization that has been sending food packages overseas for more than 25 years. He talked with CARE officials, and he and Kathy came up with an idea for the cookbook.

ONE-THIRD of the purchase price of $3 would be designated for CARE, and with every purchase of the book 300 children could receive a hot meal. Thus, not only the Reeds but also buyers of the book would feel they were contributing.

The cookbook, now in its second printing, still has orders coming. A small notice in a magazine for retired people resulted in 3,000 orders, providing food for 900,000 children. Church organizations, youth groups, and businesses also have supported the sale of the books.

"If a group of 25 people sell 10 copies each, 75,000 children are fed," Bob estimates.

The Reeds are not expecting to make money from the book. "That's not the idea behind it," Bob says. "We'll be happy if we can just meet expenses. And we hope it will inspire other people to get involved.

The greatest satisfaction, the Reeds say, is that they have found a way to alleviate hunger within the framework of their own business and life-style.

They live comfortably in a three-bedroom tract home on a shady street in Saratoga, 50 miles south of San Francisco. Bob, in partnership with his cousin-by-marriage, Adam Eterovich, owns R&E Research Associates, a publishing firm that produces ethnic studies as reference documents for universities and high schools.

It was understandable that the Reeds turned to CARE first. Bob and his partner, Adam, veterans of Korea, both married girls whose families had benefitted from CARE in Yugoslavia after World War II.

"The family specifically recalls getting a jar of mayonnaise and not knowing what it was for," says Adam. "They just ate it plain and enjoyed it."

Since CARE allows donors to specify a particular country, the Reeds could have directed their contributions to Yugoslavia. But, they say, "We feel our help shouldn't be bound by any nationality, politics, or religion."

THE ENTIRE Reed family helps with mailing the cookbook. Robby, 6, Alan, 4 and Tanya 3, help lick the stamps, and Bob and Kathy actually fill the orders.

The paperback book contains recipes that date from 1801 to 1920. Eight pages contain recipes from CARE countries. Kathy spent hours discovering old recipes, and even more hours kitchen-testing them.

Some recipes call for CSM, a product not yet on the market. It constitutes the bulk of what the recipients in CARE countries receive. Manufactured by Krause Milling Co. in Milwaukee, CSM consists of corn, soya, and milk. Where the recipes call for CSM, Kathy says cornmeal may be substituted.

The "We Care Cookbook" has been transcribed on cassette tapes for use in special adult and teen-age cooking classes for the blind in San Jose.

Paperback copies may be ordered by sending $3, plus 30 cents for postage and handling, to 18581 McFarland Avenue, Saratoga. California residents should add 15 cents sales tax.

One 3 to 3½-lb. chicken (stewing or fryer)
½ cup chopped toasted nuts (peanuts, almonds, or cashews, etc.)
Salt and pepper
2 cups of rice
1 cup shredded coconut
½ cup powdered coconut milk*

For stewing chicken: Put in salted water, simmer until cooked. Remove skin and bones, cut meat into cubes. For fryer: Cut into serving pieces, season, and fry in oil.

Add three cups broth to corn starch, salt, and pepper to make gravy. Add rice to boiling water, also cocnut milk. When done, stir in nuts and shredded coconut, set aside to steam for a few minutes.

Place chicken on mound of rice on platter, surround with pieces of mango or orange. Serve with gravy, salad. Fruit or sherbet for dessert.

*If coconut milk is not available, make your own as follows: Pour boiling water over 1 cup unsweetened shredded coconut. Let stand. Line strainer with cheesecloth. Pour coconut liquid through strainer. Squeeze cloth tightly until all liquid is removed. Result? Coconut milk. Discard shredded coconut.

Arts Center Prices Aor For Everyone

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON — The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts may be a jewel on the Potomac, but don't feel you have to pack your tiara just because you are going there.

"Nonsense," says Martin Feinstein, the center's executive director of performing arts. "People come here from all over the country dressed as they are, and feel at home.

"Some may come in black tie and in gorgeous gowns, but you will also meet young concert and and theatergoers in blue jeans and blazers, in slacks and simple dresses."

They come to rock concerts, to the opera, the symphony, plays, and now, with the opening of a new theater, to the movies. "We draw from all walks of life," Feinstein reports with satisfaction, explaining: "This is the center's aim."

In line with this aim, he says, "We seek to make it possible for anyone to afford the price of a ticket at the center."

THERE ARE discount tickets (50 per cent off) for students, retired persons, members of the military in grades E4 and below, and for the handicapped. "In addition, we try to price a certain number of tickets at a low price — roughly the equivalent of the price of a movie," Feinstein said in a recent interview.

The discount tickets cannot be ordered ahead. Apply in person. Students and military personnel must present ID cards for identification; retired persons a medicare card. First, a coupon must be obtained at the volunteer office in the Hall of States. The coupon is exchanged at the box office for a ticket.

These are not "rush seats," by the way. They are available in certain numbers at every performance. They are distributed in all price categories and may not be sold at higher prices because they are underwritten by a special fund.

Regular tickets are often available at the last minute, too. So don't give up without checking the box office. Feinstein has found that "many tourists arriving at the center for a free tour in the morning return to go to a performance that very evening."

The center has no special rates for children. But after Feinstein learned from the tourist bureau that "the average tourist family coming to Washington is composed of a father, mother, and two and one-half children," he made it a point to book some special shows that families might enjoy together.

And even those without the price of a ticket at any price can attend one of the free concerts given throughout the year.

THERE WERE 10 free concerts at the festival of "The Old And The New" heralding the opening of the center's second season last year. The concerts were held in the grand foyer where 3,000 congregated, seating themselves on the red-carpeted floor, on the stairways, or wherever they could find room.

There usually are free concerts during the Christmas season, too.

The center has three restaurants. The one you have probably heard of is that described by Feinstein as "one of the most beautiful restaurants anywhere in the world," La Grande Scene.

It has prices to match its name. But if you still want to go home and brag about having eaten there, go for lunch. Luncheon specials are priced at $3.50 or $4.

The center's other restaurants are well within the means of the tourist who has to count pennies as he goes along. One is the Gallery. It is a small, intimate cafe with booths. The average price of a meal is $3.50, and it specializes in dishes that can quickly be prepared for the theatergoer in a hurry.

The other restaurant is the Promenade, a cafeteria. There it is possible to obtain a complete meal for no more than $2.50 and perhaps for less.

The Rare Thrill Of Schoenberg

By MARTIN FRICK

Arnold Schoenberg's Quartet No. 2, Op. 10, with Soprano is rarely performed live and almost never so perfectly as the Marin Arts Quartet and soprano Gwen Curatilo did it yesterday afternoon in the tiny Mill Valley Arts Club.

It is lamentable that so few people were on hand to share this thrilling musical experience.

Composed in 1907-8, the quartet is a most important transition piece in Schoenberg's development. Indeed, the four movements are a succinct course in 20th Century music composition.

The tonal first movement is in an almost classical sonata form, even with a gentle coda, and the Quartet of Charles Meacham and Michael Gerling, violins; Jean Mitchell, cello, and Lucien Mitchell, viola, played it with the proper finesse and style that we do not normally associate with the father of atonal music.

Although the ear still picks up pieces of tonal harmonies in the second Scherzo movement, especially with yesterday's careful articulation, the juxtapositions of these short, playful sequences heralds a new era in formal composition.

But it is in the third Theme and Variations movement where we see most clearly the direction that Schoenberg is taking. The horizontal line gains new importance, and words with their natural accents are employed here as they would be in his landmark work "Pierrot Lunaire" four years later.

Gwen Curatilo was a wise choice to sing the expressionistic texts of Stefan George. In the continually varied restatements of the litany theme, Mrs. Curatilo made of the quartet an organic quintet, five musicians thinking and breathing together. It is not often that disciplined instrumentalists will accept a vocalist as an equal. But it is not often that a singer can leap two octaves plus a semitone perfectly in tune and full of expression, as Mrs. Curatilo did on "leide" in the last variation.

All 12-tones of the chromatic scale are introduced successively by each instrument in the fourth, rather formless movement and then continually bounced back and forth between the two violinists until the soprano enters with the long poem "Entrueckung" ("I feel an air from other planets flowing").

Without a key center now, the five musicians articulated the intervals and rhythms with complete ease. Mrs. Curatilo kept the quartet under perfect control, particularly in the verse "In music I am melted. . . surrendered wishless to the mighty breathing." Following the poem, the quartet blended gradually into a beautifully satisfying tonal chord.

The first half of the program included a tasteful performance of Beethoven's Quartet in F minor, Op. 95 that could have gone further into the ranges of expression warranted in his middle period. But despite several intonation lapses, the pleasant lyricism was a good foundation for "Three Songs for Soprano and String Quartet on Medieval Texts" by James Adair which followed.

Adair's lyricism, so evident in the Quintet for Strings performed by the Marin Arts Quartet in February, also pervaded these songs on texts by Peter Abelard and Walfarid Strabo. The quartet provided a lilting accompaniment to Mrs. Curatilo who was at her best on the sensitive quieter passages, notably the word "weeping" in "David's Lament for Jonathan." Some of the louder, higher sections were marred by signs of strain and a tremolo which seemed to have been equally the fault of the composer's high tessitura in those places.

This was the quartet's last concert in this season series which has included works unusually and refreshingly diverse.

OPTIONAL CHOICE — This hanging sculpture invites the viewer to rearrange the design at will. Entitled "Participation," artist Marina Van Overbeek's grommeted portable vinyl squares are brightly colored imprints of a smiling young man. Stationary silhouettes and pegs offer alternate choices. This work is included in the senior show at Dominican College's San Marco Gallery.

ART REVIEW

Industrial Influence Is Seen In Dominican Art Exhibition

By ADA GARFINKEL

And while there is an abundance of current and personal awareness in the themes in the San Marco Gallery display, what one misses most is any example of contemporary color-field or precisionist painting which is one of this country's most important contributions to the world of fine art.

Nevertheless, although technique, too, is uneven, there is an ambience of tactility and dedication that emanate as important over-all ingredients.

In Marina Van Overbeek's work, for example, there is a lively sense of humor which reaches a peak in a free-hanging plexiglass panel furled in the manner of a scroll on which she has silk-screened a half-eaten apple and a reproduction of a "Miss April" center-fold from Playboy Magazine.

Accompanying these pictorial elements is the line "Piece (sic) is at Hand," and the rebus-like spelling of "H. Kissinger" with a pair of lips replacing the first syllable of the name.

Somber and strikingly dramatic torso shells by Barbara Dineen explore an unusual use of ceramic clay as a sculptural medium. As seductive as the Venus de Milo, the hollow forms constructed of porcelain and stoneware slabs of clay evoke an archaic and mystical presence.

Diverse media are also combined by ceramics major Ann Jack, whose interest in the design aspects of Oriental caligraphy is the source of the delicate tracery on her black stoneware vases.

Miss Jack's elegantly classic containers, fired to a rich sheen, rest on bases placed flush to the wall beneath four projecting squares bearing the caligraphic symbols for the four seasons which the artist has used on her vases.

The passage of time and the embodiment of allegorical forces are explored by Kitty Laubacher in two examples. A knobby, translucent polyester-resin bust depicts the maenadic "Regan," a character possessed by the devil from the novel "The Exorcist."

A shallow, 20-inch square plastic box with sand filters at both left and right interiors, and silks-screened portraits of her father at his christening and first communion, are the components of her title: "Backward, Turn Backward, O Time in Your Flight."

Several color shots of historic sites of Mexico taken by Miss McCabe and mounted on stained circles of tree trunks, harmonize well with the aging stain patterns on the adobe walls within the pictures.

The exhibit will continue through May 19 and may be seen from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

DANCE REVIEW

Excellent Staging For Africa Dancing

By SHIRLEY LIPTON

The evening began with a series of wild howls; nothing could be seen on the stage; deep blue lights heightened the feeling of eeriness as the drums began. A steamy sun filtered through to the stage as the procession of the royal entourage appeared.

This was the first selection of an evening of Music and Dance of Africa performed by Tunji Vidal and the Sonoma Africain Ensemble and the Afro-Dance troupe.

Members of both groups are advanced students in Vidal's classes in African Music at Sonoma State College, and the concert Saturday was the climax of the school semester.

The second selection introduced all the instrumentalists of the ensemble. Students played several types of drums, gourd rattles, and double gonged bells.

The first student began keeping time with a small gong. The next student began on a different beat. This continued until all 12 were playing different instruments, each to a different beat. Yet there was no dissonance, only a polyrhythmic blend of ancient music.

Women dancers were featured in most of the other selections. In the Akan Court Dance, the king and queen of the tribe were seated under a large umbrella, while women of the tribe danced for their pleasure.

Guest artist Adeline Allotey also danced for the court. Her performance was more sophisticated than that of the students, but not as wholehearted. In fact, she seemed a little aloof and separate from the evening's event.

Vidal led the drumming in most of the selections, signaling changes of beat and tempo. He also danced in the "Ndlamu Stamping Dance," enacting the role of an African warrior.

He was excellent as both musician and dancer. He transmitted the beat of Africa through every muscle in his body.

In addition, he has shared his knowledge and enthusiasm with his students. I cannot single out any one student in particular. The printed program merely listed their names without indicating which student appeared in any one selection.

Nearly all performed in the final selection, a modern West African dance. It included the use of all the ancient instruments, as well as two electric guitars with amplifiers and made for a stunning finale.

The lighting was really outstanding, which was essential since there was no scenery or set decoration, leaving only the lighting to set the mood for each piece. Stuart Graham was in charge of that most important element of the concert.

Behr To Discuss Teens' GOP Role

"The Teen-age Republicans' Role in the Republican Party and in Politics" will be discussed by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, at Thursday's meeting of the Marin County Teen-age Republicans.

The session, open to anyone 13 through 19 years old, will be at 7:30 p.m. in the supervisors chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

Singer Returns To Marin For Symphony Concert

Tomorrow night's Marin Symphony Orchestra concert will be something of a homecoming for guest soprano Claudia Cummings.

The young soloist, who will perform with guest conductor Carmen Dragon, is a former Corte Madera resident who once played clarinet with the Marin Youth Orchestra and took her first voice lesson in Mill Valley.

Miss Cummings and her daughter Elizabeth, 8, will also be moving to Larkspur later in May from her present home in Tustin, Orange County.

"We've been wanting to return to Marin County for a long time" said Miss Cummings, who went to Tamalpais High School and lived in Marin County for eight years until 1962.

Since leaving, she has sung with opera companies in San Diego, Seattle and Kansas City. Last fall she played the role of a forest bird in "Siegfried" with the San Francisco Opera Company.

About one-fourth of her time she spends running a special music program for children which is supported by Standard Oil of California. She goes into elementary and high schools for one or two week periods to help organize student concerts in which she is featured as the soloist.

CLAUDIA CUMMINGS
Returns to Marin

She has been working in the program for three years in schools in California, Utah and Alaska.

She has also done the role of Maria in "The Sound of Music" with the San Jose Music Theater and will do Eliza in "My Fair Lady" with a San Francisco company this summer.

Getting jobs is the most trying part of launching a full-time musical career, according to Miss Cummings. "But once you have the background and the contact, you can get established," she said.

Tomorrow's free concert will begin at 8 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building and will be a salute to the Organization of American States, which is celebrating the 25th anniversary of the signing of its charter. Miss Cummings will perform pieces by Villa-Lobos and Leonard Bernstein.

Piano Recital Set Thursday

Tanaka Pledges To Help Dollar

NEW YORK (UPI) — Japanese Premier Kakuei Tanaka said Sunday a strong American dollar is to "Japan's benefit" and pledged his cooperation in strengthening it. He forecast a reduction by almost one-half in the U.S. trade imbalance with Japan this year, as against 1972.

In an interview published in Time magazine, the Japanese leader said:

"The pace of Japan's imports from the U.S. has doubled. Thus the trade balance for the U.S. has improved considerably. We now think the $4.2 billion imbalance in Japan's 1972 fiscal year will be cut to around $2.7 billion this year."

ART REVIEW

By ADA GARFINKEL

And while there is an abundance of current and personal awareness in the themes in the San Marco Gallery display, what one misses most is any example of contemporary colorfield or precisionist painting which is one of this country's most important contributions to the world of fine art.

Nevertheless, although technique, too, is uneven, there is an ambience of tactility and dedication that emanate as important over-all ingredients.

In Marina Van Overbeek's work, for example, there is a lively sense of humor which reaches a peak in a free-hanging plexiglass panel furled in the manner of a scroll on which she has silk-screened a half-eaten apple and a reproduction of a "Miss April" center-fold from Playboy Magazine.

Accompanying these pictorial elements is the line "Piece (sic) is at Hand," and the rebus-like spelling of "H. Kissinger" with a pair of lips replacing the first syllable of the name.

Somber and strikingly dramatic torso shells by Barbara Dineen explore an unusual use of ceramic clay as a sculptural medium. As seductive as the Venus de Milo, the hollow forms constructed of porcelain and stoneware slabs of clay evoke an archaic and mystical presence.

Diverse media are also combined by ceramics major Ann Jack, whose interest in the design aspects of Oriental caligraphy is the source of the delicate tracery on her black stoneware vases.

Miss Jack's elegantly classic containers, fired to a rich sheen, rest on bases placed flush to the wall beneath four projecting squares bearing the caligraphic symbols for the four seasons which the artist has used on her vases.

The passage of time and the embodiment of allegorical forces are explored by Kitty Laubacher in two examples. A knobby, translucent polyester-resin bust depicts the maenadic "Regan," a character possessed by the devil from the novel "The Exorcist."

A shallow, 20-inch square plastic box with sand filters at both left and right interiors, and silks-screened portraits of her father at his christening and first communion, are the components of her title: "Backward, Turn Backward, O Time in Your Flight."

Several color shots of historic sites of Mexico taken by Miss McCabe and mounted on stained circles of tree trunks, harmonize well with the aging stain patterns on the adobe walls within the pictures.

The exhibit will continue through May 19 and may be seen from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

DANCE REVIEW

Excellent Staging For Africa Dancing

By SHIRLEY LIPTON

The evening began with a series of wild howls; nothing could be seen on the stage; deep blue lights heightened the feeling of eeriness as the drums began. A steamy sun filtered through to the stage as the procession of the royal entourage appeared.

This was the first selection of an evening of Music and Dance of Africa performed by Tunji Vidal and the Sonoma Africain Ensemble and the Afro-Dance troupe.

Members of both groups are advanced students in Vidal's classes in African Music at Sonoma State College, and the concert Saturday was the climax of the school semester.

The second selection introduced all the instrumentalists of the ensemble. Students played several types of drums, gourd rattles, and double gonged bells.

The first student began keeping time with a small gong. The next student began on a different beat. This continued until all 12 were playing different instruments, each to a different beat. Yet there was no dissonance, only a polyrhythmic blend of ancient music.

Women dancers were featured in most of the other selections. In the Akan Court Dance, the king and queen of the tribe were seated under a large umbrella, while women of the tribe danced for their pleasure.

Guest artist Adeline Allotey also danced for the court. Her performance was more sophisticated than that of the students, but not as wholehearted. In fact, she seemed a little aloof and separate from the evening's event.

Vidal led the drumming in most of the selections, signaling changes of beat and tempo. He also danced in the "Ndlamu Stamping Dance," enacting the role of an African warrior.

He was excellent as both musician and dancer. He transmitted the beat of Africa through every muscle in his body.

In addition, he has shared his knowledge and enthusiasm with his students. I cannot single out any one student in particular. The printed program merely listed their names without indicating which student appeared in any one selection.

Nearly all performed in the final selection, a modern West African dance. It included the use of all the ancient instruments, as well as two electric guitars with amplifiers and made for a stunning finale.

The lighting was really outstanding, which was essential since there was no scenery or set decoration, leaving only the lighting to set the mood for each piece. Stuart Graham was in charge of that most important element of the concert.

Tanaka Pledges To Help Dollar

NEW YORK (UPI) — Japanese Premier Kakuei Tanaka said Sunday a strong American dollar is to "Japan's benefit" and pledged his cooperation in strengthening it. He forecast a reduction by almost one-half in the U.S. trade imbalance with Japan this year, as against 1972.

In an interview published in Time magazine, the Japanese leader said:

"The pace of Japan's imports from the U.S. has doubled. Thus the trade balance for the U.S. has improved considerably. We now think the $4.2 billion imbalance in Japan's 1972 fiscal year will be cut to around $2.7 billion this year."

There are three kinds of fat people.

Category 1: The "Strugglers" who yo-yo from 10 to 30 lbs. overweight, gaining 1 to 5 lbs. net each year, winning many diet battles, but gradually losing the war.
Category 2: The seriously obese who are 50 to 150 lbs. overweight who have given up.
Category 3: The "formerly fat" person who has been either or both of the above, but who has attained his ideal weight and held it comfortably.

If you are Category 1 or 2, we guarantee in writing we can help you.

If you would like to be "Category 3," join the elite but rapidly growing "League of the Formerly Fat." Call or write us, and we'll show you our incredible program for taking off pounds, and more important, keeping them off.

The story is on a 50-minute cassette tape, which you can hear in our office, or we'll loan you one for 7 days without cost or obligation.

It will tell you:
•The total cost of the program and what is required of you.
•Why calorie counting, water diets, exercise machines, shot doctors, diet pills, will power and "diet revolutions" don't work permanently.
•Why you are fat and gaining, and how you can reverse the process.
•How to control hunger, and prevent depressions induced by dieting.

You'll wonder why no one else thought of it before. And it's much less expensive than anything else you've tried.

If you have tried everything, and it hasn't worked, please, please, don't give up yet.

Reporter Sees Total Shield Need

By NELS JOHNSON

The constitutional guarantee of a free press is inadequate to preserve the free flow of information, William Farr, a Los Angeles Times reporter recently jailed for refusing to disclose the source of a story he wrote on the Manson trial, declared Saturday.

Reporters must have an "absolute privilege" to protect confidential sources because the "First Amendment isn't enough," Farr told a group of about 75 newsmen and yudents gathered at Dominican College in San Rafael for a media seminar sponsored by the North Bay Press Association.

The soft spoken, conservatively-dressed Farr was sentenced to an indefinite period in jail when he refused to divulge the source of a story he wrote on the Manson trial last year. He was held 46 days until a U.S. Supreme Court order freed him while the court considers his latest appeal.

Farr, who described himself as a "law and order Republican," said he declined to reveal information requested by Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older because "I gave my promise of confidentiality and it was an unqualified promise."

Farr said he approached Judge Older a day before his story — a bizarre account of a master murder plan by members of the Manson clan to slay additional Hollywood celebrities — and was told he could assert the right as a newsman to protect his sources. But seven months later, when Farr left the news business to work temporarily for the Los Angeles District Attorney, Judge Older issued an order to reveal his sources for the story, saying the protection of the law no longer applied since he was no longer a reporter.

Judge Older wanted to discipline attorneys in the case who had violated a court-imposed "gag order" since Farr had revealed that several of the "attorneys of record" had provided him with information leading to his story. Farr has repeatedly declined to disclose their identity.

Farr and other reporters caught in similar situations have maintained that revealing sources of stories would have the "fallout effect of not having any sources in the future.

"Reporters need the legal right to protect sources to stimulate the free flow of information," said Farr. "The public has both the right and need to know."

Farr called for reporters' "shield laws" and urged the media to "improve its performance" in a continuing attempt to cultivate public trust. He said some of his colleagues had been guilty of misquotations and errors of omission in reporting on his plight.

"The performance of the news media is better than it's ever been... but that doesn't mean we can't improve our performance," he said. The extent of the Watergate scandals might never have been known had it not been for the unrelenting pressure of the news media, he said.

Farr's comments were followed by panel discussion on problems confronting the media by various representatives of the news industry. The series of sessions included discussions of sensitivity of the media to community and minority problems, media jobs, challenges posed to radio and television newsmen and the relationship between the media and the government.

Most interest, however, was sparked by the media and government panel, which included as panelists Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael; Robert M. Strebeigh, city editor of the Independent-Journal; Napa City Councilman James V. Jones; Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney; state information officer Harvey Yorke and Farr.

While all panelists agreed that the common goal of the press and the government was to serve the public, dispute centered around the merits of the Ralph M. Brown Act, the state's antisecrecy law.

Councilman Jones called the act "stifling" and urged it be modified. "The Brown Act hurts creative input and limits the opportunity (for public bodies) to creatively interact," he declared. "The constraint of public meetings is stultifying." Other panelists urged the Brown Act be strengthened.

Maloney said the Brown Act should be "materially strengthened" and added that while the press is doing a good job as a local watchdog, it would be far better if the press made an effort to force its application on the legislative level.

"Until the press gets the Legislature to shape up, the Brown Act is a complete travesty," he declared. The state legislature, he joked, went into closed session to pass the act.

Maloney said he had little complaint against Marin newspapers, saying the press had generally been accurate in its reporting.

In other comments, Bagley hit what he described as "carping criticism" in the leads of stories that neglect to convey the thrust of the meeting covered. Stories that often begin with sentences like "the state legislature again today failed to act..." lack the flavor of a meeting, fail to note the Legislature is a deliberative and intentionally slow moving body. Such repetitive carping, he said, results in diminishing public confidence in government.

Citizens Group Sees Need For Sex Education Class

There is a definite need for sex education in the Tamalpais High School District and it is up to the district administration to develop and finance such a program.

That declaration of need was made Saturday by the head of a citizens advisory committee appointed by the district board to study how to improve such teaching in the district.

The need was pinpointed by Edward E. Faber, committee chairman, speaking at a symposium attended by about 50 parents Saturday at Redwood High School. While most agreed that a quality sex education program is needed and presented no organized opposition, some parents were apprehensive that teachers may try to impose their values in matters of morality.

The program included a discussion by a five-man panel that included Joan Haskin, director of Project Teen Concern in the San Francisco City Schools; Cyril Beattie, a counselor at Tamalpais High School; Rev. John Penebsky, assistant pastor at Mount Carmel Church in Mill Valley; Nathalie Hawley of the Planned Parenthood Association, and Chaterine Pike, assistant clinical professor at the University of California Medical School.

Rev. Penebsky answered parents' fears by saying that parents should guard against a dogmatic approach to teaching sex education, but that such a course would be effective as long as all opinions regarding moral values are presented.

Mrs. Haskin, citing her experience developing sex education courses in the San Francisco School District, said she didn't find that teacher's opinions on sexual values "could change the values youngsters receive at home."

Edward E. Faber, chairman of the citizens' committee, said present sex education courses are "spotty" and "lack coordination" and called for parent participation on a proppsed workshop panel that would oversee resource materials and curriculum in a district-wide program dealing with human sexuality.

Faber said guidelines compiled by the citizens' committee for a basic sex education course had been approved by the district board of trustees in February and that committee members would meet with district staff this week to discuss funding the proposed program.

The main feature of the guidelines is the workshop board, whose membership would consist of parents, doctors, school administrators, students and police department representatives.

Guidelines also stressed that teachers should be throughly trained both before the program is established and after it is instituted, on an ongoing basis; that sex education would not be mandatory for students; that possible harmful effects of premarital sex be discussed and "a code of morals be emphasized with no derogatory instruction relative to religious beliefs and ethics."

The guidelines also provide for parental review of all materials to be used in classes their children attend.

Once funds have been set aside, Faber said, a program coordinator could be hired and teachers could begin training.

Bolinas Group Will Discuss Several Topics

Topics of continuing concern and conflict among Bolinas residents — including police and actions of the community's public utility district — will be among items to be discussed at a general meeting of the Bolinas Property Owners Association at 1 p.m. Sunday in the mesa clubhouse, 270 Elm Road.

The property owners will consider a proposal the town establish a local police district to replace the sheriff's office which now has jurisdiction, that the mounted patrol on the community's beaches be eliminated, that the utility district's moratorium on new water connections be ended and that recent actions of the PUD board — including establishing salaries for directors and awarding a $20,000 septic tank survey contract to some local residents be reviewed.

"We hope that an open discussion among property owners will shed some light — not just heat — on these matters," said Dr. Jack Powers of Stockton, association president.

Exhibit Slated

An exhibit of oil paintings by Sausalito artist Margaret J. Wagner will be shown from tomorrow through May 31 in the SFMO gallery at the Bank of America Center in San Francisco. The exhibit will feature landscapes in non-earth colors.

Faber said guidelines compiled by the citizens' committee for a basic sex education course had been approved by the district board of trustees in February and that committee members would meet with district staff this week to discuss funding the proposed program.

The main feature of the guidelines is the workshop board, whose membership would consist of parents, doctors, school administrators, students and police department representatives.

Guidelines also stressed that teachers should be throughly trained both before the program is established and after it is instituted, on an ongoing basis; that sex education would not be mandatory for students; that possible harmful effects of premarital sex be discussed and "a code of morals be emphasized with no derogatory instruction relative to religious beliefs and ethics."

The guidelines also provide for parental review of all materials to be used in classes their children attend.

Once funds have been set aside, Faber said, a program coordinator could be hired and teachers could begin training.

Bolinas Group Will Discuss Several Topics

Topics of continuing concern and conflict among Bolinas residents — including police and actions of the community's public utility district — will be among items to be discussed at a general meeting of the Bolinas Property Owners Association at 1 p.m. Sunday in the mesa clubhouse, 270 Elm Road.

The property owners will consider a proposal the town establish a local police district to replace the sheriff's office which now has jurisdiction, that the mounted patrol on the community's beaches be eliminated, that the utility district's moratorium on new water connections be ended and that recent actions of the PUD board — including establishing salaries for directors and awarding a $20,000 septic tank survey contract to some local residents be reviewed.

"We hope that an open discussion among property owners will shed some light — not just heat — on these matters," said Dr. Jack Powers of Stockton, association president.

Exhibit Slated

An exhibit of oil paintings by Sausalito artist Margaret J. Wagner will be shown from tomorrow through May 31 in the SFMO gallery at the Bank of America Center in San Francisco. The exhibit will feature landscapes in non-earth colors.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Browsing Turns Up Interesting Facts About The Medical Scene

A 26-year-old man was hospitalized because of an auto accident. Months and many operations later, a nurse's aide put a thermometer into his mouth and when she came back to record the temperature, it was gone. The thermometer had been swallowed accidentally. Its subsequent course thru the gastrointestinal tract was followed as closely as NASA monitors astronauts on their way to the moon.

According to Doctors Ernest W. Johnson and Watson Parker, the 'trip' lasted 18 days. Surgical removal was not advised because the thermometer had maneuvered around every corner without difficulty. Except for a few cramps, it had not caused the slightest distress.

ON ONE OCCASION, while X-rays were being taken, the victim fell off the table and lacerated his scalp. Problems set in during the last five days, when the thermometer reached within 10 inches of the end of its trip. It refused to budge until the man was given a high-roughage diet. The old bowel gave a few hardy contractions and the man passed the intact thermometer.

The American Medical Association estimates that a record 44,000 students attended our medical schools in 1972. In 1971, total enrollment was 43,300. The alleged "doctor shortage" should be helped considerably and we hope the other professions and trade unions will do as well making up for their shortages.

WE CANNOT help but blame the federal government for some of the shortage of MDs in private practice. According to the Association of American Physicians and Surgeons, there are 30,000 MDs on the federal payroll. And thousands of other physicians are involved in tax-paid projects and research endeavors of questionable value. Despite this, the government wants to get involved in a costly program to train 50,000 more doctors. "Perhaps, Washington should make thousands of these government physicians available for the medical care of our people."

Here is the latest way to get out of jail. Two physicians agreed that a 42-year-old prisoner suffered from claustrophobia while incarcerated. According to the medical news section of the JAMA, the man had served two months of a one- to two-year sentence. The judge released him because the testimony of the two physicians could not be disregarded.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal.

VEIN CLOTS

Mrs. N. writes: After 60, what is the possible expectancy for a women who has had two blood clots in the left leg? She had one at age 13 and the other at 46; each clot followed major surgery. The leg remains swollen after an active day, even though she wears elastic hose. Is it true that the clot never really dissolves and it may break away from the wall of the vein and cause sudden death?

REPLY

If this person is otherwise healthy, her life expectancy is normal. The original clots turned into scar tissue long ago. But there is no assurance that another clot will not develop in a different vein if the leg is injured or this woman has another operation. The anticoagulant drugs will minimize the adverse effects of complications should this occur.

Today is Monday, April 30, the 120th day of 1973 with 245 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands was born April 30, 1909.

On this day in history:

In 1803, the United States more than doubled its land area with the Louisiana Purchase, obtaining all French territory west of the Mississippi River for $15 million.

In 1945, the body of Adolf Hitler was found in a bunker under the ruins of Berlin. Also that day, Russian soldiers captured the Reichstag in Berlin, raising the Communist flag over the Nazi capital.

In 1963, New Hampshire became the first state to legalize a state-run lottery since 1894 when a similar one ended in Louisiana.

In 1970, President Nixon announced that U.S. combat troops had been ordered into Cambodia to eliminate Communist sanctuaries.

A thought for the day: American author Edward Newton said, "From contemplation one may become wise, but knowledge comes only from study."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Browsing Turns Up Interesting Facts About The Medical Scene

A 26-year-old man was hospitalized because of an auto accident. Months and many operations later, a nurse's aide put a thermometer into his mouth and when she came back to record the temperature, it was gone. The thermometer had been swallowed accidentally. Its subsequent course thru the gastrointestinal tract was followed as closely as NASA monitors astronauts on their way to the moon.

According to Doctors Ernest W. Johnson and Watson Parker, the 'trip' lasted 18 days. Surgical removal was not advised because the thermometer had maneuvered around every corner without difficulty. Except for a few cramps, it had not caused the slightest distress.

ON ONE OCCASION, while X-rays were being taken, the victim fell off the table and lacerated his scalp. Problems set in during the last five days, when the thermometer reached within 10 inches of the end of its trip. It refused to budge until the man was given a high-roughage diet. The old bowel gave a few hardy contractions and the man passed the intact thermometer.

The American Medical Association estimates that a record 44,000 students attended our medical schools in 1972. In 1971, total enrollment was 43,300. The alleged "doctor shortage" should be helped considerably and we hope the other professions and trade unions will do as well making up for their shortages.

WE CANNOT help but blame the federal government for some of the shortage of MDs in private practice. According to the Association of American Physicians and Surgeons, there are 30,000 MDs on the federal payroll. And thousands of other physicians are involved in tax-paid projects and research endeavors of questionable value. Despite this, the government wants to get involved in a costly program to train 50,000 more doctors. "Perhaps, Washington should make thousands of these government physicians available for the medical care of our people."

Here is the latest way to get out of jail. Two physicians agreed that a 42-year-old prisoner suffered from claustrophobia while incarcerated. According to the medical news section of the JAMA, the man had served two months of a one- to two-year sentence. The judge released him because the testimony of the two physicians could not be disregarded.

VEIN CLOTS

Mrs. N. writes: After 60, what is the possible expectancy for a women who has had two blood clots in the left leg? She had one at age 13 and the other at 46; each clot followed major surgery. The leg remains swollen after an active day, even though she wears elastic hose. Is it true that the clot never really dissolves and it may break away from the wall of the vein and cause sudden death?

REPLY

If this person is otherwise healthy, her life expectancy is normal. The original clots turned into scar tissue long ago. But there is no assurance that another clot will not develop in a different vein if the leg is injured or this woman has another operation. The anticoagulant drugs will minimize the adverse effects of complications should this occur.

Today is Monday, April 30, the 120th day of 1973 with 245 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands was born April 30, 1909.

On this day in history:

In 1803, the United States more than doubled its land area with the Louisiana Purchase, obtaining all French territory west of the Mississippi River for $15 million.

In 1945, the body of Adolf Hitler was found in a bunker under the ruins of Berlin. Also that day, Russian soldiers captured the Reichstag in Berlin, raising the Communist flag over the Nazi capital.

In 1963, New Hampshire became the first state to legalize a state-run lottery since 1894 when a similar one ended in Louisiana.

Record Crest Picks Up Along Mississippi River

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The record crest of the Mississippi River picked up speed today as it surged down river, assaulting already strained dikes and levees and threatening to engulf the countryside along its banks.

Behind the historic crest, the mighty river's muddy waters crept slowly back toward their banks, giving back the land they had taken. Officials stood on the silt-covered land and assessed the damges of the river's third rampage of this month.

Damage estimates soared past $500 million in the seven Mississippi Valley states and Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana have yet to feel the full fury of the surging river.

The Mississippi is higher than it has ever been since white settlers began measuring it more than two centuries ago.

The current flood has inundated at least 11 million acres of normally dry land and driven uncounted tens of thousands of families from their homes. In Missouri alone, some 17,000 persons have been left homeless by the flood.

Record Crest Picks Up Along Mississippi River

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The record crest of the Mississippi River picked up speed today as it surged down river, assaulting already strained dikes and levees and threatening to engulf the countryside along its banks.

Behind the historic crest, the mighty river's muddy waters crept slowly back toward their banks, giving back the land they had taken. Officials stood on the silt-covered land and assessed the damges of the river's third rampage of this month.

Damage estimates soared past $500 million in the seven Mississippi Valley states and Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana have yet to feel the full fury of the surging river.

The Mississippi is higher than it has ever been since white settlers began measuring it more than two centuries ago.

The current flood has inundated at least 11 million acres of normally dry land and driven uncounted tens of thousands of families from their homes. In Missouri alone, some 17,000 persons have been left homeless by the flood.

The Other Side Has The Right To Gain From Bidding Rounds

"Please say a sharp word or two about foolish opening leads," requests a Boston reader. "The lead of the jack from J-x is so foolish that I never for a moment thought that my partner could be making it. I played him for a singleton, and thus allowed a slam to be made against us."

Opening lead — ♠ J

SPACE ACTION

"My partner, West opened the jack of spades. I took the ace of spades and returned a spade. That was the end of us.

"Declarer took the queen of spades, drew trumps and cashed the king of spades. Then he got to dummy to discard his clubs on dummy's last two spades.

"What do you think of all this foolishness?"

ALL VERY FOOLISH

The answer is simple. It was all very foolish. North's jump to slam was vey poor. West's opening lead was ill chosen. And East's spade return at the second trick was the worst mistake of all. (Sorry to be so rough with my correspondent, but truth comes first.)

North's bid of two clubs was the Stayman Convention, asking the opener to show a four-card major suit if he has one. South didn't have a four-card major, so he bid two diamonds.

WITH ACE

When East took the ace of spades, he should have known that South couldn't have all of the missing spades. If South had started with four spades, he would have bid spades instead of diamonds at his second turn. So East should have switched to clubs, defeating the slam. There is no rule that prevents the defenders from listening to the bidding and drawing conclusions from it.

DAILY QUESTION

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

With two five-card suits, bid the higher suit first.

Cotati Planners Postpone Sign Law Hearing

The Cotati Planning Commission has agreed to postpone a public hearing on the city's tough new sign ordinance until next month so businessmen in the community may become more familiar with the lengthy document.

Commission secretary Donna Olson said two businessmen, Frank Confetti, a real estate broker, and Fred Andreoli, a garage-service station operator, asked the delay until the May 10 meeting.

Especially under fire by businessmen, Miss Olson said, is a provision which would require city approval for each "for sale" sign posted by real estate agents.

SPACE ACTION

"My partner, West opened the jack of spades. I took the ace of spades and returned a spade. That was the end of us.

"Declarer took the queen of spades, drew trumps and cashed the king of spades. Then he got to dummy to discard his clubs on dummy's last two spades.

"What do you think of all this foolishness?"

ALL VERY FOOLISH

The answer is simple. It was all very foolish. North's jump to slam was vey poor. West's opening lead was ill chosen. And East's spade return at the second trick was the worst mistake of all. (Sorry to be so rough with my correspondent, but truth comes first.)

North's bid of two clubs was the Stayman Convention, asking the opener to show a four-card major suit if he has one. South didn't have a four-card major, so he bid two diamonds.

WITH ACE

When East took the ace of spades, he should have known that South couldn't have all of the missing spades. If South had started with four spades, he would have bid spades instead of diamonds at his second turn. So East should have switched to clubs, defeating the slam. There is no rule that prevents the defenders from listening to the bidding and drawing conclusions from it.

With two five-card suits, bid the higher suit first.

Cotati Planners Postpone Sign Law Hearing

The Cotati Planning Commission has agreed to postpone a public hearing on the city's tough new sign ordinance until next month so businessmen in the community may become more familiar with the lengthy document.

Commission secretary Donna Olson said two businessmen, Frank Confetti, a real estate broker, and Fred Andreoli, a garage-service station operator, asked the delay until the May 10 meeting.

Especially under fire by businessmen, Miss Olson said, is a provision which would require city approval for each "for sale" sign posted by real estate agents.

Trade Looms For Oakland

A's Dickering For More Batting Punch

OAKLAND (UPI) — Don't be surprised if the Oakland A's make a deal in the next few days.

After the first 20 games of the season, the club simply isn't hitting, depending too much on its pitching staff to save the day.

Sunday, in a 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles, Jim Hunter and Rollie Fingers pitched a five-hitter between them while all the A's managed in the way of offense was four hits.

"Fortunately for us," said manager Dick Williams, "two of the hits were homers. No question, we aren't hitting, not as well as we had hoped to anyway."

Naturally, that begs the question, are the A's in the market for a hitter or hitters?

"We are evaluating our club now," said Williams. "Of course, we are looking for someone who can help us offensively, and in that regard we are talking with several clubs."

The player most talked about, according to some reports, is former A's first baseman Mike Epstein, a man who hit 26 homers for Oakland last year but was shipped off to the Texas Rangers for popping off to Williams.

Reggie Jackson, still hobbling from his injury in last year's playoffs against Detroit, belted a three-run homer in the first off Dave McNally and Sal Bando hit a solo homer in the fourth to account for all the Oakland runs. A first inning double by Bill North and a fourth inning single by Ray Fosse were the only other A's hits.

Despite treating Hunter to a 4-0 lead, the ace Oakland right-hander ran out of gas in the ninth. Up to that point he had handled the Orioles on only 66 pitches and two singles.

Then Bobby Grich unloaded a homer with one out and Tommy Davis followed with a single. Jackson made a fine running catch into the Baltimore bullpen for the second out but after Hunter walked Earl Williams, Rollie Fingers replaced him.

Fingers, who hasn't pitched well this spring, proved no mystery. He walked Don Baylor, the first man to face him, and then Brooks Robinson lined a single for two runs. Terry Crowley reached base on an error by second baseman Ted Kubiak to fill the bases but Fingers got the final out by inducing pinch-hitter Elrod Hendricks to hit a soft fly to left.

The victory went to Hunter, his first in 1973, while McNally dropped his third decision compared to same number of victories.

Joe Rudi slipped in a hole rounding first in the top of the ninth and suffered an ankle sprain. That added to Williams' problems, coming on top of Vida Blue's injury.

"The field is just awful," said Rudi. "I think the Oakland Coliseum field is the worst in the American League."

Today is an off day for the A's, but they open a 13-game road trip in Milwaukee Tuesday night. John Odom pitches Tuesday against Bill Parsons while Ken Holtzman works against Skip Lockwood on Wednesday.

Maybe by then the A's will have beefed up their hitting.

LITTLE LEAGUE TIME IN MILL VALLEY

Mill Valley American and National Little Leagues were among 13 Little Leagues in Marin County to open the season over the weekend; and for the kids, it meant parades, speeches and, finally, some good old fashioned baseball. After the parade, and before the baseball, Rev. D. Murray Hammond of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour led the 400 boys, coaches and managers in prayer as they lined up around one of the baseball diamonds at Boyle Park Saturday. Then came a speech by Joe Orengo, member of the San Francisco Giants' Speakers Bureau, and Mill Valley vice mayor Edward J. Boessenecker threw out the first ball. Throughout the rest of the day, there was continuous baseball on the park's three diamonds.

Giants Return After Defeat

Maddox Back, Juan Slapped With Fine

Combined AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Giants return home today, their six-game winning streak snapped, Juan Marichal $50 poorer and Gary Maddox back in uniform.

Lou Brock's bases-loaded triple highlighted a six-run sixth inning at St. Louis Sunday that gave the Cards an 8-3 win over the Giants.

The Giants thus lost a game to the Cincinnati Reds in the National League West but still lead by 3½.

The triumph boosted St. Louis' record to 3-15, the worst in the majors. All three wins have been recorded by Rick Wise, who scattered nine hits and went the route against San Francisco.

Marichal was fined $50 when warned by umpire Ed Sudol after hitting Wise in the third inning. Wise had hit Ed Goodson in the top of the third.

"I expected to be thrown at," said Wise. "But hitting me gave us two runs and put us back in the ball game.

"I was just trying to come in on Goodson, not hit him," he added. "As it turned out, that seemed to be our spark."

The Giants broke to a 3-0 lead in the first when Dave Kingman led off with a double. After two outs, Doug Rader was intentionally passed to get to Marichal. However, Marichal crossed up the strategy by doubling in two runs and later scored on a throwing error by Ken Reitz.

He was in the dugout Sunday but was in no condition to play.

Marin 'Cat Nine Blanks San Rafael

The Marin Catholic right-hander, who pitched a no-hitter in a tournament over Easter vacation, threw a two-hitter Saturday night to pitch the Wildcats to a 4-0 Marin County Athletic League victory over the Bulldogs at Albert Field.

The loss put San Rafael (6-2) in must-win position for its game tomorrow against league-leading Redwood (7-1) at Albert. Marin Catholic is 4-4.

Sims also got poor fielding support which led to three unearned runs. In the third, Cronin walked, San Rafael bobbled two consecutive sacrifice attempts to allow one run across, and Russ Knudsen hit a sacrifice fly.

Olson Throttles Contra Costa '9'

Tom Olson, making his first start since April 12 after being hampered with back and chest ailments, pitched College of Marin to a 2-1 Camino Norte Conference baseball victory over Contra Costa of San Pablo Saturday afternoon in Kentfield.

The sophomore right-hander did what coach Vic Petreshene called "a super job" by going the distance, striking out nine and holding the Comets to seven hits as Marin improved its conference record to 9-6.

The Tars scored both their runs on infield ground balls by John Billings, the winner coming in the eighth inning when John Billings grounded to shortstop and was thrown out at first as Bill Sherbert scored from third.

Soviet Cagers Having Problems

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Russians won it all in basketball at the Munich Olympics last year but they're going to have their problems against a U.S. all-star club coached by former National Basketball Association great Bob Cousy.

In the opener of a six-game series between the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the United States Sunday, the Americans led all the way for an 83-65 victory.

"There is no need to comment," team spokesman Vladimir Khudoleev said. "We lost the game."

Cousy, who played 13 years for the Boston Celtics and a coach in the NBA for five seasons, was surprised at the roughness of his first international game.

"I've never seen anything like that out there, especially under the basket," he declared. "The international game is very, very physical. I know we're going to have to get tougher under there."

The coast-to-coast series, packaged by the Amateur Athletic Union, will continue at San Diego tonight but the Americans probably won't have the services of Bill Walton.

College basketball's 6-11 superstar strained the ligaments in his left knee in the first half and, although he came back for the first 4:21 of the second half, played less than half the game.

"Even when Bill was in there," the stoic Cousy said, "we couldn't get the ball inside to him. He must have been knocked down four or five times."

With Walton on the sidelines, Swen Nater, his understudy at UCLA, and little Ernie DiGregorio picked up the slack with 14 points apiece. The 6-11, 250-pounder Nater picked off 12 rebounds while the Providence guard contributed eight assists.

Bobby Jones and Tom Henderson, two Munich Olympians, added 12 and 10 points, respectively.

"This has got to be the roughest game I've ever played. I got hit with an offensive elbow."

San Rafael Bowler Tops Qualifiers

Ed Henry, a San Rafael plumber, averaged 224 in five games for a 1,123 total to lead 15 qualifiers into the semi-finals of the Marin County Masters Bowling Tournament.

Henry's score was tops among 40 of Marin County's best bowlers who competed in the qualifying round Friday and Saturday at Greenbrae Lanes. He started off with a pair of 258 games and built up a lead that none of the others could catch. No. 2 qualifier Richard Leesman was 12 pins back. It took an average of 204 or better to qualify. High individual game was rolled by Mike McPherson, one of the qualifiers, 279.

San Rafael Skipper In Power Boat Win

Stan August of San Rafael, skippering Stan Moore's cruiser Suzy Q II through choppy San Francisco Bay, won overall honors Saturday in a field of 30 power boats in a predicted log race sponsored by Loch Lomond Yacht Club and the Independent-Journal.

In a very close finish with a computed error of only 0.792 per cent in his predicted number of seconds to navigate a 15-mile course under varying current, wind and sea conditions, August won over George Pasfield in the Cruiser Wren II by only .003 of one per cent error.

Despite the roughness of the Bay, three skippers made errors under one per cent and 11 were under two per cent. This established a new record for low error scoring for the many years this type of racing has been popular in the Bay, according to Norman S. Buell, commodore of the Predicted Log Racing Association of Northern California.

High scorers among the faster boats (Class A) were Wren II, 0.795, Pat Bell's Two Bells, 0.986, Herb Jagow's Ricky Lynn, 1.504 and Edward Jepsen's Jo-Jo, 1.691. High scorers among the slower boats (Class B) were Suzy Q II, 0.792, Henry Leavitt's Estrallita, 1.321, John Money's Yenom On, 1.724 and Wallace Lebbert's Sea Angel, 1.913.

Ten Bay Area yacht clubs were represented in the race, the third in a series of seven this year under PLRA auspices.

The Giants broke to a 3-0 lead in the first when Dave Kingman led off with a double. After two outs, Doug Rader was intentionally passed to get to Marichal. However, Marichal crossed up the strategy by doubling in two runs and later scored on a throwing error by Ken Reitz.

Outfielder Maddox rejoined the club Sunday after spending the night in a hospital from injuries suffered during Saturday's 1-0 win over the Cards that saw Jim Willoughby hurl a four-hitter.

He was in the dugout Sunday but was in no condition to play.

The Giants host the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday.

Marin 'Cat Nine Blanks San Rafael

Cronin failed to improve on his previous effort, but nobody is mad at him, except a few San Rafael High School batters.

The Marin Catholic right-hander, who pitched a no-hitter in a tournament over Easter vacation, threw a two-hitter Saturday night to pitch the Wildcats to a 4-0 Marin County Athletic League victory over the Bulldogs at Albert Field.

The loss put San Rafael (6-2) in must-win position for its game tomorrow against league leading Redwood (7-1) at Albert. Marin Catholic is 4-4.

Sims also got poor fielding support which led to three unearned runs. In the third, Cronin walked, San Rafael bobbled two consecutive sacrifice attempts to allow one run across, and Russ Knudsen hit a sacrifice fly.

Olson Throttles Contra Costa '9'

Tom Olson, making his first start since April 12 after being hampered with back and chest ailments, pitched College of Marin to a 2-1 Camino Norte Conference baseball victory over Contra Costa of San Pablo Saturday afternoon in Kentfield.

The sophomore right-hander did what coach Vic Petreshene called "a super job" by going the distance, striking out nine and holding the Comets to seven hits as Marin improved its conference record to 9-6.

The Tars scored both their runs on infield ground balls by John Billings, the winner coming in the eighth inning when John Billings grounded to shortstop and was thrown out at first as Bill Sherbert scored from third.

Sherbert was hit by a pitch and took second on a bad pickoff attempt. Jim Thompson reached first on an error and Steve Sherry sacrificed to set the stage for Billings.

Soviet Cagers Having Problems

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Russians won it all in basketball at the Munich Olympics last year but they're going to have their problems against a U.S. all-star club coached by former National Basketball Association great Bob Cousy.

In the opener of a six-game series between the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the United States Sunday, the Americans led all the way for an 83-65 victory.

The Soviets, who scored a controversial 51-50 triumph over the U.S. at Munich, wouldn't even open their dressing room door after the game.

"There is no need to comment," team spokesman Vladimir Khudoleev said. "We lost the game."

Cousy, who played 13 years for the Boston Celtics and a coach in the NBA for five seasons, was surprised at the roughness of his first international game.

"I've never seen anything like that out there, especially under the basket," he declared. "The international game is very, very physical. I know we're going to have to get tougher under there."

The coast-to-coast series, packaged by the Amateur Athletic Union, will continue at San Diego tonight but the Americans probably won't have the services of Bill Walton.

College basketball's 6-11 superstar strained the ligaments in his left knee in the first half and, although he came back for the first 4:21 of the second half, played less than half the game.

"Even when Bill was in there," the stoic Cousy said, "we couldn't get the ball inside to him. He must have been knocked down four or five times."

With Walton on the sidelines, Swen Nater, his understudy at UCLA, and little Ernie DiGregorio picked up the slack with 14 points apiece. The 6-11, 250-pounder Nater picked off 12 rebounds while the Providence guard contributed eight assists.

Bobby Jones and Tom Henderson, two Munich Olympians, added 12 and 10 points, respectively.

After the game, Nater held an ice pack over a large knot on his forehead and said:

"This has got to be the roughest game I've ever played. I got hit with an offensive elbow."

San Rafael Bowler Tops Qualifiers

Ed Henry, a San Rafael plumber, averaged 224 in five games for a 1,123 total to lead 15 qualifiers into the semi-finals of the Marin County Masters Bowling Tournament.

Henry's score was tops among 40 of Marin County's best bowlers who competed in the qualifying round Friday and Saturday at Greenbrae Lanes. He started off with a pair of 258 games and built up a lead that none of the others could catch. No. 2 qualifier Richard Leesman was 12 pins back. It took an average of 204 or better to qualify. High individual game was rolled by Mike McPherson, one of the qualifiers, 279.

The 15 bowlers will be joined by last year's Masters champi-

PREDICTED LOG RACE

San Rafael Skipper In Power Boat Win

Stan August of San Rafael, skippering Stan Moore's cruiser Suzy Q II through choppy San Francisco Bay, won overall honors Saturday in a field of 30 power boats in a predicted log race sponsored by Loch Lomond Yacht Club and the Independent-Journal.

In a very close finish with a computed error of only 0.792 per cent in his predicted number of seconds to navigate a 15-mile course under varying current, wind and sea conditions, August won over George Pasfield in the Cruiser Wren II by only .003 of one per cent error.

Despite the roughness of the Bay, three skippers made errors under one per cent and 11 were under two per cent. This established a new record for low error scoring for the many years this type of racing has been popular in the Bay, according to Norman S. Buell, commodore of the Predicted Log Racing Association of Northern California.

High scorers among the faster boats (Class A) were Wren II, 0.795, Pat Bell's Two Bells, 0.986, Herb Jagow's Ricky Lynn, 1.504 and Edward Jepsen's Jo-Jo, 1.691. High scorers among the slower boats (Class B) were Suzy Q II, 0.792, Henry Leavitt's Estrallita, 1.321, John Money's Yenom On, 1.724 and Wallace Lebbert's Sea Angel, 1.913.

Ten Bay Area yacht clubs were represented in the race, the third in a series of seven this year under PLRA auspices.

Fewer Duties For Yanks' Burke

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Mike Burke, the top man in a 15-man conglomerate behind the New York Yankees, announced yesterday that he will no longer be involved in the operation of the club.

Burke, who became president of the Yankees in 1966, relinquished his power in decision-making but will continue as an owner and will become a special consultant.

George M. Steinbrenner, who along with Burke formed a two-man general partnership of the Yankees, now is alone at the top of a group of 12 limited partners who all hold shares in the club, which was purchased from the Columbia Broadcasting System on Jan. 3 for $10 million. The 54-year-old Burke is a former executive with CBS.

INGLEWOOD — UCLA's Swen Nater, a first-round draft pick of the Milwaukee Bucks, said yesterday he was told by the National Basketball Association team that he has been traded.

"I was surprised when Milwaukee drafted me," the 6-11, 250-pound center said. "But they (Milwaukee) are definitely trading me, perhaps to Houston."

Although the clubs have remained silent on the subject, there is speculation that Nater, Bill Walton's backupman for the past two seasons, will go to the Rockets for guard Calvin Murphy.

Bronx Bombers Blast Ball As In Old Days

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Remember the Bronx Bombers? Well, they're back.

With the nostalgia craze sweeping the country these days the current version of the New York Yankees is beginning to stir up memories of a proud ancestry steeped in world championships and characterized by two things—the long ball and the big inning.

The Yankees, who started the season slowly, came to life this past weekend with an offensive display that did justice to the names of Ruth, Gehrig, DiMaggio and Mantle and left notice that the "new Bombers" will be a major factor in the American League East Division pennant race.

Led by names like Murcer, Nettles, Alou and Blomberg, the Yankees swept a threegame series from the Minnesota Twins, outscoring their opponents 28-7 and outhitting them 37-20. On Saturday they employed the long ball, blasting four two-run homers to score an 11-3 victory, and on Sunday they used the big inning in both ends of a doubleheader to score a 6-3, 11-1 sweep.

It was a marked turnaround for the Yankees, who entered the weekend series with only .236 team batting average and just eight homers in 16 games, but it came as no surprise to the players.

"When I look at our lineup and look at others I don't see how they're any better than us as far as run production goes," says Bobby Murcer, who belted a pair of two-run homers Saturday and collected two more RBI's in Sunday's twinbill.

"We've got a good hitting team," adds Matty Alou, who collected nine hits in 14 at bats during the three games. "We're gonna score a lot of runs this year."

The Yankees employed their historic trademark—the big inning—Sunday, scoring four runs in the sixth inning of the first game and rallying for seven runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

One characteristic of the great Yankee teams of the past was their ability to take advantage of a break, and this the Yankees did to perfection in the opener when Ron Blomberg was given a second chance to swing the bat in the sixth inning after catcher George Mitterwald dropped his foul pop with two out.

Blomberg then delivered a two-run single to ignite a four-run inning. In the nightcap Blomberg again was the big gun, banging out four hits and driving in three runs to pace a 13-hit attack. Thurman Munson had the big hit of the seven-run eighth, a bases-loaded triple.

In other AL games, Chicago blanked Boston 5-0, Detroit whipped Kansas City 6-1, Oakland edged Baltimore 4-3, Cleveland nipped California 3-2 and Texas beat Milwaukee 2-1.

Los Angeles swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 9-8 in 13 innings and 2-1, St. Louis beat San Francisco 8-3, New York blanked Atlanta 1-0, Cincinati shutout Philadelphia 8-0, Houston edged Montreal 4-3 and Chicago downed San Diego 10-4 in National League action.

Wilbur Wood notched his fifth victory of the year on a seven-hitter and got home run support from Bill Melton, Dick Allen and Ed Herrmann as the White Sox downed the Red Sox.

2 Golfers Not Ready For Playoff

DALLAS (UPI) — Neither Lanny Wadkins nor Dan Sikes, after a long day of often brilliant shot making, was particularly ready to troop out to the 15th tee at the farthest spot on the golf course and go at each other with $30,000 to the winner.

Sikes, apparently, was the less ready of the two.

Sikes, the golfing lawyer who has not won a tournament in five years, yanked a putt he said was between three and four feet but looked shorter and thereby made a present of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic championship to the 23-year-old Wadkins.

Wadkins, however, did enough to earn the title by putting together the tournament's most brilliant stretch of golf. He birdied five of the last seven regulation holes in winds that once again made par an excellent figure.

Sikes, who won $17,100, turned in some super shots of his own-primarily a 25-foot downhill putt from off the fringe on the 72nd green that dribbled into the cup for a par and forced the playoff. That great putt came after a weak chip shot which seemed to toss the tournament into Wadkins' lap.

"Now however you write this I don't want it to sound like an alibi," Sikes said, "but I'd like to have had about 15 minutes to sit down and rest. Particularly after that last putt.

Wadkins, too, did not start the playoff in the right frame of mind, despite the fact that his wonderful stretch run had been climaxed by an 18-foot curling putt for a birdie on the final hole.

"I was pretty well geared for a playoff," said Wadkins, who won the second tournament of his 16-month pro career. "Then when Dan hit that poor chip shot on 18 I kind of relaxed. Then he made that putt-and it was a damn fine putt—and I had to get myself up to play some more."

Wadkins fired a three-under par 67 over the windy Preston Trail Golf Club course for his 277 total and Sikes—who started the day tied for the lead at four under with Bob Dickson—had a 71.

Canadiens Keep Cool In Victory

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Canadiens were trailing 2-0 Sunday afternoon after only 62 seconds in their opening game of the Stanley Cup finals against the Chicago Black Hawks, but it was too early for Montreal goalie Ken Dryden to lose his confidence.

He had the perfect attitude. The Canadiens broke loose for four goals in the final period and went on to beat the Black Hawks, 8-3, and take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven National Hockey League playoff final.

Chicago got an early goal by Pit Martin after only 35 seconds and then followed with another score by Ralph Backstrom at 1:02 of the opening period to take a 2-0 lead.

Jacques Lemaire, who had two power play goals in the game, scored once in the second to put Montreal ahead, 4-3, then gave the Canadiens a 5-3 advantage with another goal at 8:38 of the final period.

Grinning Faces On Knicks; Celts Sad

BOSTON (UPI) — All the grinning faces were talking about the poise and defense while the frowners were mumbling about lack of the same qualities.

Of course, the happy faces belonged to the New York Knicks who defensed the Boston Celtics to death, 94-78, in the seventh game Sunday to take the National Basketball Association Eastern Conference title.

"This was the best defense in a playoff game we've ever had," said New York Coach Red Holzman. "In fact, I thought our defense was the best we've ever played. If you get in their locker room, they would say they were flat. But that's how the game is."

But Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn did not blame his team. "I wouldn't say we were flat. The ball just wasn't going in and you can't win if the ball doesn't go in the hoop."

Boston shot only .373 to the Knicks' .457, but New York's Walt Frazier, who led all scorers with 25 points, said Boston's poor shooting was caused by a pressuring defense.

"We pressured them on defense," said Frazier whose 13 points in a 15-minute span in the second and third periods broke the game up. "The difference was we picked them up on defense and forced bad shots."

Phil Jackson, who came off the bench to score nine important points, added, "The forwards played real fine defense today."

And Dean Meminger, who replaced Earl Monroe in the backcourt for the last three periods and controlled the tempo of the game, said, "We tried to put more pressure on their forwards."

One man the Knicks put constant pressure on was Celtic center Dave Cowens. The Knicks shuttled Dave DeBusschere, Willis Reed and Jerry Lucas on the Celtics' Most Valuable Player and although Cowens had 24 points, he managed only two in the third quarter when New York moved out and pulled away to stay.

Frazier started the Knicks surge with 2:432 remaining in the first half with a pair of free throws. He quickly followed up with a right side jumper that boosted New York to a 38-35 lead which the Knicks built to 45-40 at halftime.

The Knicks topped the Celtics 8-2 in the opening moments of the third quarter as Bill Bradley dropped a pair of jump shots, Frazier looped in a layup and Phil Jackson hit with an 18 footer.

After ten minutes of second half action, New York had constructed a 68-53 lead and the contest was over for the Celtics who made only six of 21 attempts from the floor. New York sizzled for 13 field goals from 20 shots in the third stanza.

Boston had appeared well on its way to controlling the game in the first period and early in the second.

Meminger pulled the Knicks together in the second period, coming off the bench to score nine of his 13 points in the stanza. "The Dream" took control of the Knicks' offense for a stretch of the period and kept New York close until Frazier found his own game and carried New York off to the races.

Fewer Duties For Yanks' Burke

Combined AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Mike Burke, the top man in a 15-man conglomerate behind the New York Yankees, announced yesterday that he will no longer be involved in the operation of the club.

Burke, who became president of the Yankees in 1966, relinquished his power in decision-making but will continue as an owner and will become a special consultant.

George M. Steinbrenner, who along with Burke formed a two-man general partnership of the Yankees, now is alone at the top of a group of 12 limited partners who all hold shares in the club, which was purchased from the Columbia Broadcasting System on Jan. 3 for $10 million. The 54-year-old Burke is a former executive with CBS.

Hockey

OAKLAND — Amid rumors that more members of the California Seals are planning jumps to the World Hockey Association, the National Hockey League club announced during the weekend the signing to multi-year contracts of right wing Reggie Leach and defenseman Bobby Stewart.

Auto Racing

RIVERSIDE — Britisher Brian Redman, who spends most of his time racing Ferraris in Europe, dropped in on the American Racing scene and walked away with the $18,250 first prize money in the $60,000 L&M Championship Series Opener yesterday.

Redman won this same race at Riverside International Raceway last year, even though his No. 1 calling is the World's Manufacturers Championship series, which pick up in Belgium next week.

MARTINSVILLE, Va. — David Pearson, in a Mercury, yesterday held off a persistent charge from Cale Yarborough's Chevrolet in recording his fourth straignt victory with a triumph in the Virginia 500 Grand National for stock cars.

Basketball

INGLEWOOD — UCLA's Swen Nater, a first-round draft pick of the Milwaukee Bucks, said yesterday he was told by the National Basketball Association team that he has been traded.

"I was surprised when Milwaukee drafted me," the 6-11, 250-pound center said. "But they (Milwaukee) are definitely trading me, perhaps to Houston."

Although the clubs have remained silent on the subject, there is speculation that Nater, Bill Walton's backupman for the past two seasons, will go to the Rockets for guard Calvin Murphy.

Tennis

GOTEBORG, Sweden — Top seed Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., yesterday topped Australian John Alexander 5-7, 6-4, 6-2 in the finals of the $50,000 Swedish Professional Championships.

Bronx Bombers Blast Ball As In Old Days

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Remember the Bronx Bombers? Well, they're back.

With the nostalgia craze sweeping the country these days the current version of the New York Yankees is beginning to stir up memories of a proud ancestry steeped in world championships and characterized by two things—the long ball and the big inning.

The Yankees, who started the season slowly, came to life this past weekend with an offensive display that did justice to the names of Ruth, Gehrig, DiMaggio and Mantle and left notice that the "new Bombers" will be a major factor in the American League East Division pennant race.

Led by names like Murcer, Nettles, Alou and Blomberg, the Yankees swept a threegame series from the Minnesota Twins, outscoring their opponents 28-7 and outhitting them 37-20. On Saturday they employed the long ball, blasting four two-run homers to score an 11-3 victory, and on Sunday they used the big inning in both ends of a doubleheader to score a 6-3, 11-1 sweep.

It was a marked turnaround for the Yankees, who entered the weekend series with only .236 team batting average and just eight homers in 16 games, but it came as no surprise to the players.

"When I look at our lineup and look at others I don't see how they're any better than us as far as run production goes," says Bobby Murcer, who belted a pair of two-run homers Saturday and collected two more RBI's in Sunday's twinbill.

"We've got a good hitting team," adds Matty Alou, who collected nine hits in 14 at bats during the three games. "We're gonna score a lot of runs this year."

The Yankees employed their historic trademark—the big inning—Sunday, scoring four runs in the sixth inning of the first game and rallying for seven runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

One characteristic of the great Yankee teams of the past was their ability to take advantage of a break, and this the Yankees did to perfection in the opener when Ron Blomberg was given a second chance to swing the bat in the sixth inning after catcher George Mitterwald dropped his foul pop with two out.

Blomberg then delivered a two-run single to ignite a four-run inning. In the nightcap Blomberg again was the big gun, banging out four hits and driving in three runs to pace a 13-hit attack. Thurman Munson had the big hit of the seven-run eighth, a bases-loaded triple.

In other AL games, Chicago blanked Boston 5-0, Detroit whipped Kansas City 6-1, Oakland edged Baltimore 4-3, Cleveland nipped California 3-2 and Texas beat Milwaukee 2-1.

Los Angeles swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 9-8 in 13 innings and 2-1, St. Louis beat San Francisco 8-3, New York blanked Atlanta 1-0, Cincinati shutout Philadelphia 8-0, Houston edged Montreal 4-3 and Chicago downed San Diego 10-4 in National League action.

Twin Bill Swept By Sonoma Nine

The twin victories gives the Cossacks a 7-5 FWC record, putting them one-half game behind league-leading Hayward State College (7-4).

In the opener, Sonoma staked starting and winning pitcher Fendencio Herrera to a five-run first inning lead. Gary Barone had the key hit, a two-run double.

Herrera, who walked nine Lumberjacks and threw three wild pitches, needed relief help in the seventh inning. Perry Kozlowski came in with runners on first and second with no outs and retired the side to record the save, but not before he gave up a three-run triple to Doug Weaver.

Bill Weyl had a little easier time of it in the finale, throwing a six-hit shutout until the ninth when he walked across a run.

Redwood Tennis Pair Victorious

Mark Strasser and Grant Grinnell of Redwood High School Saturday won the Marin County Athletic League doubles tennis championship by defeating Doug Carlisle and Jamie Lee of Terra Linda, 7-5, 6-4, in matches at San Rafael High.

The singles representative will be Steve DeMartini of Redwood, chosen because the Redwood No. 1 singles position has a 6-0 record against the rest of the MCAL. DeMartini ordinarily plays No. 1 for the Giants, though he missed two matches last week due to oral surgery.

Saturday's results:

First Round — Doug Carlisle-Jamie Lee (Terra Linda) d. Gene Lachelt-John Perrando (Drake), 6-3, 6-2; Jeff Edwards-Eric Rayner (Tamalpais) d. Our mid-engine car is a fair-weather friend that won't let you down in foul weather.

On sunny days, the top snaps off in thirty-seven seconds, stores under the rear trunk lid and takes up virtually no space.

First of all, it's a two-seater in the classic sports car tradition. And because two's company.

With the engine in the middle, handling must be felt to be believed. The car simply goes where you point it.

Also with the engine in the middle, you get a trunk in the front and the back. A sort of his and hers. Together they give 16 cubic feet trunk space.

And also rack-and-pinion steering, and a five-speed gearbox, 4-wheel disc brakes and a built-in roll bar as standard equipment.

Twin Bill Swept By Sonoma Nine

Sonoma State College jumped into strong contention for its first Far Western Conference baseball title Saturday by taking sweeping a home doubleheader from Humboldt State College, 6-4 and 3-1.

The twin victories gives the Cossacks a 7-5 FWC record, putting them one-half game behind league-leading Hayward State College (7-4).

In the opener, Sonoma staked starting and winning pitcher Fendencio Herrera to a five-run first inning lead. Gary Barone had the key hit, a two-run double.

Herrera, who walked nine Lumberjacks and threw three wild pitches, needed relief help in the seventh inning. Perry Kozlowski came in with runners on first and second with no outs and retired the side to record the save, but not before he gave up a three-run triple to Doug Weaver.

Bill Weyl had a little easier time of it in the finale, throwing a six-hit shutout until the ninth when he walked across a run.

Redwood Tennis Pair Victorious

Mark Strasser and Grant Grinnell of Redwood High School Saturday won the Marin County Athletic League doubles tennis championship by defeating Doug Carlisle and Jamie Lee of Terra Linda, 7-5, 6-4, in matches at San Rafael High.

The singles representative will be Steve DeMartini of Redwood, chosen because the Redwood No. 1 singles position has a 6-0 record against the rest of the MCAL. DeMartini ordinarily plays No. 1 for the Giants, though he missed two matches last week due to oral surgery.

Saturday's results:

First Round — Doug Carlisle-Jamie Lee (Terra Linda) d. Gene Lachelt-John Perrando (Drake), 6-3, 6-2; Jeff Edwards-Eric Rayner (Tamalpais) d. Don Goldbeck-John Kelly (San Marin), 6-2, 6-1; Mark Sabella-Bill Sockolov (San Rafael) d. Tony Tremblay-Bill Schalich (Marin Catholic), 6-3, 6-3; Mark Strasser-Grant Grinnell (Redwood) d. Novato, forfeit.

Semi-Finals — Strasser-Grinnell d. Sabella-Sockolov, 7-5, 7-5; Carlisle-Lee d. Edwards-Rayner, 6-3, 6-3. Finals — Strasser-Grinnell d. Carlisle-Lee, 7-5, 6-4.

Preps Resume Hot Baseball Races

Tomales (5-1) is the only team in the top spot, holding a one-game edge over the St. Vincent of Petaluma Mustangs (4-2) in the North Central League II race.

The Braves go on the road tomorrow, traveling to Calistoga to take on the Wildcats who have won three straight to even their league mark to 3-3. Friday, Tomales hosts Kelseyville (3-2) which has two consecutive NCL II defeats.

The Mustangs take the long trip to Point Arena tomorrow to battle the Pirates (1-4), whom they beat 11-4 in the first round. Friday, they host the Wildcats at McNear Park in Petaluma.

Petaluma (5-2) is one-half game behind co-leaders Napa and Vallejo (6-2) in the North Bay League pennant race. By Saturday the Trojans could be in at least a tie for first place, regardless of what the other teams do.

To take over first, Petaluma must beat the Montgomery Vikings tomorrow at home and then Wednesday in Santa Rosa, and defeat visiting Vallejo for the second time this season on Friday.

Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park (4-2) is also one-half game behind in its title race, but the Cougars take on Sonoma County League leader Piner of Santa Rosa (5-2) at Sonoma State College tomorrow.

The Sonoma State College baseball team may follow the Far Western Conference championship basketball team with a league title of its own. The Cossacks are now 7-5 in league play, just one-half game in back of conference leader Hayward State College (7-4).

This weekend, the Cossacks have a three-game series with the University of California, Davis. Friday, the two teams meet at Sonoma State for a 3 p.m. game and then travel to Davis for a noon doubleheader Saturday.

On rainy days the top locks back on almost as fast.

But a friend is more than a fiberglass top.

First of all, it's a two-seater in the classic sports car tradition. And because two's company.

With the engine in the middle, handling must be felt to be believed. The car simply goes where you point it.

Also with the Porsche engine in the middle, you get a trunk in the front and the back. A sort of his and hers. Together they give 16 cubic feet trunk space.

Harris Intertype Is Looking Up Again

By ROGER E. SPEAR

A. Should I get rid of my 174 shares of Harris Intertype (NYSE) now trading at less than half my cost? — A.Z.

A. At the time your shares were purchased Harris had just reported record earnings. For the subsequent two years net declined 38 per cent to $2.03 a share. In the first half of the current fiscal year to end June 30, net rose 25 per cent. Sales were up substantially in the December period and backlog was at record levels which should at least sustain the current rate of recovery through the year end. Factors which caused the two-year earnings slump are now behind and a continued upturn in operations is anticipated.

Particularly promising are prospects for the company's fully computerized phototypesetting system, the only system of its kind on the market. Sales in this division have been fast paced and backlog is sufficient for 4 to 5 months. In view of the company's improving outlook shares are well worth holding.

Q. I am contemplating investing $25,000 in GMAC commercial paper, paying 6⅞% on 30-89 day maturities. I plan to roll this over every 30 days because I anticipate higher interest rates. I wonder if this is safe. I am single, 75, in good health and have an ample income. — L.T.

A. General Motors Acceptance Corp. issues short-term promissory notes — commercial paper — which is considered prime. Ratings on about 500 finance and industrial corporations offering these debt obligations are available from the National Credit Organization.

Interest rates in this sector have been moving upward rather steadily since February 1972. Further advances from here on will probably be at a slower pace. However, interest rates on short-term money tend to fluctuate more widely than on longer maturities.

Most dealers in commercial paper are large institutional houses, although many corporations issue their notes directly. The profit for the dealer is small, thus most do not sell in amounts under $15,000. A round lot is $100,000.

Stocks Slip Sharply In Light Action

Analysts said investors were disappointed President Nixon cancelled his scheduled meeting with his economic advisers this past weekend. It had been hoped some further action would have developed to reduce inflation.

The Dow lost 41.01 points in last week's slide with investors discouraged about the White House's apparent lack of action on the inflation problem, analysts said. The market had rallied last Thursday on expectation the scheduled weekend meeting would produce some results.

Gulf Oil (ex-dividend) was the most active issue, off ½ at 25 on 555,900 shares, including a block trade of 524,000 shares at 24 ¾ and 100,000 shares at 24 ⅞.

On the Big Board, computer and electronics issues skidded, with Burroughs off 2 ¾, IBM 2 ½ and General Electric 2 ⅜.

The Way Citrus Crop Splits Up

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Florida Citrus Mutual predicts that 92 per cent of the 1972-73 Florida citrus crop will be used in production of citrus products.

The giant growers cooperative says that 74 per cent will be used for frozen concentrated orange juice, 13 per cent will go into chilled orange juice and the rest will be used for other products such as sections and salads.

The Minicalculator Business Is Booming

By PETER TONGE
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

A few taps on the keys and the answer glowed red on the pocket calculator: the manufacturer would have to sell five tons of gum to cover the cost of his TV commercial.

The "accountant" who figured this out, a physics major at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, had just received a long-awaited electronic mini-calculator, the type which has taken the U.S. by storm in the past 18 months. He was using it to compute every mathematical problem that popped into his head — including the cost of television commercials.

However, the calculator, which weighs just nine ounces and fits comfortably into the plam of the hand, is no mere plaything for this student. It is a serious tool which will buy him many hours of time in his pursuit of a Ph.D.

As an example, try dividing 8.37129 by 2.9174. It is a straightforward but time consuming calculation. Whoever thought up the term long division described it accurately. It took me longer than five minutes to do it. But the owner of one of the calculators read off the glowing answer in just seconds: 2.87 or, to be more accurate, 2.869435113.

Little wonder a builder says he now can calculate the number of board feet of lumber he requires for a job "in no time at all."

A Boston civil engineer's experience also confirms this time-saving capacity. Formerly he would visit the site of, say, a proposed bridge, take the needed readings, and then return home to a long evening of calculating.

Now he takes along his minicalculator and makes the needed computations on site. "It paid for itself in just one week," he says of his $395 unit.

His is one of the most versatile and more expensive machines. They start as low as $65 for those with simple addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division capacity.

The better models, which can be programmed for either business or scientific use, can handle any mathematical problem, boast a floating decimal, and have built-in memory capacity. One business-programmed machine was "memorized" the calendar for 200 years — Jan. 1, 1900, through Dec. 31, 2099.

They have all proved so effective, apparently, that sales have spiralled above and beyond anything the industry would have predicted when the machines first came onto the market in mid-1971. Few sales outlets do not have back orders to fill at present.

Eighteen months ago models now selling for around $100 were up in the $300 range. Sales volume has cut production costs, say manufacturers. Predictions some six months ago that sales would hit 1.5 million this year now are considered overly conservative. "Anywhere from two to four million," says a spokesman for Bowmar Electronics, the major U.S. manufacturer.

You can slip the tiny calculator into a coat pocket just as easily as you can a note book or carry it in a belt holster. This is a major factor in its popularity. Its go-anywhere capacity means it becomes a very personal thing.

They have also been found to be an effective teaching aid for those students in grade schools who have trouble learning arithmetic. Without the mechanics of multiplication and division to trouble them they have been freed to learn the principles and procedures involved.

Tropical Aquaria Opens On Third Street In Downtown San Rafael

Tropical Aquaria, dealing exclusively in tropical fishes of all kinds, has opened in San Rafael at 1205 Third Street, next to California Furniture and across the street from Dali Feenjon.

Owner-operators are Robert C. Garlock, Edward Swenton and Joan Welsome, all of San Francisco. Swenton has been breeding fish for six years, and Garlock for three years. Miss Welsome, who attended University of Connecticut, came to San Francisco a year ago and has been wholesaling tropical fishes on a small scale since then.

Other pet shops carry some tropical fish, but Tropical Aquaria is believed to be the only one in Marin that specializes in tropical fishes alone. The shop will gradually expand into salt water fishes.

The shop also sells aquarium supplies and custom-made tanks. Garlock said his company will set up aquariums for homeowners and business establishments.

LIBERTY HOUSE, which took over the City of Paris last year, is reported looking for a site in downtown San Rafael to open a branch department store.

LOUIS W. NIGGEMAN of Kentfield, chairman and chief executive officer of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, was elected to the additional post of vice chairman of the board of American Express Company, parent of the insurance organization.

Niggeman, 57, also was named to the five-member office of the Chief of Executive of American Express. Howard L. Clark, chairman and chief executive officer, said the changes become effective on May 8.

Niggeman Rittenhouse

JOHN W. RITTENHOUSE Jr. has been appointed general manager of New York Life Insurance Company's San Rafael general office, Regional Vice President Paul O. Klein of San Francisco announced.

Rittenhouse, who has been a management assistant in the New York home office, succeeds Lester L. Kuhns, who was named general manager of the company's general office in Fremont.

Barossi, manager of Brockmann Real Estate in Mill Valley for the past two and one-half years, has 10 years of experience in real estate. He is on the board of directors and membership committee of the Marin County Board of Realtors.

Barossi Leone

MICHAEL LEONE of Terra Linda has been named Trans World Airlines public relations manager for San Francisco. Leon's area of responsibility also includes the Pacific Northwest and Colorado.

A former TWA public relations representative in Southern California, Leone was supervisor of marketing for Disneyland until his appointment to the San Francisco post. He attended Drake High School and graduated from Fresno State University.

RUSS COUGHLAN of Belvedere, vice president and general manager of KGO-TV, will speak to the San Francisco Advertising Club Wednesday at a luncheon in Sheraton-Palace Hotel. He will discuss television news, its strengths, weaknesses and responsibilities to the viewer. Joining him will be members of the Channel 7 news team.

The homes, built by Forhim Corporation, are located off Rohnert Park Expressway adjacent to the city golf course. Refrigerated wine cellars are available in each model. Forhim Corp. has also developed Holiday Park in Cotati and Rohnert Park.

FOUR SPECIALTY shops in Marin will participate in the Spring Fair to be held at Katharine Branson School in Ross on May 9.

They are The Gallery Three at 1026 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur; The Patchwork boutique at 1022 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur; Stitchbirds at 7 Poplar Avenue, Ross; and White Rabbit children's apparel at 270 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

The White Rabbit will also exhibit on Wednesday this week at Edgewood Garden Fair in the Hall of Flowers at Golden Gate Park. Proceeds from this show will go to the Edgewood Children's Home.

Gallery Three is also presenting an exhibit of original prints and paintings at the Bank of Marin in Northgate Industrial Park. Gallery Three specializes in work of Bay Area artists and craftsmen.

GRACE G. GUARNERA of San Francisco will join the Tiburon residential sales staff of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors next Tuesday.

She was with radio station KSFO for the past five years and worked for Guild, Bascom & Bonfigli Advertising (now Dancer, Fitzgerald, Sample, Inc.) before that.

Harris Intertype Is Looking Up Again

By ROGER E. SPEAR

A. Should I get rid of my 174 shares of Harris Intertype (NYSE) now trading at less than half my cost? — A.Z.

A. At the time your shares were purchased Harris had just reported record earnings. For the subsequent two years net declined 38 per cent to $2.03 a share. In the first half of the current fiscal year to end June 30, net rose 25 per cent. Sales were up substantially in the December period and backlog was at record levels which should at least sustain the current rate of recovery through the year end. Factors which caused the two-year earnings slump are now behind and a continued upturn in operations is anticipated.

Particularly promising are prospects for the company's fully computerized phototypesetting system, the only system of its kind on the market. Sales in this division have been fast paced and backlog is sufficient for 4 to 5 months. In view of the company's improving outlook shares are well worth holding.

Q. I am contemplating investing $25,000 in GMAC commercial paper, paying 6⅞% on 30-89 day maturities. I plan to roll this over every 30 days because I anticipate higher interest rates. I wonder if this is safe. I am single, 75, in good health and have an ample income. — L.T.

A. General Motors Acceptance Corp. issues short-term promissory notes — commercial paper — which is considered prime. Ratings on about 500 finance and industrial corporations offering these debt obligations are available from the National Credit Organization.

Interest rates in this sector have been moving upward rather steadily since February 1972. Further advances from here on will probably be at a slower pace. However, interest rates on short-term money tend to fluctuate more widely than on longer maturities.

Most dealers in commercial paper are large institutional houses, although many corporations issue their notes directly. The profit for the dealer is small, thus most do not sell in amounts under $15,000. A round lot is $100,000.

Stocks Slip Sharply In Light Action

Analysts said investors were disappointed President Nixon cancelled his scheduled meeting with his economic advisers this past weekend. It had been hoped some further action would have developed to reduce inflation.

The Dow lost 41.01 points in last week's slide with investors discouraged about the White House's apparent lack of action on the inflation problem, analysts said. The market had rallied last Thursday on expectation the scheduled weekend meeting would produce some results.

Gulf Oil (ex-dividend) was the most active issue, off ½ at 25 on 555,900 shares, including a block trade of 524,000 shares at 24 ¾ and 100,000 shares at 24 ⅞.

On the Big Board, computer and electronics issues skidded, with Burroughs off 2 ¾, IBM 2 ½ and General Electric 2 ⅜.

The Way Citrus Crop Splits Up

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Florida Citrus Mutual predicts that 92 per cent of the 1972-73 Florida citrus crop will be used in production of citrus products.

The giant growers cooperative says that 74 per cent will be used for frozen concentrated orange juice, 13 per cent will go into chilled orange juice and the rest will be used for other products such as sections and salads.

The Minicalculator Business Is Booming

By PETER TONGE
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

A few taps on the keys and the answer glowed red on the pocket calculator: the manufacturer would have to sell five tons of gum to cover the cost of his TV commercial.

The "accountant" who figured this out, a physics major at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, had just received a long-awaited electronic mini-calculator, the type which has taken the U.S. by storm in the past 18 months. He was using it to compute every mathematical problem that popped into his head — including the cost of television commercials.

However, the calculator, which weighs just nine ounces and fits comfortably into the plam of the hand, is no mere plaything for this student. It is a serious tool which will buy him many hours of time in his pursuit of a Ph.D.

As an example, try dividing 8.37129 by 2.9174. It is a straightforward but time consuming calculation. Whoever thought up the term long division described it accurately. It took me longer than five minutes to do it. But the owner of one of the calculators read off the glowing answer in just seconds: 2.87 or, to be more accurate, 2.869435113.

Little wonder a builder says he now can calculate the number of board feet of lumber he requires for a job "in no time at all."

A Boston civil engineer's experience also confirms this time-saving capacity. Formerly he would visit the site of, say, a proposed bridge, take the needed readings, and then return home to a long evening of calculating.

Now he takes along his minicalculator and makes the needed computations on site. "It paid for itself in just one week," he says of his $395 unit.

His is one of the most versatile and more expensive machines. They start as low as $65 for those with simple addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division capacity.

The better models, which can be programmed for either business or scientific use, can handle any mathematical problem, boast a floating decimal, and have built-in memory capacity. One business-programmed machine was "memorized" the calendar for 200 years — Jan. 1, 1900, through Dec. 31, 2099.

They have all proved so effective, apparently, that sales have spiralled above and beyond anything the industry would have predicted when the machines first came onto the market in mid-1971. Few sales outlets do not have back orders to fill at present.

Eighteen months ago models now selling for around $100 were up in the $300 range. Sales volume has cut production costs, say manufacturers. Predictions some six months ago that sales would hit 1.5 million this year now are considered overly conservative. "Anywhere from two to four million," says a spokesman for Bowmar Electronics, the major U.S. manufacturer.

You can slip the tiny calculator into a coat pocket just as easily as you can a note book or carry it in a belt holster. This is a major factor in its popularity. Its go-anywhere capacity means it becomes a very personal thing.

They have also been found to be an effective teaching aid for those students in grade schools who have trouble learning arithmetic. Without the mechanics of multiplication and division to trouble them they have been freed to learn the principles and procedures involved.

Tropical Aquaria Opens On Third Street In Downtown San Rafael

Tropical Aquaria, dealing exclusively in tropical fishes of all kinds, has opened in San Rafael at 1205 Third Street, next to California Furniture and across the street from Dali Feenjon.

Owner-operators are Robert C. Garlock, Edward Swenton and Joan Welsome, all of San Francisco. Swenton has been breeding fish for six years, and Garlock for three years. Miss Welsome, who attended University of Connecticut, came to San Francisco a year ago and has been wholesaling tropical fishes on a small scale since then.

Other pet shops carry some tropical fish, but Tropical Aquaria is believed to be the only one in Marin that specializes in tropical fishes alone. The shop will gradually expand into salt water fishes.

The shop also sells aquarium supplies and custom-made tanks. Garlock said his company will set up aquariums for homeowners and business establishments.

LIBERTY HOUSE, which took over the City of Paris last year, is reported looking for a site in downtown San Rafael to open a branch department store.

LOUIS W. NIGGEMAN of Kentfield, chairman and chief executive officer of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, was elected to the additional post of vice chairman of the board of American Express Company, parent of the insurance organization.

LOSE FAT!

HELPS YOU LOSE THAT EXTRA WEIGHT
■ NO CALORIE COUNTING! ■ NO EXERCISES!
■ NO SPECIAL DIETS!

HELPS REDUCE HUNGRY MOMENTS.

"Model-etts" does remarkable things. It helps you cut down your caloric intake by a natural automatic curbing of the appetite and of the desire for foods, resulting automatically in a reduced intake of food.

Before "Model-etts" was offered to you, it was tested clinically by the doctors on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.

1. Weight losses of 6 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever.

So, start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches. If your condition is glandular or organic, see your doctor. "Model-etts" may help you stay on the diet your doctor recommends. Ask him about it.

You can get a full month's supply of "Model-etts" for $3.00 on money back guarantee. In clinical tests, "Model-etts" was 96% successful. "Model-etts" may not be 100% successful in all cases, but you take no risk in trying "Model-etts" on our Money Back Guarantee.

Come to General Nutrition to get "MODEL-ETTS." The sooner you start, the sooner you may have the loss of weight you yearn for.

Sounds too good to be true, but it is true!

■ NO CALORIE COUNTING! ■ NO EXERCISES!
■ NO SPECIAL DIETS!

HELPS REDUCE HUNGRY MOMENTS.

"Model-etts" does remarkable things. It helps you cut down your caloric intake by a natural automatic curbing of the appetite and of the desire for foods, resulting automatically in a reduced intake of food.

Before "Model-etts" was offered to you, it was tested clinically by the doctors on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.

1. Weight losses of 6 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever.
2. 96% of the men and women who used "Model-etts" lost weight.

So, start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches. If your condition is glandular or organic, see your doctor. "Model-etts" may help you stay on the diet your doctor recommends. Ask him about it.

You can get a full month's supply of "Model-etts" for $3.00 on money back guarantee. In clinical tests, "Model-etts" was 96% successful. "Model-etts" may not be 100% successful in all cases, but you take no risk in trying "Model-etts" on our Money Back Guarantee.

Come to General Nutrition to get "MODEL-ETTS." The sooner you start, the sooner you may have the loss of weight you yearn for.
